The 1955 Football Banquet went over with great success at the old Community Center last Friday night. Approximately 60 players, fathers, coaches and the guests attended the annual affair to hear a stirring address on present day football by the line coach of A and M College, Elmer Smith.

Master of Ceremonies W. F. Pate introduced the Rev. J. D. Weaver of the Diboll Methodist Church preceeding the meal.

Following the meal, prepared by Mrs. Iva Fogg and her association of church women, Mr. Pate introduced the entertainment of the evening, a girl quartet. The quartet, composed of local talent, rendered two songs, "Soon It Will Be Christmas Time", and "Wake The Town and Tell The People." Lomposed of Betty Faye Brown, Donnie Weeks, Shirlene Holcomb, and Pat Jordan, the quartet was received with enthusiasm by the gathering.

SMITH SPEAKS

Mr. Smith went on to commend Diboll, the school, and the coaching staff for the job done toward producing a good football program here during the past year.

WALDIE AND PLAYERS

Preceding the main address, head coach Johnny Waldie introduced backfield coach Erwin DuBose. DuBose expressed his appreciation to all Diboll for the manner in which he was received during his first year here.

Waldie introduced the 1955 Lumberjack team and the player's fathers who were present.

Local Lions Club President, Ralph McGill, was introduced by Mr. Pate immediately after the meal.

McGill thanked the crowd in behalf of the Lions for helping make the banquet the success that it usually is. He enumerated his appreciation for the pleasure of being made Lion President and the nice attitude shown him during his brief residence in Diboll.

SEE FILM

Following his address, Elmer Smith presented a film of this year's A and M-TCU grid battle, won by A and M, 19 to 16. Coach Smith monitored the film, answering numerous questions about Southwest Conference football. He further elaborated the earlier points he had made concerning the 'ruggedness' of football and the ' many good traits' it builds.

W. F. Pate again thanked Mr. Smith for making the trip, in behalf of head A and M Coach, Paul Bryant. The banquet was brought to a close with prayer by Erwin DuBose.

PART OF THE BANQUET crowd is shown above. The event was held in the Old Community Center to facilitate the showing of the A&M-TCU football game.

HOWDY

You know, its funny how some folks apparently refuse to recognize the fact that old age gradually creeps up on everybody. They seem to hold to the idea that they can see, hear, walk, and run as good as they ever could.

I have in mind a certain character here in Diboll who still likes to brag about his prowess as a hunter. Well, the way I heard it, this party went down on the coast recently to hunt ducks and geese.

Now, I have heard that there are certain moisture conditions on the coast to which, if exposed sufficiently, and I paraphrase Mr. Churchill, makes "so little seem like so very much - - -" and I do know that the party in question is getting to the age that his eyesight isn't as good as it once was.

Now it seems that upon his return to Diboll, this character reported that he saw at least a million and a half geese, and no telling how many ducks. I know him to be a man of good character, and it is hard to believe that he had been exposed to the aforementioned moist condition, so that leaves only poor eyesight to which may be attributed his evident exaggerations.

I say exaggerations, because, so it is reported, all he brought back was three dead sea gulls, which he had taken the precaution to clean before reach home. Also, it is reported that he gave these dressed fowls to his wife, telling her they were wild geese. She cooked them, so I was told, and if this be true I would like to ask Rat Johnson how he enjoyed eating baked eagull!

In case you're interested, Rat, I've heard there is a book for sale entitled "Know Your Geese and Ducks."

(Also He might read "The Rhyme of the Ancient Mariner")

To those of you who might be interested, and do not now have a church home, I have been requested to announce that a new church is in the process of organization in Diboll.

The Congregational Methodist have taken over the building formerly occupied by the First Baptist, and Brother Oscar Davis who is the leader, says that everybody is welcome to attend whether they want to join or not.

I have been attending some of the services over there and I can tell you that you will be sure to hear some real gospel singing and preaching.

By the way, I'm still looking for that shoe-shine stand in The Village Square. Good chance for some energetic lad to make some Christmas spending money.

COACHES ERWIN DuBOSE and Johnny Waldie pose with A. and M.'s Elmer Smith, who delivered the main address at the annual Football Banquet last Friday night.

Lumberjacks Have 4 Game Winning Streak

BY AMOS LEWIS

The Diboll Lumberjacks, riding the crest of a four game winning streak, played a warm-up game against the Lufkin B squad Monday night, in preparation for the Nacogdoches Invitational Tournament Friday and Saturday.

The Jacks whipped Colmesneil last Thursday, 60-30, for the second win over that team. Our locals beat Groveton, a district opponent in January, 57-37, on Tuesday night at Lumberjack Stadium for their third straight win. Their only loss has been at the hands of Cushing, 63-65 in an overtime affair.

BURNETT BIG GUN

Ken Burnett was again the big gun for Diboll, racking up 27 points. He was followed by Jimmy Bobbitt with 10. Colmesneil's Billy Minyard had 9 and Tom Youngblood picked up 8.

It is interesting to note that in four games Burnett had picked up 96 points, a torrid pace of 24 points per game. His closest rival was guard Jimmy Bobbitt who had 53 points, or 12 points per game.

Needless to say, these two have been the principal reason the locals now sport a 4-1 record.

Fires Are Quelled By Local Volunteers

A rash of grass and minor forest fires broke out in and around Diboll last week. The Diboll Volunteer Fire Dept. annswered several calls to extinguish grass fires in residential sections. The fires were fed by dry grass and spread by prevailing high winds.

Several calls were to put out fires started by persons trying to 'burn off' vacant lots or their fields, which were carried out of control by autumn winds.

The Fire Dept. and Southern Pine Lumber Co. reissued their earlier warning to hunters that the woods are Dry. Dibollians are asked by both to please be careful with fire in the woods.

Diboll B Team Beats Colmesneil

Diboll's B team plastered the Colmesneil team last Thursday at Colmesneil, 30-6, before a big crowd of traveling home fans.

Amos Lewis pumped in 13 of the points for the winners, followed by his teammate Billy Saxton, who had 8. Colmesneil's Brown and Jones accounted for all their scoring with three each.

Diboll's A and B teams converged to beat the Lufkin B's in a scrimmage at Lufkin Friday night. They met again Monday night in preparation for the Nachogdoches Tourney Friday and Saturday.

Broomweed will cause premature weak calves and retined placentas when it is in the toxic stages. The quantity of the plant a cow must consume to produce symptoms varies widely in different years, in different seasons of the year and on different soil types. The cause of the variations has not been determined nor the toxic principle of the plant estblished.

Tax Forms To Be Mailed Out Soon

The 1955 income tax forms and instructions to individual taxpayers will be mailed between December 26 and January 10 from Kansas City, R. L. Phinney, Director of Internal Revenue in Austin, announced today. Taxpayers should postpone their inquiries regarding thes forms until after January 10. The varicolored stripes will not be in style this year," he said.

Taxpayers receiving tax blanks and instructions by mail should not misplace or discard them, but should save them for use in filing their tax returns, since the supply of instruction pamphlets is limited," he added.

A study of the new tax form shows a few changes which will make the return easier to complete. A new tax table for the married taxpayers filing jointly eliminates the complicated computation on the return for figuring tax on split incomes.

The simplest form will again be the 1040A Card devised for the employee whose total wages are less than $5,000 and who did not have over $100 of other income. Form 1040 is designed to meet the needs of all persons who do not use Form 1040A.

Little "D"

A few seen at the Lumberjack Football Banjuet Friday were J. W. LOUT, A. D. DEAN, REUBEN SAXTON, BENNIE RECTOR, SHIRLEY DANIEL, and CHARLIE HANKS, JUNIOR COOK, WOODROW LEE, BO RICHARDSON, HUGH WEBER and RAT JOHNSON, and the little "JUDGE" CANON.

BETTY FAYE BRROWN. DONNIE WEEKS, SHIRLENE HOLCOMB and PAT JORDAN giving better local musical entertainment than ANY town in this area can offer — DARWIN KERR is Little D's woodsman of the month; his nickname: I Never Get Lost, Kerr - - - Our closest metropolis, Houston, and the metropolitan Houston Chronicle, have placed their amiable Jim Cummings in Lufkin to do feature stories on this area; his first will probably deal with Diboll. . .

Noitice that Lufkin residents have decided they need more recreational facilities for the youngsters and teen-agers. - - - Could be. I doubt if any city in the U. S. can boast of adequate facilities for the teen-agers. It seems all cities want 'wholesome' and 'cultural' activities for their youth.

And I doubt, too, that any activity thought of by the so-called 'grown-ups' will ever be considered 'wholesome' or 'any fun' by the teen-agers, though they will probably see the light later in life.

As mentioned in last week's column, we will resume our feature stories on Dibollians. Several have made suggestions of local folk whose life or vocation story would be interesting. We need still more suggestions, - - - however, as quite a bit of 'diggin' on facts and pictures are required several weeks in advance of publishing a good article.

Make your suggestion now.— Address an envelope to The — News-Bulletin, Diboll, Texas, or Phone 2546.

The series will begin Dec. 22 with our Christmast Edition.— The article will deal with a person you all know.

ELMER SMITH, master of ceremonies, W. F. Pate, Lion President, Ralph McGill and Rev. J. D. Weaver of the Diboll Methodist Church survey the 60 persons gathering at last week's football banquet. Coach Smith is an old friend of Diboll's Pop Rich.

Plea Made To Keep Leisure Time Safe

Let's keep leisure time safe! That plan was issued to residents throughout Texas today by Euclid Hudson, president of the Texas Society for Crippled children, the state's Easter Seal Society.

Leisure time—time off from school—is the most dangerous time in our children's lives," Mr. Hudson, himself the father of three sons, said today. Those enjoying leisure time were high among the 36,000 persons killed and the 1,250,000 injured in motor vehicle accidents this last year.

HOW TO

Keep a Sick Child Happy

A happy, relaxed atmosphere is important for the quick recovery of a sick child. A sick little girl can be amused by dressing her special sick-abed doll in a complete wardrobe prepared in advance by Mother. Make the doll a patient too, with bandages, arm sling and other sick room equipment.

Pieces of macaroni can be strung into a variety of wonderful necklaces, chains and bracelets. They can be colored with crayons or sewed onto cardboard.

Special sick-abed cars, trucks and fire engines and a large box to "drive" them in will keep a little boy with the sniffles entertained for hours. Provide a quantity of salt to make roads. This picks up easily with a vacuum cleaner.

Don't let glaring lights make the patient uncomfortable during the day or awaken him at night when you look into see that all is well. By using the new Luxtrol light control which regulates the intensity of light—from bright to near darkness—the lights in the sick room may be controlled for playtime activities or for rest and sleep. Easily installed, the unit is an excellent addition to any child's room.

Janet is a "Model" Girl

In tune with the annual request from the postal department, Janet King, popular midwest model, believes in mailing her packages ahead of the Christmas rush. Budget-minded Janet, visiting a nearby appliance store recently, found one of the bargains this year to be a packet of gift wrapping materials made up by Motorola, Inc. Normally valued at over $2.00, the packet is specially priced at only 89 cents. It contains enough paper, ribbon and labels for at least 20 parcels. When her selection of gifts is completed, the rest is easy. Wrapping gift packages can be fun according to Janet, who finds time in between modeling assignments.

The current Broadway hit, — Plain and Fancy— stars motion picture star Alexis Smith and her handsome television star — husband, Craig Stevens.

During the course of telling a story, they sing the hit song, —Young and Foolish—, they build a big barn right on stage, they sing and dance the difference between a city mouse and a country mouse and they let you see how the other half lives. The other half happens to be the Amish people of Pennsylvania.

It's a Christmas custom on the Roberts Ranch near Brady, Texas, for Santa to leave gifts in the children's cowboy boots. Next week, the Humble Company's TV program, Texas in Review, will give viewers a complete picture of an old-fashioned Christmas on this ranch in the heart of Texas.

Cameras will follow the holiday activities of Mr. and Mrs. Tol Roberts and their children and grandchildren. The Robertses have been selected as a typical cattle country family, and although the three children now have families and homes of their own, the entire Roberts clan gatherys for Christmas At Home on the ranch each year.

In addition, the special X-mas program will feature the Humble Glee Club, directed by Mr. Bliss Mapes, teacher of music at Hoston's Jeff Davis High School.

SCIENCE IN YOUR LIFE

Arthritis Target

Women appear to be prime targets for the great crippler, arthritis. Statistics show that for every man, three women fall prey to this disease.

Rheumatoid arthritis is the malady's formal name. Along with allied conditions, in one way or another, the disease has afflicted more than 10 million people in the U.S. and completely crippled some 200,000 others.

The secretary, housewife and young mother are most susceptible. Arthritis is insidious. Its symptoms at first are usually mild. Gradually they worsen, until one day you wake with an arm or leg that is completely useless.

What causes arthritis? Scientists have not yet found an answer. Nor have they yet found a complete cure.

They do have available a number of chemicals to control the symptoms of rheumatoid arthritis in many patients. These drugs, administered by the physician, can lift the hopelessly crippled arthritic victim out of the wheelchair and back into normal life.

Among the medicines which have proven effective in some patients are aspirin, gold compounds, and the much-heralded hormones, cortisone and hydrocortisone.

However, these drugs are not fully effective and the hormones, in particular, sometimes create unpleasant side effects in some patients and thus force their abandonment.

Recently, a new synthetic hormone called Sterane has been placed in the hands of physicians. Sterane appears to be far more potent than cortisone or hydrocortisone and offers promise of reducing the side effects noted with the other hormones.

With advancing research and rehabilitation, many arthritic patients will be given a new lease on life.

HIS JUST DESSERTS

George hung his overcoat, his scarf and hat on the cloths tree in the hall, and turned to Molly with a satisfied grin.

"Now," he began, "you, too, can be a successful program chairman of the best woman's club in town!"

The Mrs. eagerly opened the envelope George handed her and extracted two gaily colored and attractively printed booklets.

"Those are the two issues of 'Program Notes' that I was telling you about," the Mr. erplained. "Dave, at the office, brought them down today. His wife's a program chairman, too, and she gets them regularly."

"Molly glance quickly over the contents. "Here's something I can use right away," she said. "An article that tells how you go about getting a program bulletin printed — type, illustrations, photographs and all that.

"And here's another one, on how to conduct a meeting. Aud, let's see—they list half a dozen or more ideas for programs and how to get material for discussion—"

"Now do I get that mince pie —and the chocolate cake—that you promised me?" George chuckled.

"Every week, if you want 'em!" Molly hurried to her desk. "I'm going to send right now to get these regularly. Here's the address: 'Program Notes,' 2 East 48th Street, New York 17, N. Y. And bless you again, my dear, helpful spouse!"

Patent System Helps Standard of Living

A Congressional subcommittee studying the U. S. Patent office and its operations has been told by the National Association of Manufacturers that the value of the entire patent system must be measure in terms of how it benefits the public.

The whole purpose of the patent system is to 'improve the standard of living of our people by offering an inducement and reward to those willing and able to make the improvements," the association said.

TOO MUCH DELAY

The NAM added that there is nothing wrong with the substance of our patent law, but it emphazied that there is too much delay in getting the patents issued, and that their validity after issuance is too often subject to question and that the cost of enforcing patents in the courts and the delay involved are certainly too great.

The NAM stressed the importance of the individual inventor and of the many small businesses which are based on his inventions and noted the importance of the large corporation, pointing out that American business today generally "leans over backward" in its efforts to deal fairly with the individual inventor.

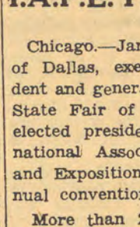
SCIENCE IN YOUR LIFE

Versatile Antibiotics

Antibiotics have turned out to be one of science's most versatile discoveries.

First they turned mortality tables upside down in the treatment of human diseases. They put more food on our table by stopping costly plant and animal diseases, too.



Then scientists found that tiny amounts of antibiotics added to farm feeds boosted weight and growth rate of animals and poultry.

Now scientists report that antibiotics can be used to keep meat fresh for several days without refrigeration. Researchers of Chas. Pfizer & Co., Inc. told of this latest use at the Third Annual Antibiotics Symposium in Washington, D. C.

The investigators pointed out that only limited amounts of meat can be handled by drying, salting, smoking, canning and pickling. Most fresh meat is distributed either by rapid handling in countries without refrigeration, or by chilling.

Low temperatures, however, slow down enzymes which act to tenderize meat. Injection of Terramycin prior to slaughter, the scientists found, inhibits growth of bacteria and permits higher storage temperatures so that meat can be aged in much shorter time. Tests indicate that as little as one-half part per million of the potent antibiotic inhibits bacterial spoilage of fresh beef, pork and mutton.

Experiments conducted at a commercial packing house in Cuba proved that treated beef carcasses remained fresh even when held at 95 degrees Farenheit with high humidity.

In countries such as the U. S. and Canada, antibiotics can undoubtedly be used along with refrigeration. In areas without adequate refrigeration, antibiotics may help to deliver a more wholesome product to consumers.

Trip Award to 4-H Frozen Foods Winner

Della Borchardt

Della Borchardt, 21, of Orange Grove, Tex., is one of eight 4-H members in the Nation to be awarded a sectional trip to the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago, for outstanding achievement in the Frozen Foods program. The all-expense trip is provided by the International Harvester Co.

During her 11 years in the project, Della preserved 902 quarts of fruits and vegetables and 664 pounds of meat and poultry by freezing. She learned much about freezing foods, including proper packaging, correct temperatures for freezing and storing, types of foods best adapted for freezing, and how to properly prepare food for freezing.

Most of the foods Della has frozen have been raised on their farm, including meat, chickens, citrus fruits and vegetables. She used many types of containers but prefers reusable jars and lined cartons. She has also frozen 95 pkgs. of breads, cakes and pies, experimenting and bettering her methods.

In 1951, Della received a gold watch for her frozen foods project and also won many awards on her other projects in food preparation, canning, clothing, poultry, garden, yard improvement and dress revue.

She is a member of the Orange Grove High School Club of Jim Wells county, led by Herbert Hinze and Mrs. A. H. Hinze.

From the eight sectional winners six will be selected for national awards of $300 college scholarships.

This program is conducted under the direction of the Cooperative Extension Service.

So What Happens The Exact Opposite

Karl Marr, called the founder of Communism, predicted that capitalism would concentrate more and more wealth in fewer and fewer hands and "impoverish the masses."

So what's happened? The exact opposite has taken place, in our country. In the 12 years, 1941 to 1953, there has been a tenfold increase in the number of family incomes above $5,000 a year.

In a climate of freedom, we have created the best life for the greatest number of people that the world has ever known.

Nearly 1.8 million square miles—60 pct. of the land area of the continental U. S.—are in farms.

Safety-First in the Swiss Alps

In Switzerland — where every man's a soldier — the advent of winter adds still another task for the country's hardened troops. Here, a seasoned patrol, members of a mountain brigade, makes an ascent high in the St. Gotthard Region of the Swiss Alps keeping tabs on existing snow conditions in the area.

Continual training received by Swiss Army Units is credited for the exceptional fitness of her soldiers whose diligent patrolling and precision-perfect action on snow blanketed alpine slopes has maintained a near perfect safety record among daring, high-altitude skiers and mountaineers.

THE FACTS

As the 1956 Presidential and Congressional elections approach, you can be sure that the advocates of public power will intensify their attacks on the private enterprise system.

Already their campaign is piercing the stratosphere of sound and fury, and is gaining altitude and momentum.

In this situation, it is encouraging to report that some of the defenders of the private enterprise system are not idle. They are explaining the real situation.

For example, the only regions of the United States where the power reserves are below normal and where shortages are impending are the Pacific Northwest and the Tennessee Valley. These are the regions of course in which the Federal Government has been the dominating figure for the last quarter of a century.

The frantic efforts of the public power advocates for a Federal monopoly of hydroelectric power production have thwarted or delayed the attempts of private enterprise to meet the power needs.
