Realizes the nearness of Christmas and New Year Its OFFICIALS desire to extend their sincere thanks to its increasing number of satisfied depositors and customers; and extend our BEST wishes, hoping that this comeing YULE TIME may be the hnppiest in the lives of you and those you love, and that the same cordial relations and friendships of the past, may continue the comeing years

Capital, Surplus and Profits over $200,000.00

LUFKIN NATIONAL BANK

LUFKIN, TEXAS

WHEN WE CAME BACK IN THE OFFICE AFTER

two months rest for our eyes, we thot on Sep. 17 that we could hold out thru the winter as a Semi-Monthly.

Our two months at type setting, much to our sorrow has knocked that hope cold and unaccomplishable.

We now have the title to the Plant, Lot and Building perfect in our individual name, having bought and paid for 5 of our 6 childrens interests, now and in the future, for their share's in their deceased mother's and my estate which, with the exception of SIX-Hundred ($600,00) Dollars to pay to our oldest daughter, Mrs. K. D. Gann for her share, I will put in Stock in a News Paper Co., if those who want a fair to all sides weekly paper in Angelina County which will give every person and faction an equal show in its columns will take stock in such a company in which, in my childrens name, for stock therein I'll put MY ALL.

Our main efforts will be:—

First. To developing and makeing a newsy-paper covering the entire County, and Lufkin's present and possible future trade area.

Second. To Steer clear of all factional and community quarells: By making as low an advertising rate as posfible to cover cost, etc.-

Thus:— If John Doe wants us to publish sn article attacting Bob Roe's policy or official acts, we'll name him a price, telling him, we'll first show his article to Roe naming the same terms, and give him an opportunity to repiy to it thru the same issue of the paper.

Provided there is no libleous, or scurulous matter in them, thus giving our readers. like a jury a fair chance to decide merits,

We favor this for the same reason that (while we concede preachers the right to mix in politics, we object to them doing so in pulpits:) because, in their congregations, as well as among subscribers there are many differ in political views.

Thirdly. All Shares will be for Ten ($10,00) Dollars Each, and all money paid in will be deposited in Bank untill a meeting of Stockholders can be held to choose a BOARD of Directors, who will choose an Editor and Business manager, and have charge of money expenditure and policies.

Explanation:— Promoters of a Stock Company generally get on an average Twenty (20 per-cent) or 1 out of every 5 dollar collected, we don't propose to pay out or charge this, we'll only charge actual expenses and cost of advertising, all of which will go into the company

A good lawyer, when the $5,000, 00 we want is in the Bank will fix our charter for Stock, but we will have to pay a Charter fee to the Secretary of State in money.

IF you want to help, go to The Lufkin National Bank and Deposit $10,00 for each share you want where it will remain untill an organization is perfected; if not, by or before February, 28 1929, money may be withdrawn. 'Twould be a Federal Penitentiary offense for us miss-use such funds, which will not be paid out by the BANK only on Vouchers of duly elected officers of the company when organized.

MAKE DEPOSIT PAYABLE to

THE LUFKIN NEW ERA CO.

Payable when legally Chartered, Organized and officers elected.

To all cash stock-takers we will send this publication free, untill a Co. is organized, if 'tis, we guarantee the paper free as a dividend, If we can't pay more. We will put (Except salaries) all our dividends back in Co., for stock.

Unless I can get a business that will justify me to hire an opperat'r and my son Mayon, in Ok. is one and to install a Linotype, and get enough advertising type to issue an

8 page paper

'ILL HAVE TO QUIT ON ACCOUNT OF MY EYES.

CONCERNING THE COMpany plan in columns 1 & 2 on this page, if it fails to materaliz, we will give a young couple fair share of our earnings, learn them the trade, furnish them 2 rooms to live in: & make a will providing that at my death that they inherit the plant.

We'll discuss it now anytime.

SAN PEDRO, CAL. NOV. 19

To day Pres. elect Herbert Hoover went aboard The Battle Ship Maryland, which is the Presidents private Yatch: starting on his 40 days goodwill trip to the South American continent, the only continent he has never visited: as the Battleship fleet belched out the 21 guns U. S. Presidential salute.

'Tis generally thot in Wasington that besides a friendly mission of good-will, that he, as a grest engineer, desires to look over the Nicaragua canal route, which may be built during his presidential term.

WHAT'S THE REASON THAT A GRAND

Jury adjourned the 2d. week untill the 8th. week without investigating the acts of Ezra Moss, who leased The Courier Plant with an option to buy, and he and associates: The Coleman Co. of Jackson, Miss. with the "Inocent" aid of several local young ladies managed to seuure from the citizens of Lufkin and its trade area $3,000,00 or more; of which The Coleman Co. got 35 cents out of every dollar; for which their victems can't get no returns.

Since haveing to take back the plant, we have published evidence enough, with names and letters to justify indictments for swindling, conspiracy to swindle and embezelment or theft by bailee, with the witneesses at hand in Lufkin so in a few hours facts could be had, but to the 29h none were summond.

As it is now, if any indictments are found this term, which we now very much doubt; 'twill be impossible to get and try'm this term.

Some things are very strange.

Speaking above of the grandjury there had been 3 complaint sworn out, 1 by Will L. West of the West Printing Co., and 2 by us, and either the grand jury or prosecuting officers have been crimianally negligent or indifferent of their duty.

Sherriff Youngblood said to us,- "If I spend money to get them & they are not billed, I'll not get my costs and expenses, if they are I would." But he can't be blamed

There is something crooked or rotten in the woodpile sure, and the grand jury plan is obsolete.

Why can't our legislators make grand-jurors elective, say 5 from each Com's Precinct, to serve for 2 years, to numbered 1-2-3-4 and 5, the 1st. 3 to serve, in case of death the next highest to serve. This will do away with much expense of special terms:-make the people select, insted of the judge, through 3 men of his selection. It would suit for pettit jurors also.

Austin, Tex Nov. 16

A large number of applications for pensions under the Confederate pension amendment to the Constitution voted at the recent election have been received by Col. Harry L. Haynes, head of the pension division of the Comptrollers Department. None can be acted on untill the legislature passes a law putting the amendment in effect.

Col. Haynes estimate that among the 1,100 pensioners on the rolls under the old requirments, deaths are averaging four a day.

The present law limits payment of widow pensions to women born before 1861 and who married Confederate soldiers before 1910.

Most of the applications received since the election are from widows born in 1862 and 1863. There are a few who married after 1910.

The present pension averages $16. a month, and $56 death benefit. Those in the Confederate home receive half the amount.

According to his 4 a day deaths, a Confederate vet will be rare.

The Comptrollers report for ye'r ending Aug. 31, shows $2,425,913, 00 collected for pension fund.

'TIS HARD FOR AN E.I-

tor who believes he has a christain duty and special call to edit his papar in the interest of the masset to please every body-even one-half of those he tries to educat so they can discern the hypocracy or ignorance of many professed christians.

A good friend and his wife told us that we did wrong, mentioning names in our last issue, saying, "It might hurt the man's business by mentioning his wifes religeon."

Maybe so, but we don't think so for the average professor or non-christian professor generally spend their money where they get best service, talent and bargain, whether Jew, Catholid or worldyian.

An educational campaign will be started at once by the National Council of Catholic Men and affiliated organizations, to acquaint the general public with the caracter, history, teachings, civil and religeous allegiance of Catholics and the Catholic church. Ed. Had this been done thru past years the people would not have been so easily swayed by fanatical leaders.

While we believe there are many honest, sincere broad-minded ones in every church, who concede that members of ot other churches may get to heaven, we feel certain that the intelligent believe they are with the safest, truest and Best or they would be awfull uneasy some are.

The Bishops of the M. E. Church direct preachers to churches; up in Ok. a church object to one, 65 and wants a youneer pastor. They also like the Catholic Cardinals their Pope from theit number-elect their head Bishop, and the head of the Salvation Armyj only can appoint his successor to his position.

Every church has a head, baptist churches, seemingly independent & Associations have ther state and National Conventions.

Neal's Mother Has Right Idea

Within a few months there will be no more feverish, bilious, headachy, constipated, pale and puny children. That prophecy would surely come true if every mother could see for herself how quickly, easily, and harmlessly the bowels of babies and children are cleansed, regulated, given tone and strength by a product which has proved its merit and reliability to do what is claimed for it to millions of mothers in over fifty years of steadily increasing use.

As mothers find out from using it how children respond to the gentle influence of California Fig Syrup by growing stronger, sturdier and more active daily they simply have to tell other mothers about it. That's one of the reasons for its overwhelming sales of over four million bottles a year.

A Western mother, Mrs. Neal M. Todd, 1701 West 27th St., Oklahoma City, Okla., says: "When my son, Neal, was three years old he began having constipation. I decided to give him California Fig Syrup and in a few days he was all right and looked fine again. This pleased me so much that I have used Fig Syrup ever since for all his colds or little upset spells. It always stops his trouble quick, strengthens him, makes him eat."

Always ask for California Fig Syrup by the full name and see that the carton bears the word "California." Then you'll get the genuine.

Makes Life Sweeter

Children's stomachs sour, and need an anti-acid. Keep their systems sweet with Phillips Milk of Magnesia!

When tongue or breath tells of acid condition—correct it with a spoonful of Phillips. Most men and women have been comforted by this universal sweetener—more mothers should invoke its aid for their children. It is a pleasant thing to take, yet neutralizes more acid than the harsher things too often employed for the purpose. No household should be without it.

Phillips is the genuine, prescriptional product physicians endorse for general use; the name is important. "Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. registered trade mark of the Charles H. Phillips Chemical Co. and its predecessor Charles H. Phillips since 1875.

ANY INSURANCE RISK INTERESTS BRITISH

Many Queer Policies Are Written by Firms.

London.—Insurance companies are often called upon to issue policies that are hardly distinguishable from bets, and this is nowhere truer than in London, where the example of Lloyds, noted for being willing to quote a premium on any possible future event, is followed by many other companies.

The only stipulation most of them make is that the person taking out the policy shall have a genuine insurable interest, which means that he will lose money if the event insured against occurs.

Under this system a London theatrical promoter recently took out a policy insuring the lives of the royal family, on the ground that a period of national mourning would cause the closing of theaters. Insuring against twins is fairly common, while breach of promise, loss of bets on horse races, bad weather during vacations and elopements cause the writing of many policies.

Figuring Premiums.

Insuring the stability of foreign governments gives the political experts in an insurance company a steady job figuring premiums. The life of the late czar of Russia was insured for more than $5,000,000 by various English business men with interests in Russia. Hundreds of policies were issued to Anglo-German traders when German finances skyrocketed so suddenly. One policy has even been issued insuring the financial solvency of the British government, but the company which issued it considered the premium paid more or less in the nature of a gift.

Sometimes the underwriters are hard put to calculate the probabilities of an event occurring, on which the premium rate is based. How, for instance, did they figure out the chances of three barrels of attar of roses on a Bulgarian estate which were insured against possible destruction by the invading Serbs? How did they compute the possibilities of suicide when a creditor asked to be insured against losing his money if his debtor took his own life? Policies were issued to cover both these contingencies.

Insurance against election risks is common. The insurance companies will make money if the government chosen at the next general election has a good majority; but if it is returned with so slight an advantage that a new election will have to be called soon, the underwriters will have to pay for the losses that always occur in the business retardation that goes with elections. Failure of electric current is a frequent source of business for insurance companies, but records of generating stations make it comparatively easy to figure the probabilities when a theater proprietor asks to be insured against his light failing him.

About once a month we read tales of dancers insuring their legs, film stars their weights, or pianists their fingers. Sometimes these tales read suspiciously like publicity, and we feel that the actress who insures a particular dimple for an absurd amount, or who seeks some still uninsured part of her anatomy to support a new policy, is activated rather by the thought of newspaper headlines than any real forebodings.

Hat Insured Against Wind.

This would hardly be the case, however, in such an example as that of Professor Huxley, whose eyesight was insured for $25,000, or Kubelik, who valued his bow hand at $50,000. Perhaps one of the oddest—and that we should hesitate to say was not contracted with an eye to the newspapers—was the policy taken out by Cecile Sorel, who insured a hat studded with diamonds and emeralds against the risk of being blown overboard during an Atlantic voyage. It would have been cheaper not to have worn it on shipboard.

Aside from the policy guaranteeing the solvency of the British government, perhaps the safest on record was the one insuring a famous family against the expiration of the family name. When the policy was taken out there were 66 persons bearing that name, and there seemed no possibility of a lack of heirs.

Tax Collector Idle in Pennsylvania Village

Armagh, Pa.—This little village of some 110 inhabitants is a tax collector's paradise—little or no work but the salary goes on.

In a recent survey conducted by the Department of Internal Affairs it was disclosed that no taxes were collected or needed here in 1927.

According to Tax Collector Martha E. Tomb, a 5-mill tax was collected in 1926 on taxable property assessed at $81,085, netting $394.13.

This was not only sufficient for the needs of the village in that year but created a surplus large enough to make taxes needless for 1927.

Worth Trying For.

New York.—If Robert Randolph Ashner is of good moral habits at forty years of age, is married and has children, he will be entitled to most of a $3,000,000 estate. His father's will so provides. He is now twenty-eight years old. If at forty he is not up to the standard set by the will he will get only $12,000 a year.

LIFE'S LITTLE JESTS

UP AGAINST IT

"Why the tears?" asked Elsie of the lace department.

"I'm weeping for that woman's husband," snapped Elsie of the silk department as she began getting the stock back on the shelves. "She nearly drove me looney trying to please her in the hour she was here, but think of the poor dub who's got a job of trying to please her seven days a week, year in and year out."

A Typical Patriot

"You say he is a typical American patriot, but what do you mean by that?"

"That he hangs out the flag on holidays if reminded of it, hums the national anthem after the second line, forgets to register and kicks about the men the others have voted into office."

HE WAS TOO SLOW

"Could I kiss you good night?"
"Gosh! I begin to doubt it."

The Accursed

Oh, I shall be, till Gabriel's trump,
Nostalgic for some distant dump;
And ever doomed to weep me dry
For some lost mediocre guy.

An Untouched Reserve

The Guest—Do you think there are many fish in this 'ake?

The Landlord—There ought to be a lot of 'em. Nobuddy ever ketches any out of it.

Knew the Symptoms

Wife—John, dear, I felt I must come to the office. I suddenly had such a longing to see you.

Husband—And did you bring the bill as well?

SOMETHING WRONG

"Say waiter—this fish—"
"Yes, sir. Jes' bought today, sir!"
"Perhaps so my dear man but was it at a remnant sale or something?"

Futile Advice

If you were I and I were you,
We'd tell each other what to do,
And then in disappointment sigh,
The same as just plain you and I.

Ten Dollars Needed

Mrs. Benham—The doctor wants to try the X-rays.

Benham—He will have to wait until I raise the XX.

His Clever Trick

Friend—Tell me your secret of success. How have you obtained so many patrons in such a short time?

Dry Goods Merchant—I got a parrot and trained it to cry out, "Oh! isn't she lovely?" every time a lady entered the store.

Needed

"I am willing," said the candidate, "to trust the people."

"I wish you'd open a grocery store," said the little man in the audience.

Luxury Enough

The Middle-Aged Man—My dear, think of the diamonds, automobiles and good times we are going to have if you marry me.

The Girl—I suppose a rich father can do the same for me. Please do marry my mother.

Heard and Not Seen

"I hear your neighbors have a new solarium in their house."

"Goodness, maybe that's the awful thing we hear 'em playing on."

FAMOUS OLD THEATER OF WEST IS DOOMED

Salt Lake City House Gives Way to Progress.

Salt Lake City.—The Salt Lake theater, which for fully 60 years has been a part of the very life of Salt Lake City, has had its last performance. This theater is one of the oldest in the country. It has continued without interruption to house only the first-class road shows, including practically all the leading American actors and not a few from other nations as well, for the last 50 years. The passing of the old playhouse is viewed with keenest regret in Salt Lake, because it has been a public institution and a vital part of the city's life for so many years. Many residents whose hair is now gray remember the theater from their earliest childhood, and many have taken part in performances there.

Old as the building is, it is still good for many a season did not the plans of the American Bell Telephone and Telegraph company subsidiary which has purchased the structure decree otherwise. Huge tree trunks hold up the floors and are still in good condition.

Nailed With Wooden Pins.

Erected in an age when iron was scarce and what there was in the territory had to be hauled by wagon a thousand miles across the plains, the building is held together by wooden pins. Some credit the splendid acoustics of the building to this fact. In fact, the favorite place for real lovers of music to witness the operas which have come here has been from the gallery.

In pioneer days it was frequently the practice to bring a small company of stars—perhaps only one or two leading performers. The remainder of the standard plays produced were enacted by local talent. Contrary to the common attitude of the churches in those days, that of the Mormon church was to favor the theater and to utilize its appeal to the public as a means of advancing higher ideals. Not that partisan religion as such was thrust upon the audiences at the playhouse, for it was not, but the attitude of the church was an encouragement to whatever histrionic ability was latent in the community. Maude Adams was perhaps the best example of a leader of the drama who received her early training in the old show house. It is related that her first public appearance on the stage was as a baby in some production which called for the appearance of a real baby instead of a doll.

Local Talent Stars.

During the periods when stars were not available, the stock company made up of local talent, continued its productions. The theater was also the meeting place for many sessions not essentially connected with the stage. It provided the only large auditorium in the city for many years outside of those operated by the Mormon church for its general conferences. Some of the more remarkable scenes of Utah's stirring political history were enacted within that same theater.

Naturally, when the Mormon church, which long held controlling interest through its leading officials, became tired of footing annual deficits, which have been all too common of late years, and sold the property to the Mountain States Telephone and Telegraph company, there was some protest. The Daughters of the Utah Pioneers, which is the most active public organization interested in preservation of pioneer history, took a leading part and attempted to see what could be done. It was for a time thought feasible to move the building to some site of less commercial value. A firm on the Pacific coast was interested in such a proposal and sent its engineer here to see what could be done.

After examining the structure the engineer declared such a contract entirely feasible from the mechanical point of view. The building, in other words, old as it is, would stand removal, but the cost would be between $100,000 and $125,000. This latter proved to be the stumbling block. Desirable as the project was considered and important as had been the part the theater played in the history of the city, state, and the West, no one cared to undertake to raise the $125,000, and the project was reluctantly abandoned.

Americas to Join in Studying Tropical Ills

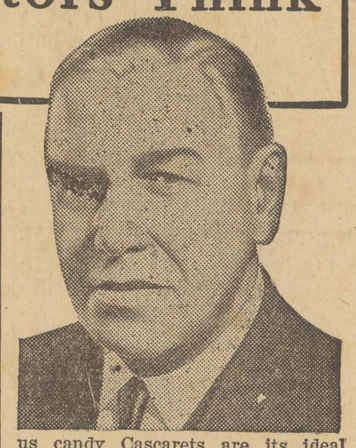

Panama.—In the place where Americans conquered yellow fever the nations of Latin America will join the United States in beginning active research to combat all sorts of tropical diseases.

The community project is the Gorgas Memorial Institute of Tropical and Preventive Medicine. Beginning of research immediately is made possible by the government of Panama in assigning for temporary use of the institute the newly completed National School of Medicine building. Ultimately Panama plans erection of a permanent laboratory for the institute costing $500,000.

Relics Unearthed.

Frankfort on Main.—Excavations at Ruesselsheim, near Frankfort, have brought to light various relics from the Bronze age. They include two bronze bracelets, spiral rings and a four-inch long cloak needle. The finds date from the period of 1800 to 900 B. C.

What Doctors Think of the Laxative Habit

In all history, no Indian was ever known to have constipation. Nor need YOU. He chewed the bark of a tree called cascara. Today, we have the candy Cascaret.

Cascarizing the bowels never forms a laxative habit. If already formed, an occasional Cascaret will usually break the habit. For cascara strengthens the muscular walls of the bowels, and their need of any aid at all grows constantly less. What other cathartic has this characteristic? The writer knows of none.

An evacuation brought gently about by cascara will, nine times in ten, be followed by full functioning of the bowels on the morrow—and for days after. For there is no REACTION as with sickening salts, or any of the man made purgatives that go through one's system like a bullet.

Physicians tell us cascara is the ideal laxative—and the tongue tells us candy Cascarets are its ideal form. At least a million people know this; what a pity there are any who don't! Especially parents; because children love to take a Cascaret. After which, for days-on-end, the bowels will be seen to work of their own accord.

The only habit from cascara is that of regularity! Cascarets tone and train the bowels. But at the first sign of returning sluggishness another Cascaret is as effective as the first.

There isn't a druggist who hasn't Cascarets, so WHY experiment with laxatives?

Large, Generous Sample of Old Time Remedy Sent Free to Every Reader of This Article

More than forty years ago, in a small way, good old Pastor Koenig began the manufacture of Pastor Koenig's Nervine, a remedy recommended for the relief of nervousness, epilepsy, sleeplessness and kindred ailments. The remedy was made after the formula of old German doctors. The sales were small at first, but soon increased, and another factory was added to meet the increasing demand. Today there are Koenig factories in the old world, and Pastor Koenig's Nervine is not only sold throughout the United States but in every land and clime.

The manufacturers want every reader of this free offer to try the old remedy at their expense. They will send a large, generous sample to every one who mentions this article.

Try it and be convinced. It will only cost you a postal to write for the large, generous sample.

Address: Koenig Medicine Co., 1045 North Wells street, Chicago, Illinois. Kindly mention your local paper.

After one is thoroughly explored, he often ceases to be interesting. Never permit it.

WHAT DR. CALDWELL LEARNED IN 47 YEARS PRACTICE

A physician watched the results of constipation for 47 years, and believed that no matter how careful people are of their health, diet and exercise, constipation will occur from time to time. Of next importance, then, is how to treat it when it comes. Dr. Caldwell always was in favor of getting as close to nature as possible, hence his remedy for constipation, known as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, is a mild vegetable compound. It can not harm the system and is not habit forming. Syrup Pepsin is pleasant-tasting, and youngsters love it.

Dr. Caldwell did not approve of drastic physics and purges. He did not believe they were good for anybody's system. In a practice of 47 years he never saw any reason for their use when Syrup Pepsin will empty the bowels just as promptly.

Do not let a day go by without a bowel movement. Do not sit and hope, but go to the nearest druggist and get one of the generous bottles of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, or write "Syrup Pepsin," Dept. BB, Monticello, Illinois for free trial bottle.

HUSBAND DISTRIBUTES BOOKLETS

Wife Tries Compound

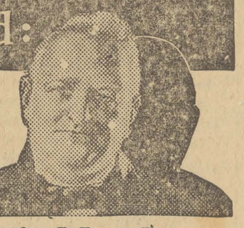

Every year the Pinkham Medicine Company distributes about 30,000,000 booklets from house to house. Mr. Ted Hinzman does this work in Lodi, California. His wife writes: "It was in these little books that I read about so many women being helped by the medicine. I thought I would give it a trial and I can truly say that it has done me good. My neighbors and friends ask me what I am doing to make me look so much better. I tell them that I am taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."

Hardwoods from New Zealand have been successfully made into good newsprint paper at the United States forest products laboratory.

Dr. Hartman said:

Don't Neglect CONSTIPATION and Mr. Gunther says:

"I AM 64 years of age and always physically fit. I never have a cold or suffer pain of any kind and I owe it all to PE-RU-NA." (Many thousands write grateful letters like this one.) "I had a bad attack of la-grippe which left me in a run-down condition—lost considerable weight—had just about given up hope when a friend advised PE-RU-NA." (Such good advice has helped many to new health and vigor.) "Since taking it I feel better. Before I had taken a full bottle I began to gain in weight—my appetite was better—I took 4 bottles and was no longer constipated." (Signed) Chas. L. Gunther, Louisville, Ky. ISLE INHABITED BY RARE BIRDS

Feathered Kingdom Found on U. S. Preserve.

Galveston, Texas.—A principality of the feathered kingdom and an ornithologist's paradise is Bird island.

It is on this small island, less than a mile long and about half a mile wide, that trappers and government banding agents find migratory birds once common but now so scarce that they are protected by federal law.

The island, about two miles from the southwest tip of Galveston island and three miles from the mainland, can be reached only by boat at high tide.

The birds have favorable weather conditions. Breezes from the gulf keep the sand as warm as 65 degrees in winter and as cool as 80 degrees in summer.

The island itself offers few attractions to the birds other than its isolation and almost even temperature. The only vegetation is salt grass and salt cedar, and other animal life is scarce. The birds are mostly water fowl, however.

At least two of the rarest species visit the island at times. The whistling and trumpeting swans have been found there. The reddish and snowy egret also are are frequent visitors. Both nest there. Among other birds nesting on the island are the black and royal tern, the small blue heron and the Louisiana heron, the skimmer, the willet, the curlew, the cormorant, sea pigeons and many more common species.

The beautiful plumes of the egret once adorned feminine apparel, but federal laws now make even possession of an egret feather an offiense punishable by a maximum fine of $500.

Birds banded on the isle so their seasonable flights could be traced have been captured as far north as Canada and as far south as Brazil.

Substitute for Glass Is British Invention

London.—An unbreakable substitute for glass, known as poloplass, abbreviated to "plass," has been invented by E. C. Baly, professor of organic chemistry at Liverpool university, and his son. A factory for its manufacture is being erected in Nottingham.

The new substance, clear like glass but unsplinterable, is said to be an improvement on the material invented by Dr F Pollack, the Austrian chemist, with whom Professor Baly and his son have been collaborating. "Plass," it is said, is cheaper than any other glass substitute, is burglar-proof and translucent to ultra-violet rays, like vita-glass.

It can be molded to any shape and can be "turned" like a piece of wood. It can also be reduced to powder and pressed hydraulically, so that it becomes opaque and can then be given any color.

As soon as the Nottingham factory is finished the new glass substitute is to be placed on the market. Professor Baly does not say that it will supersede glass entirely and says that he is not satisfied with its brilliance, but says that its possibilities are illimitable.

Mere Man Tells Milady How to Pick Her Hats

Tampa, Fla.—If a woman's hat is to be becoming, she should consider her height, weight, shoulders, type of skin, eyes and hair and forget her face and age, says Fred S Samcroft.

Samcroft, a milliner, says that not one in 100 women wear the right hat.

"One finds women with lines wearing brimless hats," he declares "those with glasses favoring turned up brims; gray-haired mothers almost invariably favoring gray when they should select violet, blue and rose. If she is daring enough, nothing is so pretty for grandmother as a red, red hat."

Samcroft began his career when eight years old. He fashioned a "wonderful creation of rhubarb leaves and garden flowers, fastened together with toothpicks." Because his sister wouldn't wear it to the post office she got a black eye—and the young milliner got a whipping.

Court Protects Him.

Tampa, Fla.—A Tampa husband is safeguarded by a court order which directs that his wife must not attack or molest him.

Bites Into Live Wire, Current Floors Him

Philadelphia—St Agnes hospital attaches termed it the freakiest accident in their experience after they treated Vincent Valentz, twenty-four, for serious burns and shock from electricity.

Valentz, a heater and range repair man, was working on a heater under a store. He used an extension light, and both hands being occupied, held the cord in his mouth.

Gripping hard, he cut through the insulation, causing a short circuit and shocking him. His jaws went rigid, clamping on the "live wire," stumbling back, he fell into a puddle of water, increasing the conductivity. His condition is termed serious.

CHRISTMAS YUM YUM

The candy toys were talking.

"Do you know why so many of us are being made?" asked the candy cane.

"We'd love to hear all, all about it," the others said. "Do tell us. We don't know."

Now there were many other candy toys hanging up in this shop.

There were candy lions and elephants and lambs and pigs, and they had been talking of how different they were from real lions and elephants, lambs and pigs, who could roar, trumpet, bleat and grunt.

There were canes of all sizes, some very short, some very long, some quite thin, and others quite fat.

There were canes which would break easily and those which were hard to break.

There were little baskets made out of candy, and these, too, were of different sizes.

There were animals of all sorts made out of candy besides the ones already mentioned—dogs, cats, giraffes, camels, tigers and birds.

Besides there were candy boys and girls. Some were red and white, some were pink and white and some were just pink and some were pale yellow.

"We're being made for a great day, called Christmas," said the candy cane.

"Some of us will be given away to children.

"But most of us first will be saved for a wonderful old man who has red, red cheeks and white hair.

"He has a long, white beard, too, and his eyes are always twinkling.

"He will come and get us, for although he has many where he comes from, he needs us, too.

"He will get us and we will be put in his great pack. He carries it around on his back, full of goodies and other presents.

"Later we will be put on Christmas trees. We will hang on a beautiful tree, just as we are now hanging in this shop.

"Some of us will be put in stockings and some of us will be peeping out of the ends of the stockings, ready to say to a boy or a girl:

"'I'm all ready to be eaten.'

"Then when we're eaten, I've heard.

"Some of Us Will Be Given Away."

it's perfectly glorious, for we're so much appreciated.

"Some children say that they love hard candy better than any other kind.

"Other children will take bites of us and will smack their lips joyously.

"Yes, when one of us is being eaten we will hear a child say:

"'Yum, yum, perfectly delicious!'

"Oh, the lives of candy toys are very exciting.

"We belong to the best time of the year, and how the children love us."

"You could call us," they all said, "Christmas Yum Yum."

And they thought that was a very fine thing to call themselves, and they hoped that would be what others would call them.

Keeps Health by Walking

While almost every doctor in rural New York makes his calls in an automobile, Genesco boasts of a physician, Dr. Edward W. Southall, who visits his patients afoot. Doctor Southall is seventy-seven years old. He maintains that at his age self-preservation should be of the first importance, and that a mild activity, such as walking his daily round of calls, gives him a full 50 per cent advantage toward attaining longevity.

How to Get Rid of a Severe Colo

"Last August I took a very severe cold and it seemed that I couldn't break it up. I got so bad that I was confined to my bed for five weeks, doctoring all the time without getting any relief. I had no appetite, naturally lost flesh. In fact, I had given up all hopes of ever getting any better.

"A friend recommended Milks Emulsion and I commenced its use. When able to leave my bed I weighed 111 pounds. Now, after taking Milks Emulsion five weeks, I weigh 125 pounds, feel better than I have felt in two years, can eat anything, have no effects of the cold and work every day. I thank God and Milks Emulsion for restoring my health." MRS. MARGARET WASHINGTON, 1699 E. 14th St., Winston-Salem, N. C.

Right Kind of Music Helpful in Sickness

"Music can cure some sicknesses. It helps practically all. But it must be the right kind of music to have medicinal value."

This statement was made by Mrs. Isa Maul Ilsen, director of music for the National Association for Music in Hospitals which arranges thousands of ward concerts all over the country. For 30 years Mrs. Ilsen has studied the effects of music on the sick.

"Physicians admit they are finding music an invaluable aid in curing patients," she said.

"A Spaniard, suffering from sleeping sickness and given up as hopeless by physicians, had his first flicker of consciousness when some of his native countrymen sang their songs and clicked their castanets at his bedside.

"Music stimulates lagging appetites. It quiets nerves. Mental cases have found peace listening to a beautiful voice or a soothing harp.

"But it must be the right kind of music. The wrong kind is fatal. Music that might aid a lung case might send a nervous prostration invalid into hysterics. Moody and depressed patients need still another musical treatment.

"Therefore, I feel that the programs given in hospitals should be scientifically planned. Those arranging them need careful training, just as doctors and nurses do. Music for the sick should be considered in a category with medicine, and the kind of dose and the amount should be regulated."

Found Out Just How His Employees Stood

A good story they tell at the American club in London has to do with a crabby old manufacturer in a small town who decided after he had made his money that he should run for a seat in parliment. He called his most faithful foreman in and informed him of the fact.

"See what the sentiment in the factory is," he ordered.

The next day the foreman reported. "Well, sir," he said, "the sentiment is fifty-fifty."

"What," roared the old man, "fifty-fifty? Do you mean to say that it is [illegible]? Do you mean to say [illegible] no more feeling for me [illegible]?"

"Oh, governor, that's what they [illegible]."

"Fifty? What do you mean? [illegible] 50 per cent of them say, 'Tell him, and I'm after 50 per cent [illegible] with him.'"—Exchange.

Nature Doesn't Remind Us

It is unfortunate that nature doesn't make us as immediately uncomfortable when we neglect our bodies as it does the merchant who fail to produce in thirty, sixty, or ninety days. Think what a different world it would be, for instance, if the discomfort following the omission of daily exercise or a daily exposure to the sun, or a daily cold bath, or a daily two-mile walk in thirty minutes were as acute and compelling and filled with desire as are the sensations that follow the omission of one's accustomed meals for twenty or four hours. There would be no shirking one's duty then. In fact the difficulty would be not to overdo it—even as the difficulty of most persons is to avoid overeating.—Physical Culture Magazine.

Righteous Indignation

"It's a lie!" cried the politician when confronted with evidence which purported to show he had appropriated funds which did not belong to him. "It's an infernal lie, a wicked prevarication, an insult and slander I never took the money. I shall not let this charge so base and yet so baseless besmirch my name. I know nothing of what became of the dough. I shall fight to clear my name, and before they get through they will realize they have tackled the wrong party. I didn't take the money, and I shall fight the charge that I did to the last ditch, even if it takes every cent of it."—Exchange.

In Other Words, No!

"Priscilla, dear," asked the visitor "won't you recite, 'Mary Had a Little Lamb,' for me?"

The small girl looked at him in silence for a moment before she replied: "Really, I would like to please, but I don't care for that poem. To be frank, it has little, if any, literary merit, and in addition it is not true to life nowadays. Owing to the high and ever-rising prices in the meat trade, I doubt if Mary could afford to buy a whole lamb. At the most, I expect she only had a chop!"—Exchange.

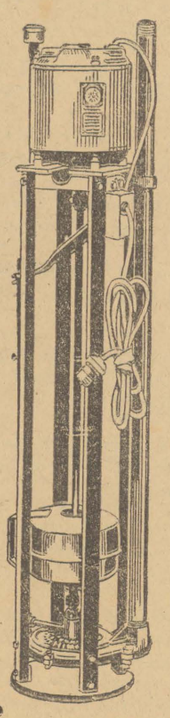

Under the Ban

Music was prohibited during certain hours in the precincts of the college but one undergraduate found the saxophone more engrossing than his studies.

Next day he received a note from the higher authority:

"Much against my better judgment and for purposes of discipline only I am compelled to regard your saxophone playing as music."—Exchange

Few Persons Really Capable of Thought

Psychologists say that only five persons out of every hundred really think. The others emote. In order to get anything across to ninety-five out of one hundred of us, says Harry Daniel in Thrift Magazine, you must sock us in the jaw, lam us over the head, jab us in the ribs, pull our hair or tickle our noses with a feather. These may seem like cruel words but no one will feel hurt over them because all of us belong to the group of five. The group of ninety-five who can't think are all the other fellows. In our opinion the correct way to divide the one hundred would be as follows: Number who think they think, one; number who think nobody else thinks, ninety-nine; grand total of those who are wrong, one hundred.

There is much false glamor about the grandeur of pure intellectualism. We doubt if many of the wonders of the present day would have come about if it had not been for people who have felt more than they have thought. All members of the group of five will now please stand up and snort at this observation. Let us continue to have plenty of feeling, laughter and thrills, tears and indignation, suspense and rewarded bravery. Without these, life would be dull as an adding machine.

Code Employed for Telegrams in China

The transmission and receipt of telegrams in China is not so easy as in western countries, because the Chinese language lacks an alphabet and expresses itself by characters and signs that represent words. In consequence, for purposes of telegraphing, an exact list has been made of signs in quantity sufficient for ordinary correspondence, and to each of the signs a different number is given which is transmitted by the Morse telegraphic system. The code consists of 9,800 ciphers, the whole forming a pamphlet of 49 pages, each one of which contains ten series of 20 characters with its corresponding number. On receipt of a telegram the operator looks up in his book the characters represented by the numbers transmitted by the apparatus and transcribes them into legible Chinese. —Washington Sunday Star.

Giant Ant Bear

Of all the denizens of the tropical forests of Central and South America the giant ant bear is probably the most dangerous. It is said to be too stupid to know fear. Its thick skin and dense stiff hair render it almost impervious to ordinary shot. It is remarkably tenacious of life, and its six-inch curved claws at the tips of sinewy limbs, which can swing in any direction and are literally universal jointed, are terrible weapons.

No other animal, according to Mr. Hyatt Verrill, the well-known big game hunter, willingly attacks the ant bear, and while the creature cannot move rapidly for any distance, and is usually content to mind his own affairs and devote his life to lapping up ants, it becomes positively insane with rage when disturbed or wounded.

Blowing Hot and Cold

Doctor Slosson says that heat is measured, as time is measured, only by its loss. When you blow through nearly closed lips the breath is expelled so rapidly that, passing over the hand, it cools it by evaporating the perspiration from the skin, whereas when you breathe upon it more gently from the open mouth the hand is surrounded by the warm air, and hence feels hot. If a thermometer were used instead of the hand you would find that the effect in the two cases is the same, or often the reverse, because the thermometer has no moist skin and registers the actual temperature instead of merely changes of temperature.—Washington Star.

Find Inscribed Tablets

Twelve thousand inscribed tablets, found recently in an unearthed temple in eastern Arabia by the Bagdad School of Oriental Research, prove that there was a reading public 35 centuries ago. According to Haji Rikkan in the Marsh Arab, inscribed bricks bearing the names of Nebuchadnezzar and Urnam-mu are still picked up in the Iraq section of Arabia, and are so common in places that they pave many a courtyard in the houses of lower Iraq today.—Washington Post.

Idea Is American

The custom of jockeys riding in running races with their saddles across the horses' withers was inaugurated about the beginning of this century. American jockeys were responsible for it. It was some time before English turfmen became reconciled to it, but it was demonstrated that riding forward did give the horse thus ridden a slight advantage, and such saddling is now the general practice.

Impression Not Lasting

At a movie, mother, who did not approve of the picture which was being shown, said to father: "Let's go now. I don't want Margie to see any more of this picture."

Margie, overhearing her mother, promptly remarked: "Never mind mother, it doesn't hurt me. I let it go in one eye and out the other."—Children, the Magazine for Parents
