Southern Pines

1949

Foreword

In all things there's a story.

Adhering to that tradition we present to you the daily pulse-beat of the happenings of the '49 school year.

These beats are slow and unmethodical and each page holds more then the other.

We hope that these pages will fit in with the music, the noises, and the voices that will disturb the recesses of your mind as you read.

We realize that no masterpiece has resulted from this book, but read it once a year--until the years that you have to listen to its being read--and then in 2000 A.D., you'll think that an excellent edition of Southern Pines was exhibited.

Your 1949 Staff

REGISTRATION

What? A bell--sounds like school days are here again.

This scene is nothing unusual--just school life; but it holds a special significance for the students of Diboll High School and especially the seniors.

Even though this is a congested picture, it is typical of the students arranging their courses with a discussion of their summer activities intermingled.

They are off to a good start, and we hope that they will be proud of their accomplishments.

If I had any advice to offer, it would be in the words of the Great Prophet when he said, "Do unto others as you would have them do unto you".

I sincerely wish for you the success that will be rightfully yours-if you strive for that success; things coming without any effort on your part are usually valueless.

May each and every one of you live a healthy, happy, and useful life, and always remember that you have a friend in each of your teachers.

As your High School Principal, it has been a challenge to have had a small part in directing your school activities so as to best prepare you for life in a democratic society.

I trust that you have learned to be alert to deceptive creeds, to be discriminative educationally, morally, and socially.

I hope that the years which lie ahead will prove this school year to have been one of growth, understanding, and appreciation of our own obligations as well as those about us.

Senior Officers

These seniors have struggled through themes, danced at parties, published papers and annuals, and learned to write and speak a little better.

Lewis Stringer, Douglas Minton, Dorothy Willis, and Milford Ruby have given their time to serve as officers in this fiscal school year, and according to them--"it has been fun."

Coach Ramsey

These 1949 Diboll basketeers have fought valourously and sweated day after day in an effort to uphold that tradition. However, they haven't won every game and their standing in the district was none too good.

But they have youth and ambition and next year may hold better prospects for Coach Franks' hustling club.

BASEBALL

Shedding the robes of inexperience and losing streaks, these axemen have blasted their way through district games and stayed ahead all the way.

Their sparkling infield meshed together with a reliable pitching staff to give the D.H.S. fans something to howl about.

The team is loaded with Juniors and the Lumberjack team should be a dynamo of strength and reserve energy in 1950 as it has been in 1949.

MOUNTAIN JUSTICE

Here is the homely, homespun, laughable, and highly entertaining cast that made James C. Parker's Mountain Justice a smash hit in D.H.S.

Bill Ferguson was unanamously selected as the outstanding actor from both casts of the seasonal plays in D. H.S. He vividly portrayed the part of Uncle Elmer in Mountain Justice.

Jack Weeks was selected as the runner-up in the choice of the best actor awarded. Jack was the actor, Pa, in Mountain Justice.

MOUNTAIN JUSTICE

The plays in D.H.S. in the past few years have all been along the comedy line, with the exception of two.

But it isn't hard to establish this fact with the people who viewed Mountain Justice during its playing the past year. It was the best comedy an all school cast has ever produced.

It all started in the Ozarks where two scheming "city dudes" endeavor to wrangle from Grandma Slocum the house and land right in order to clean the location for a railroad.

They almost succeed, but they interceded with the marriage of Johnny Matthews (Blant Ferguson) and Clementine (Era Nell Saxton). This gets Johnny hot as a fire-cracker, and he foils the scheme at the lady lawyer's own game.

Pa Slocum (Jack Weeks) and Uncle Elmer (Bill Ferguson) display some pleasurable nonsense as lazy mountaineers. Elmer assumes the role of "judge" during the informal and piratical court proceedings.

Aunt Betsy (Betty Joy Lewis) is evidently quite "deef," and she too afforded laughter at times.

Grandma Slocum (Jimmie Beth Jordan) performs as the ideal Ma and proves herself as logical in speech as she was in appearance.

Eberly (Ralph Weisinger) scored as the "city fellow who can't even talk English", and he is constantly pursued by the persuasive and romantic mind of Clarabelle (Beatrice Carrier) who had the pidgeon toedest toes in the entire cast.

Jonathan Hatfield (Carl Halsell) portrayed the "Terror of the Ozarks", a lawyer, to climax the laugh packed episode that will take its place among James C. Parker's writings of future years.
