Through These Doors . . .

Through these open doors, many students have passed on their journey down the long halls of education. These students have worked, studied, played, and above all, gained knowledge and experience that can never be taken from them. These open doors stand for the opening of a new and better world through education. "Enter through these doors to learn; leave through these doors to serve."

Dedicated to . . .

MR. FRED DOUGLAS, better known to D.H.S. students as "Brother Fred," is a teacher, a preacher, an advisor, and a friend. In the classroom, he is a teacher who tries to instill in his pupils an interest in learning, as well as the fundamentals of an education. As a preacher, he tries to show others the way to happiness which he himself has found. As an advisor, he tries to help all persons in any way in which he is capable. And last, but not least, he is the best friend which any student could ever hope to find. Whether he is looked upon as Mr. Douglas, Brother Douglas, or just good ole Brother Fred, he is a man of strong character, with an unchangeable, warm smile and helping hand. So to this man who is himself so dedicated to his work, we, the annual staff, dedicate the 1966 LUMBERJACK.

Homecoming Highlights of '65

HOMECOMING brought a victory which was not obtained, but renewed a fighting spirit long to be remembered. The day brought the beauty of queens, the precision of the band, the spirit of the crowd, and the excitement of the game. The thrills, the cheers, the anxiety, and yet the disappointment, were all significant of the 1965 HOMECOMING.

Editor's Note

The 1966 Lumberjack annual staff has strived hard to complete a book which will be an asset to Diboll High School. We hope that the activities we have captured on the pages of this book will bring thoughtful memories to each student who turns through the pages.
