Public School Week To Be Observed In Diboll With Two Nights Of Open House

Public Schools Week will be observed in Diboll with two nights of open house, Superintendent W. F. Pate announced Monday.

March 5-10 will be observed throughout Texas as a week of which parents are urged to come to class with their children, meet the teachers, and actually go to school a day.

Mr. Pate said that open house will be held at the high school Tuesday night, March 6. Open house at grade school will be on Thursday night, March 8.

"Even though a standing invitation is made to parents to visit the school whenever they like, we take this one week of each year and encourage parents and interested visitors to actually go to class and see how we operate," Mr. Pate said.

Parents are urged to come by the school anytime during the week of March 5-10. This includes both elementary and the high schools.

According to Robert Ramsey, high school principal, plans are being made to form an 'exchange' between parents and teachers. By this plan enough parents must be secured to relieve the regular teachers for a half day.

Mr. Ramsey said that professional men and women, preferably parents would be needed in this capacity. These professionals could then give short talk to students on how their present studies will help them when applied to a pparticular vocation.

TEACHERS VISIT HOMES

While these parents are teaching class, teachers will visit in the homes of their students, — thereby giving both parent and teacher a direct insight into the student's surroundings. Mr. Ramsey said. Teachers would also visit local industries to become familiar with the town's economy.

Mr. Ramsey said that this plan may be carried out sometime next week if enough interested parents and professional people show interest in it.

Those interested in taking a part should contact Robert Ramsey or Supt. Pate at the high school.

Senator Jimmy Phillips of Angelton last week said that he would not be a candidate for governor.

Folllowing on the heels of the announcement, Governor Allen Shivers really 'stirred the brew in the political pot' by hinting he might be a candidate for an unprecendented fourth term.

Ralph Yarborough's heart — must have jumped in leaps and bounds when he heard of Mr. Shiver's intentions. Defeated 3 times previously in quest of the state's highest office, Yarborough will probably be a candidate this year.

Reuben Senterfitt of San Saba has had his campaign underway for several weeks and announced that it will be intensified in the coming weeks.

U. S. Senator Price Daniel of Liberty still hasn't made his intentions clear, especially since President Eisenhower vetoed the gas bill.

It's our guess that Daniel will be the favorite in the forthcoming election, should he decide to run.

Too, its no secret that this paper was a staunch supporter of Allan Shivers during the last two campaigns. Before deciding on our favorite for the next 4 years, however, we will have to study the campaign issues and the record.

The News-Bulletin predicts new business houses for Diboll in the very near future. Not only will more business establishments be introduced here in '56 but we predict one of the best years for housing development.

Free samples of this publication have been distributed in Diboll for the past few months. Upon returning from the service, it was my way of securing reader interest before starting a subscription drive.

That drive has started as of this edition. Only Southern Pine Lumber Co. employees and the ones wwho already have subscriptions to the N-B will be receiving it, after this week.

All subscriptions will be on a pay in advance basis. Renewals will be the same.

This is the first time we have not given lower rates for a drive but we have decided to hold such a feature until next Christmas.

The rates are: One year in Angelina—$2.50; one year outside county—$3.00; 6 months in county—$1.25; 6 months outside county—$1.50. Outside the county in this case means anywhere in the world.

A New Star

There's a new star on the horizon.

This report came from Latane Temple, vice-president of Southern Pine Lumber Co. this week, concerning minor alterations made in the Temple Industry decal.

Reasons for minor changes in the star have been made so that: It can be more easily reproduced by printers.

Mr. Temple pointed out that many products are marketed by the Temple Industries with this 'star' as the trade mark. Only a few of these products are:

Pine and hardwood lumber, pine and hardwood flooring, and pressure treated materials such as required posts and poles — treated with either creosote or penta), precision shaped wood for furniture, wood toilet seats, beverage cases, ammunition boxes, round handles, die-stamped steel products, wood floor, pressure treated barn poles, and many others.

Thirty-three yards all over Texas, operating as a division of Southern Pine Lumber Co. under the name of Temple Lumber Co., operate under this symbol.

The thirty fourth retail yard will be located right here in Diboll. The Southern Pine Retail Yard is soon to become Temple Lumber Co., retail yard Number 34.

Mr. Temple said that people will easily recognize the new symbol. And peoplle will, at the first sight, recognize it as a member of the family of the best known wood products in the world.

DON CAPPS

Donald this year braved an eye infection to help the Lumberjacks to a 17-6 record. An offensive standout at any position, Don will bring his abilities and sportsmanship to DBS again next year.

Barristers Debate Jury Selection

District Judges H. T. Brown and James H. Moore, plus ab- Angelina, Cherokee, and Nacogout 20 practicing attorneys in doches counties, were still in a dither this week about the selection of juries in the thsee county district.

The question has been raised as to whetner the jury wheel system should be inaugurated to replace the jury commission system used in the 2nd ond 145 Judicial Districts.

In a story Sunday, The Lufkin Daily News said that Judge Brown was awaiting a decision from the state attorney generals office on the matter.

A jury panel selected under the jury commission system will appear March 12 for court procedure on civil cases.

Pertinent question in the case is the legality of using the jury commission system for trial of ordinary felony cases.

Teachers To Meet At Nachogdoches

The annual meeting of the Texas State Teachers Association will be held at Nacogdoches, March 9 and 10, said W. F. Pate of Diboll Public Schools this week.

District 8, which includes Diboll, will form the convention on Friday and Saturday, in which some 5,000 teachers will participate. Diboll, along with schools in 28 other counties will be represented.

Mr. Pate said that Diboll was the last school in the southern part of District 8, since Corrigan is in District 1.

Headquarters for the convention will probably be the Fredonia Hotel with programs originating from Nacogdoches High School Auditorium.

Clean Up—Paint Up

Correction

The story in last week's News Bulletin concerning the Sales for the Blind was incorrect in part, according to Ralph [illegible] president of the Lions Club.

Sales for the Blind program will take place in Diboll on April 13, instead of March 13, as was stated last week.

Other phases of the story were correct, Magill said.

No District Crown For Them

THESE 1955 LUMBERJACK basketballers displayed sportsmanship and unusual young ability in producing many fine nights of entertainment for the [illegible] fans.

Getting as close to a district flag as they ever will without winning it, the same team will be back next year with the exception of center, Ken Burnett. Reading left to right, kneeling are: Jimmy Bobbitt, Harold Burchfield, and Billy Saxton.

KEN BURNETT

The big center has registered more points per game this season than either J. A. Tatum or Ed Austin. Ken was Diboll's option to the all-district team. Missing two conference games, Ken still poured in 20.2 points per game. He graduates this year and will probably attend Texas A and M.

ATTEND CHURCH SUNDAY

Arthur Temple, Jr. To Preside Over Sessions In 41st Convention

Arthur Temple, Jr., president of the Southern Pine Association will preside over sessions of the Association during its 41st Annual Convention, which will be held in New Orleans, April 4, 5, and 6, according to Secretary Manager S. P. Deas.

E. O. Lightsey of Miley, S. Carolina, will guide the legislative session. He is Chairman of Southern Pine Industry Committee.

Headquarters for the meeting will be the Roosevelt Hotel.

Concurrent with the business sessions of the Association will be an Industry-Wide Mass meeting of Southern Pine manufacturers under the auspices of the Southern Pine Industry Committee.

The Industry Committee is a legislative arm of the industry and its deliberations will deal with the problems imposed by the increased $1.00 minimum wage which becomes effective March 1.

Legislative policies of the industry wide organization will be examined in the light of present conditions and re-shaped, if necessary, to deal with economic and political issues affecting the industry.

The Personnel Director advised The News-Bulletin that to those who ordered the pins, they may pick them up at any time convenient to them.

Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Pate and family of Clute were visitors of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Pate Sunday before last.

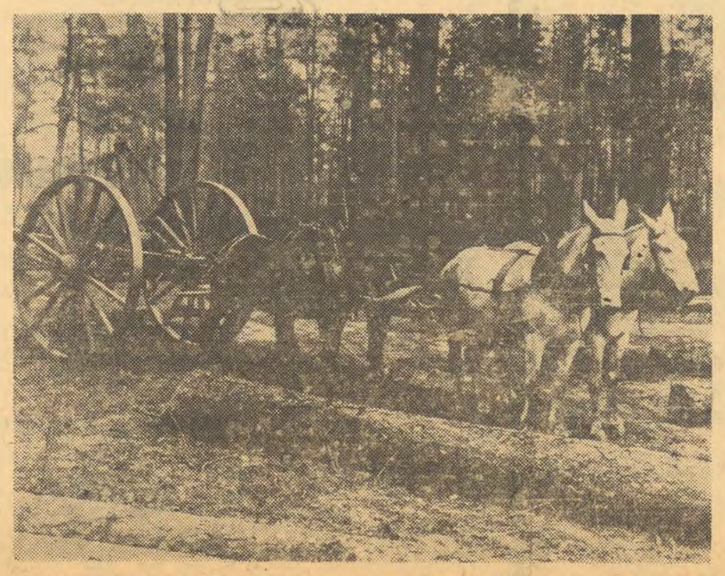

BOY SCOUT NEWS

Five local Pineywoods District adult scouters attended the "T-Man Conference" held February 25-26 at Gaston School, near Henderson, B. A. Stanfield, the training chairman said. The conference is sponsored by the East Texas Area Council of the Boy Scouts. Local representatives included Fred Childers, Raymond Geye, Hector Wark, Paul McWilliams and Stanfield.

The training conference is for various age groups of scouting, namely: Cubs, Scouts and Explorers.

An Always Familiar Scene To Old-Timers

MANY THINGS GO INTO the building of a successful industry. In the field of machinery and equipment, the mule played a major role in making the lumber industry what it is today. Teams are still used, but tractors, [illegible] and the like are slowly making obsolete the above scene — one that all old - timers will readily recognize.

Kenneth Burnett On District 19-A Team

Kenneth Burnett was the only Diboll Lumberjack to be placed on the District 19-A all-district team, reported Coach Bennis Franks, following a meeting in Corrigan last week.

The 1955 Lumberjacks, who posted an 18-6 won-lost mark, had the props knocked from under them three times this season by the Kirby High Eaglels of Woodville. The Eagles dominated the all-district team with three men.

Bryant Kolb of Woodville has polled 57 of a possible 60 votes to receive top honors. Other of the Woodville players were Jimmy Chapman and Tommy Hicks. JJoe Trevathan of Hudson and Burnett rounded out the mythical squad.

On the second team were Bozo Sweeny of Woodville, Charles Boley of Corrigan, Bobby Jumper of Hudson, Charles Hardy of Hudson and Buddy Dobbins of Trinity.

Senators Propose Censored Publicity

Anti-advertising bills in the 2nd session of the 84th Congress includes a bill pertinent to the brewers, proposed by Senator Langer, (Rep), of North Dakota and Representative Syler of Kentucky.

If these advertising bills become law no advertising media, including newspapers, would be permitted to publish beer, wine or liquor advertising.

Texas Senator Price Daniel of Liberty is a member of the Senate Committee that will hear the bills.

Texas Representatives, Martin Dies of Lufkin and Walter Rogers of Pampa, are members of the House Committee that will hear the bills.

It Is The Law In. . . TEXAS

Many people scarcely look at the endorsements on a check, even though they accept it by a stranger, and that can lead to trouble.

Take Jack Storm down at the neighborhood hardware store, for example. He's one who will warn you — emphatically, with gestures — that it's smart to follow thesimple rule: "Know your endorser."

Our laws set up many rules to protect us, and one of these are the holder of a check by declaring that if he can't collect from the person who wrote out the check, the drawer, he can collect from the person who signed the check over to him, endorsed it. This, of course, applies only to the extent that the check only changes hands once.

We mention Jack Storm. He accepted a $100 check from a nice looking fellow who said he needed to buy a kit of tools for his new job. We won't use real names, but let's say the check was made out to Will Works and signed by Art Jayson.

"Sure, Art Jayson's lived in the neighborhood for 20 years," Jack said. "I know him well. Just sign your name on the — back."

Jack forgot to identify the endorser, and it turned out that Will Works was a phony name, and that Art Jayson's signature was a forgery. Jack had no idea where to find the stranger, and he ended up losing about $40 in tools and $60 cash.

Right after that a good pal, we'll call him Bob Samson, purchased a $2 paintbrush from Mr. Jack, and gave him a $60 check. It was made out to a Paul Smart and Signed with "Regno Canning Co., Inc., Rex Rogue, President" Bob Samson placed his signature beneath Smart's endorsement, and Jack gave friend Bob the paintbrush and $58 change.

Well, there wasn't any "Rengo Canning Co., Inc.," and this check also was worthless. But it was a different story this time for Jack. He contacted Bob Samson, and, of course, Bob had to make good on his endorsement.

Bob Samson managed to find Paul Smart, and it was Paul who ended up minus $60. But, what if Smart had been a stranger to Samson?

In a nutshell, anyone who endorses a check guarantees that any previous signatures are genuine and that the check will be paid.

District Champs Of 1950

WITH THE START OF a baseball season close at hand, the above shot of the 1950 baseball champions should be timely. The Diboll Lumberjacks captured the crown that year in a breathless series with Woodville. The Jacks of 1947-48 also captured district honors. Diboll stands a good chance of repeating again this year.

NO COMMENT

Washington —A full-fledged Senate investigation of lobbying and political activities of private groups is now a certainty.

Experienced Washington opinion is that conservative groups will bear the brunit of the attack. Observers point out that recent disclosures of huge labor union contributions and expenditures for favored senators and congressmen in 1952 and 1954 went practically unnoticed.

Likewise virtually ignored were announcements from the CIO-AFL executive council that even more was scheduled for 1956. Even a federal district court dismissal of indictments against UAW-CIO for alleged violation of the Federal Corrupt Practices Act created little stir in a city now seemingly sensitive only to political contributions by individual businessmen.

Revision of laws governing political activities and lobbying has been under study for some time. Many proposals are now pending — government financing of political campaigns and raising limits on campaign fund.

Thurs, the question is posed whether the investigation will be turned into a left-wing attack on conservative members of Congress who do not receive the support of powerful unions. Many in the Capitol recall previous investigations which were converted into "smear business" — campaigns. One of the most notable was the LaFollette civil liberties investigation of the late 30's. It was years later before it became known that the committee was largely staffed by the Communists.

Fat Stock Show To Be TV Feature

It's Fatt Sock Show season in Texas and that's what will be featured next week on The Humble Company's TV program, The Texas In Review." The program will include a roundup of three major Fat Stock Shows in the state—FortWorth, San Antonio and Houston. Included will be rodeo shots as well as the livestock judging.

Another interesting feature will tell the story of pressure maintenance of oil wells. This is undertaken when it becomes apparent that nature will not furnish enough energy to permit a maximum recovery of oil.

Official Memorandum

BY

ALLAN SHIVERS

Governor of Texas

GREETINGS: AUSTIN, TEXAS

On March 2, 1836, fifty-nine courageous Texans met in convention at Old Washington-on-the-Brazos and there imperiled their own lives by signing a Declaration of Independence from Mexico and setting up a provisional government for the Republic of Texas.

At that same convention these men wrote a Constitution for the Republic of Texas which for the first time in history prohibited imprisonment for debt; recognized equal property rights for women by setting up a community property law; and protected a man's home from foreclosure by a homestead law. These provisions were carried over into the laws of the State of Texas and other states.

The Texas Independence Day Organization, with the cooperation of the Texas Press Association, seeks to immortalize the Signers of the Declaration of Independence by building a Museum of Texas History in their honor at Old Washington State Park by public subscription.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, as Governor of Texas, do hereby designate the fifty days beginning March 2, 1956, and ending April 21, 1956, as a period in which Texas generally shall be informed of this worthy cause and shall, according to their desires, contribute to this effort through their local newspapers.

In official recognition whereof, I hereby affix my signature this 6th day of February, 1956.

Allan Shivers

Governor of Texas

INCOME TAX FACTS No. 3

Don't Pay Tax on Wrong Income

(This is one of a series of articles on federal income tax filing. The articles are based on information provided by the American Institute of Accountants and the Texas Society of Certified Public Accountants.)

You may think that listing your income is the easiest part of tax filing. Actually, according to the Internal Revenue Service, this is where taxpayers make the greatest number of errors.

Not all the money that may have come to you during 1955 needs to be reported on your tax form.

For example you may have received "dividends" on an insurance policy. Don't list them as dividends, because they are considered merely a refund of part of the premium you paid.

Don't include Social Security benefits, Railroad Retirement Act benefits, or payments received under Workmen's Compensation laws.

Don't list gifts you received, although the giver may have to pay a gift tax. However, tips and other compensation for services must be reported.

Do not report inheritances and bequests. The estate may be taxed but not the recipient.

Personal Damages Not Taxed

Damages received for personal injuries are not considered taxable income, whether awarded by a court or settled out of court.

When listing your income you can also forget about government benefits to veterans and their families, except non-disability retirement pay and the interest on terminal leave bonds.

The interest on state and municipal bonds is also tax exempt.

Although compensation for services is generally taxable, whether paid in money or otherwise, the law specifically exempts the rental value of a parsonage furnished to a minister or the rental allowance expended by him for this purpose.

The official tax instructions contain a list of the types of income which should or should not be included in your tax return. It is important to check this carefully.

Prizes and Awards

There is an interesting rule on prizes — they are only taxable if you worked for them. Even the slightest action on your part to earn the prize — such as appearing on a quiz program or writing a slogan — makes it taxable income. But prizes awarded for scientific, literary or other achievements without any action by you to bring about your selection would be regarded as gifts to you rather than taxable income.

Some income, such as limited amounts of "sick pay" and the first $50 of certain dividends, must be explained in the tax return but are not taxed.

The instructions that come with your tax forms give further information. Help is also available from the Internal Revenue Service, which urges you to consult a properly qualified advisor if you need outside assistance.

Tips on Touring

By Carol Lane
Women's Travel Authority

Fashion trends fluctuate (Remember the "long look" of the '40s?), and so does the world of travel. Vacation-wise the trend has followed fashion—to a shorter, more casual type. Here's the story, as reported by experts who keep tabs on travel statistics.

According to recent surveys by the AAA and the University of Miami's Bureau of Business and Economic Research, motorists — who tended to take long trips in the first flush of postwar travel—now prefer shorter tours. Eighty per cent of the requests for travel information received by the AAA concern trips of one day or less. The University of Miami research bureau reports that more than half of a "sample" of 100,000 visitors who were questioned in an attempt to analyze vacation habits planned to stay in Miami from 4 to 13 days. The average visit was 7 days.

Three big reasons for the boom in little vacations: better cars, better roads, more people able to take week-end trips in addition to regular annual holidays.

A favorite prescription for a short holiday which I originated a number of years ago is what I call a "Tourette." A Tourette is a two-day, budgeted, planned vacation in miniature. Here's how to plan it. On a road map, draw a circle 200 miles in radius around your home town. (You'll be surprised to find how little of the area you've seen.) Decide where you want to go and what you want to see. Then pick your week-end and go.

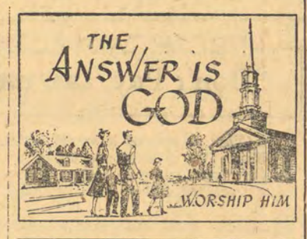

By limiting your outbound trip to 200 miles, you'll have time to sightsee, lunch and settle comfortably for the night. Next day, go home by a different route—and see more of the area so close to home.

Tourettes provide education and recreation for the entire family. They are the latest thing in travel fashion.
