Joe Young Employed By Southern Pine Since Feb. Of 1931

Sixty-three years ago, The Southern Pine Lumber Company had not been founded.

However, sixty-three years ago this June, in Pollok, Texas, a baby boy was born who was later to become one of the company's most loyal and trusted employees.

Today he is regarded as one of the most imminent lumber inspectors in the South.

Joe Henry Young's ambition in life was similiar to that of any good Christian man . . . to be happy, married, have a good family, and make a comfortable, honest living.

Close associates say that Joe Young has done more than that during his 63 years. He is loved by his family, respected by his fellow workmen. But more than just a good boss, Joe Young is just what he seems to a total stranger — a good man.

HE MOVED AROUND

To trace Mr. Young's life just a bit, we find that during his first few years he moved around, following the big mills.

Several of his former places of residence include: Wildhurst, Manning, Lufkin, and Farmersville, La.

And to trace back before that, Joe Young was married to Miss Grace Fenley at Pollok, Texas, in 1914.

SETTLES HERE

Finally, on Feb. 11, 1931, he came to Diboll. Another close friend and associate, E. P. Ramsey, settled here only a few days earlier.

Mr. Young immediately went to work for Southern Pine Lumber Co., as a lumber grader, he held this job for several years.

DISASTER STRIKES

Graduating to a job as a machine helper, Joe Young was just beginning to really get the feel of his new job and his surroundings, and enjoy life in a small town.

At this verey moment in his life, disaster struck lighning fast and hard at Mr. Young. In December of 1939, as he was working on a Yates-American Planner machine, his right arm was virtually chewed from his shoulder in a freakish, horrible accident.

NEAR DEFEAT

Surgeons saved arm.

Joe Young wondered, however, during the next eight months of convalescence, if he would ever be physically able to make a decent living for his family.

"I thought the worst had come. Many days I wondered what would become of me. I just didn't know what to do."

Eddie Farley and the late H. G. Temple solved the problem.

For some time they had been thinking about starting a new job. And, since Joe Young could no longer grade nor hold the job as head grader, he would thence be known as Superintentent of of Grading Manufacture.

NEVER SORRY

The decision proved to be a wise one from the outset. For since 1940, Mr. Young has certainly proved his salt in that new position.

Probably the most astonishing fact about this man's life and work for Southern Pine, is that he has trained more men for the Southern Pine Inspection Bureau and for various railroads, than has any other man in the South lumber industry!! This job he has done in the past eight years.

Mr. Young trained the man who now is head inspector for the Cotton Belt. He also trained all but one of the present inspectors working for Southern Pine here in Diboll.

.... MADE HIS MARK ....

Indeed, Joe Henry Young has made his mark on the lumber industry. In lumber mills across the south where the SPIB and railroad inspectors stamp of approval go onto each piece of lumber, Joe Young's students are putting this know-how and information into application.

Their son Boyce now resides in Houston.

Little "D"

MRS. TOMMIE LEWIS suffered a mild heart attack last week — Her son, AMOS LEWIS is this newspaper's agent for gathering subscriptions here in Diboll — D. C. HOLDER is a new advertiser with the N-B; his grocery specials will appear every week — JAY BOREN surprised a group of coffee drinkers at FENLEY'S CAFE with a 'tear gas fountain pen' —It was all in fun — MRS. BEATER GLASS became more excited over stork arrival than did the parents, MR. and MRS. TOM TATUM — They have a baby girl — Residents of LAKEVIEW and WATSON WALKER additions are coming through with news of their communities — Diboll kids all their lives, JOHN TEMPLE and RAY DAVIS could have been a lot of help to the Lumberjack athletic program this year — BIG JOHN IS currently 'blowing the fast one' by opponents of his Lufkin Panthers.

Election time is drawing near again. School election, that is. And this is probably one of the most important elections in which any of us could participate.

Few things are more important than our schools. So, no matter who you vote for, go to the polling station April 7 and perform your duty.

Rumors fly high, wide and thin about a number of things scheduled to take place in Diboll in the near future.

New industry, new housing projects, new citizens are rumored for our town.

And, for the benefit of those who might have wondered: — This newspaper cannot give a full and complete story about many happenings here untill the green light is given.

No one holds an axe over the editor. But should we print a story without due authorization we would be putting ourselves in a bad position, both legally and morrally. Too, we would be guessing at the facts. The truth is, we of the N-B would rather not carry a story at all than one that is only partially correct.

These are just a few words of explanation in case you and the neighbors have wondered why we do not print a big story about some 'big deal' that may never come into being.

This may get old, but we feel repetition will strengthes the 'teeth' of our news reporting: Our news and advertising deadline is Monday noon of each week. Not having a printing plant here in Diboll, the possibility of a Tuesday deadline, or even Wednesday, may be a long way in the future.

Actually we had rather have the bulk of your news by Sunday afternoon. That way you are sure of getting it in the coming week's paper.

Feel free to call the editor at 2546 or 2226, anytime. Our preference is that you call after 5 p.m., however, if the line is busy or there is no answer, keep trying. We'll be glad to talk to anyone on any matter.

His Seven-League Marketing Boots

Every fifth ton of America's $15 billion export trade comes from its farmlands. One farm income dollar in eight comes from overseas sales. The prosperity of our farmers is directly dependent on the strength of the American Merchant Marine and the assured access its ships provide to foreign markets.

Sporting Goods Store Outlined For Diboll

A small, combination sporting goods and live bait business will be open in Diboll soon, says Bob Scoggin and Paul Tucker.

The two will introduce this new phase of business to Dibollians in the near future, according to tentative plans.

Former home of the Diboll Flower Shop will be used for the present time. It will house modest sporting goods equipment such as camping equipment of all types, athletic equipment, ammunition for rifles and shotguns, etc. Scoggin said outboard motors and boats would probably be a feature later on.

Live bait of all descriptions will be kept. Proper facilities for water and 'bait houses' are being worked on, they said.

Tucker, who is employed by Southern Pine Lumber Co., will operate the store after work hours and on Saturday. His wife, Billie Jean, will probably manage the business the remainder of the time.

An opening date has not been announced.

Six Names Appear On Ballot For Trustee Election In April

Four new names were added to the ballot for the coming 7 of April trustee election prior to the filing deadline, Saturday March 24.

Jack Sweeny, secretary-treasurer of the present school board said Sunday that the four names were in addition to the two trustees who will be balloted on in the electionn.

The four men are: Jewel Brown, Calvin Lawrence, C. F. Lord, and John Harrison Weeks.

Two members of the present boaed whose names will appear in the April election are that of George (Rat) Johnson and J. J. Carr. Other members of the board are: Sherod Powell, as chairman; Jack Sweeny, secretary-treasurer; Ernest Breazeale, Dick Hendricks; and V. B. McKinney.

Sweeny stated that three names would appear on the ballot during the next election.

As far as could be determined, about 145 persons voted in the last trustee election.

In order to vote, the secretary pointed out that voters must be in possession of a poll tax receipt and be a taxpayer with the taxes rendered on some sort of property, not necessarily real estate.

Mr. Sweeny further stated that write-in votes will be the only means by which other candidates can now be eligible, as Saturday was the deadline.

Valid notices have been posted in various places over the town to remind voters of date, place and time of the election.

TPA Prexi Raps C. T. Johnson

TYLER—Texas Press Association President Russell W. Bryant, in a talk to members of the North and East Texas Press Association here today, declared that C. T. Johnson of Austin is ineligible to be a candidate for the office of Lieutenant Governor.

Bryant is publisher of the Italy News-Herald.

He based his assertion on Section "h" of Article 244 of the Texas Election Code which says that any candidate swearing to falsely to campaign expenditures shall forfeit his right to have his name placed upon the ballot at any subsequent primary, special or general election.

Bryant said that in a deposition taken in 126th District Ct. at Austin on Oct. 1, 1955, Johnson testified under oath that he spent only $125 in traveling the length and breadth of Texas as campaigning for Lieutenant Gv.

In elaborating on his charges Bryant said the Johnson testified that he had driven a Plymouth automobile 12,000 to 15,000 miles during the 1954 campaign and that his total traveling expense for the entire campaign period, as reported by him to the Secretary of State, amounted to only $125 — including gasoline, oil, tires, repairs, meals and etc

"That is less than one cent a mile for car expense alone, with out including any of the other travel expenses which Johnson says it does include," Bryant has said.

Bryant was discussing the civil suits Johnson has filed against Texas Press Association and its manager, Vernon T. Stanford, as well as indictments by a McLennan County Grand Jury handed down on Feb. 29. He declared that Sanford and the TPA had accepted advertising in strict compliance with the law and contended that the indictments and civil suits were politically inspired. He said that Johnson turned on TPA and its manager for vengeance when TPA and Sanford could not aid him in his allegations that Lt. Gov. Ben Ramsey was guilty of election law violation by failure to report advertising expenditures.

Bryant declared that Sanford did not spend any of his own money, nor any Texas Press Association funds, in behalf of any candidate, as charged in the indictments. That section of the law, under which the indictment was returned, prohibits the expenditure of more than $25 by an individual in an election.

Bryant contended that if Sanford had spent the full $12,000 as charged by Johnson, which he did not do — he still could not be guilty of more than one offense because the law does not provide that each $25 shtll constitute a separate offense. He argued that Sanford had been placed in double jeopardy because of the two indictments.

Diboll Schools To Observe Holidays

Supt. W. F. Pate of the Diboll School System announced Monday that a two day holiday will be recognized in observance of Easter.

School will be dismissed at 3 p.m. Thursday afternoon. The classes will re-convene at 7:45 Tuesday morning.

The Easter Story

In the end of the Sabbath, as it begun to dawn toward the first day of the week, came Mary Magalene and the other Mary to see the sepulchre.

And, behold, there was a great earthquake; for the angel of The Yord descended from Heaven, and came and rolled back the stone from the door and sat upon it.

His countenance was like lightning, and his raiment as white as snow.

And for fear of him the keepers did shake and became as dead men.

And the angel answered—and said unto the women,—Fear not ye; for I /now that ye seek Jesus which was crucified.

He is not here; for he is risen, as he said. Come, see the place where the Lord lay.

—Matthew 28:1-6

Methodist Hold Meet At Diboll

The Congregational Methodist Youth Society of the Woodville District meets once each month at a pre-determined church in the district. The March rally was held in the church at Diboll, Friday evening, March 16.

There were approvimately 150 people present, representing the churches at Lufkin, Corrigan, Nacogdoches, Beulah, Bald Hill, Providence, Redland and Cushing.

Ways and means were discussed for forming a youth caravan from this district to visit the college at Tehuacana on Mar 24.

A play, depicting the necessity for Christian courage, was given by the young folks of the Diboll church. The group consisted of John Bowman, Wiley Courtney, Norma Jeane Lane, Shirley Smith and Junior Smith.

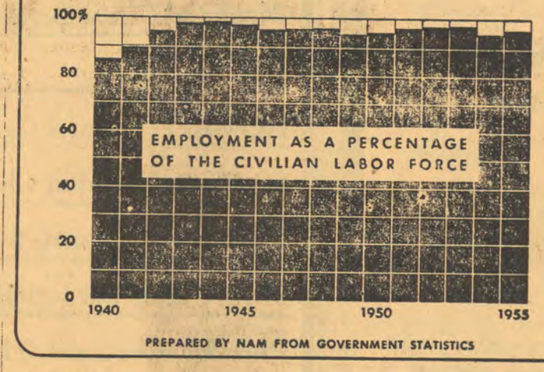

The business session was presided over by sister Elmo McGuire, with the devotional by Bro. Hogue Forest, following which the congregation gathered in the dining room of the church where refreshments were served by the ladies of the church.

HIGH EMPLOYMENT LEVELS 1940-1955

Normally we may expect that 24 out of every 25 civilians in the labor force have jobs. That is the approximate average for the years since 1940 as pictured on the chart.

While it is understanble that the highest levels of civilian employment were attained during the World War II and Korean periods, it is remarkable that employment levels remained so close to the war peaks in the post-war years.

As we emerged from the 30's, employment levels increased to a peak in 1944, when 98.9 percent of the labor force were employed. In 1949, a recession year 94.5 per cent were employed.

The chart shows that during the Korean War employment levels did not attain the highs recorded during World War II, but it is noteworthy that the decline in 1054 was only to 04.0 pct a higher level than during 1949.

Senator Lock Named To Special Atomic Energy Group

Senator Ottis Lock has been appointed by the Council of the State Governments to be a member of a special committee on atomic energy it was announced today.

In accepting the appointment Senator Lock said "The several states should adopt rules and regulations to promote the widest possible peace-time use of atomic materials including power generation, medicine, agriculture, transportation and preservation of food.

"The safe and beneficial use of this new source of energy will also require effective, uniform laws regulating radiation exposure," he stated.

The Council of State Governments is an organization composed of representatives from a forty-eight state government — with headquarters in Chicago.

It is designed to strengthen state government by giving the state officials an opportunity to take a uniform approach to the common problems and to study the strength and weakness of the laws of other states.

HIGHWAY HORSE SENSE

BY GEORGE CARROLL

TRIP TO THE MOON, ANYONE? The United States has the largest highway network in the world—3,394,561 miles of roads. That's equal to more than 14 times the distance to the moon. Russia is a very poor second with 1,682,000 miles. But Russia doesn't have as much paved highways as the State of Florida.

• • • • • •

LOOK OUT FOR THE HORSES. Mile for mile, horse travel was actually more than four times as fatal as auto travel, the National Safety Council reports. Their figures show that in 1909 (the peak of horse travel) the fatality rate was 30 deaths for each 100 million miles of travel. The average horse traveled 500 miles in a year.

• • • • • •

Today with the average car doing about 10,000 miles a year, fatalities are about 6.5 per hundred million miles.

• • • • • •

$6½ BILLION TUNE. "Everyone wants good roads but no one is willing to pay for them." How many times have we heard that statement. Actually, the American motorist who pushes around that old family buggy is not only willing to pay for roads—he is already paying for them to the tune of $6½ billion a year.

• • • • • •

He's paying taxes on his gasoline that amount to more than a 35% sales tax. His automobile is taxed at 10% . . . tires, tubes, and accessories are also hit hard. On a national average, a motor vehicle owner pays about $110 a year in taxes just for the privilege of driving a car.

• • • • • •

SHORT STARTLERS. The old Stanley Steamer startled the world in 1906 with a speed of 127 miles per hour. A year later another "peanut roaster" — that's what they called the steam cars — was caught at 190 miles per hour.

• • • • • •

The average wage earner has to work 25 minutes to pay the tax on ten gallons of gas.

• • • • • •

NUT CRACKER. We've heard of many ways to shell nuts but never the one that confronts the sheriff in Murfreesboro, Tennessee. Farmers there have been strewing the roads with walnuts so that the wheels of passing cars will shell them. It's a good idea but it's against the law. The sheriff wants it stopped.

Modern Laundry Goes Gas

Signs point to a record 3,000,000-unit year for gas water heater shipments, with at least 20 per cent of the total going to rural home modernizers.

Demand for gas-operated clothes dryers, as well as water heaters, by farm homeowners indicates a nationwide switch to the economy fuel which already is used in most agricultural areas for cooking and is earning a big following for both central and room heating.

Manufacturers of gas equipment point out that average rural homes surpass city dwellings in the number of fully automatic appliances in operation. More farm home laundries than ever are equipped with dial-controlled water heaters that enable the housewife to preset the proper water temperatures for washing all types of fabrics and for housecleaning, automatic dishwashing and personal hygiene.

Rural householders also have been among the first to take advantage of new water heaters equipped with plastic dip tubes, instead of the old metal type which sometimes cause corrosion and rust. The dip tube is the pipe that conducts cold water into the tank for heating.

The growing popularity of the gas clothes dryer as a member of the home laundry "team" is traceable to at least two virtues which have been lauded by many Home Demonstration Agents. One is that, unlike electricity, gas combustion produces a certain amount of moisture. This helps preserve delicate fabrics in the quick-drying gas models.

Another advantage of gas clothes-drying is that it permits thermostatic setting of just the right heat for either damp-drying or fluff-drying. The latter, of course, eliminates most ironing.

Jane Tiffany Wagner, home economist for the Gas Appliance Manufacturers Association, reports that the gas dryers are now used successfully as a means of freshening blankets, bedding, drapes and small rugs without laundering or dry-cleaning.

A CAMPAIGN HOPE

With a sigh, Molly laid her newspaper aside.

"I'm almost sorry to see the campaign begin," she said.

"And why's that?" George asked.

"Well, I know it has to be — and everybody ought to be glad we have two vigorous political parties, different points of view . . ."

"Yes, instead of just one, as in Russia — or a dozen, as in France."

"I mean," Molly continued, "I'll hate it if anybody attacks Ike as a man, his honesty, sincerity and integrity. They are beyond question, beyond politics"

"Agreed," said George. "But a campaign has to be a fight in a manner of speaking. . . ."

"I know. But I hope it will be a discussion of the issues — a real battle over them, if necessary. That's the way it should be in a democracy. But leave Ike out of it — as a man, his health, and all . . ."

George thought a moment. "Remember though, the bitter attacks on Abraham Lincoln —the bad taste, the personal slurs?"

"But as a people, surely we have grown up since that day. I hope so, anyway!"

A baby contest was held at the Shiloh Baptist Church on March 18 for purpose of raising money for the building fund.

A total of $270.25 was counted in the contest. Bro. Don Turner of the First Baptist Church was the speaker.

SPORTS FLASHES

Some of the veteran players in the Pacific Coast League undoubtedly perked up and felt they had not lost any of their speed whenever they beat out an infield hit at San Diego, says The Sporting News. So this may come as a shock — the distance from home plate to first base sing discovery was made by the Padres' new grounds keeper as he began preparing the diamond for the coming season.

If you want something to mull over for a little while, listen to these brain-teasers sent in to us by a Brooklyn resident, Robert Dinkin. How, asks Dinkin, can a pitcher make 11 pitches to the same batter in one turn at bat, discounting fouls? Another teaser: What record can be tied but never broken? The Sporting News is playing a teasing game, too. It's reserving the answers until next week.

Diboll Business To Celebrate 8th Year

One of Diboll's most popular families, also operators of a well known business, A. Porter and Sons will celebrate their eighth year in business here in early July.

LeRoy Porter revealed plans for some extra - curicular work, along with the celebration. LeRoy said that his crew had gotten off to a good start on a new 'clean-up, paint-up' campaign around the station, located just outside the north city limits on Highway 59.

"A little remodeling and rearranging might be in the making," said Porter. "Diboll folks have certainly been great to us during the past eight years. We hope our kind of 'super service' will always be pleasing to our Diboll neighbors, as well as to passing motorists."

Tips on Touring

By Carol Lane
Women's Travel Authority

This year marks the fifth anniversary of the Carol Lane Awards for Traffic Safety. Administered by the National Safety Council through grant of Shell Oil Company, they are the first and only national awards to recognize and reward women's achievements towards the preservation of lives through traffic safety programs in their community or state.

They are open to individual women and to any women's or parents' group. The top three award winners in both the individual and group categories receive a bronze sculpture (bas-relief for second and third place) and savings bonds worth $1,000, $500 and $250, respectively.

Entry blanks with complete information on the 1956 Carol Lane Awards can be obtained by writing to: Miss Alice Catherine Mills, Director, Women's Activities, National Safety Council, 425 North Michigan Avenue, Chicago 11, Illinois. Deadline for all entries is midnight June 15, 1956.

The problem of traffic-accident prevention can be attacked in many ways. My company is currently sponsoring a series of safety ads in 220 newspapers in 152 cities throughout the United States. These ads feature a positive, new and fresh approach to traffic safety. Each ad is a quiz the newspaper reader can take to measure his knowledge, physical ability and general aptitude for driving. There has been widespread endorsement of this idea from ministers, governors, high school driver training classes, civic clubs, and television and radio commentators. The object of the ads: to help people spot their own weak points as drivers so they can do something about them and thus help make our highways safer.

NO COMMENT

WASHINGTON - Political forecasting is too premature to be accurate. Too much can happen. But trends can be noted - along with basic strengths and weaknesses.

We've been checking Democratic sources. Here's the picture as they see it. Presidential outcome, before a candidate is named, is highly speculative. Yet Democrats count on 89 electorial votes in nine southern states - - which stayed hitched in 1952. Hhey add the four Southe the four Southern States voting for Eisenhower, believing they will return to the fold. Thtt's 57 more. To this, they add Missouri and Oklahoma. Grand total, 167 or 99 more needed.

Democrats believe only a "slight defection" in the farm vote in farm-industry states like Illinois, Indiana, Ohio is needed to win. The Senate vote on the three - price wheat plan has a great significance. It could - if it becomes law - produce this "slight defection."

On '56 issues : Democrats believe they can minimize the late "Peace and Prosperity" claims of Republicans. Prosperity is not country-wide. There are depressed areas - - farmers, etc. Also, consumers are heavily in debt, apprehensive, Democrats will play it up. Peace is uncertain. Explosions can come in Middle East and Formosa. Boys still being drafted, and hugh sums for defense being spent. World position of U. S. has deteriorated, they claim.

Jacks Break Even In First 2 Diamond Games

The Diboll Lumberjack baseball squad broke even in their first two games of the season last week.

They took a close 8-7 licking at the hands of Groveton, even though John Lea pounded out 2 home runs and W. L. Miller had one.

Miller's blast traveled about 350 ft. over left center. The grand slam put Diboll ahead 4-0 in the first inning. Groveton chewed away at the Jacks each inning, despite the solo circuit clouts by Lea. A sacrifice play accounted for Diboll's last run.

Amos Lewis started for Diboll and was relieved by Robert Fenley who took the loss. Lewis cam back in Fenley's relief in the 4th and finished the game.

Diboll errors spelled the difference in the loosly played contest, said observers.

WHIP CHESTER

Diboll beat the Chester Yellowjackets here, 4-1, Friday afternoon in a game scheduled to be played that night. Improper lighting at Miller Park forced the schedule change.

Fenley was credited with the win, Miller and Lea collected Dibolls three hits, with two and one, respectively. Fenley gave up only one hit, but had to be relieved by Lewis in the 5th.

Thus far, Lewis, Bobbitt, and outfielder Royce Grimes have failed to connect for a safe hit.

Fertilizer—The Dirt Farmer's "Secret Weapon"

Better Order it Now!

The farmer who makes his living from the soil—is the man who best knows what good fertilizer means to him in dollars and cents. It's his "secret weapon".

He also knows how important it is to start his cropping operations the moment spring weather lets him get going, which means he wants his fertilizer on hand—no waiting for deliveries from suppliers; no delays in planting.

It's darn good management to get your fertilizer supplies ahead of time, says the Agricultural Service Division of Union Bag & Paper Corporation — makers of multiwall paper bags for fertilizer. And this simple bit of good farm sense is echoed by every shrewd farmer in the country.

Suggesting you get it well in advance doesn't imply there's any shortage. It's just that many farmers wait till the last minute to order fertilizer, and it's physically impossible for the manufacturers to crowd into a few weeks all the fertilizer needs of the country. Result: Delays in shipping—delays that can waste days and even weeks. Ordering it now is just good sense.

There is no problem in storing fertilizer. Simply keep it in a dry, well-ventilated place off the ground; and off concrete, if the concrete floor is in direct contact with the ground. To avoid undue compression, it's best not to pile bags more than six or seven high.

Yessir, "on the farm storage"—getting your plant food supplies in advance—is just smart "farm management".

Crippled Children Well Cared For

The amazing progress in caring for the crippled in this generation is one of the most important observations noted in the undercurrent of news released in conjunction with the 1956 Easter Seal Appeal, now in progress.

"More has been accomplished for the crippled in our time than in all the generations of man's civilization before us.

Improved techniques is one explanation for the progress. Another is the work of both the public and private agencies — without whose efforts the scientific advances would be meaningless.

Not many private organizations can match the superlative contribution made by the National Society for Crippled Children and Adults and its 1,700 affiliates, including, of course, the Texas Society for Crippled children and its almost 100 city and county units. For more than a quarter century these Societies have been providing care for the crippled and informing the public of the crippled's needs, spending Easter Seal Dollars responsibly, wisely and well.

For Happier Eating

Smarten Up, Open Up Your Kitchen

Eating at home can be a lot more fun when the meal center has an attractive atmosphere. There's something about the stark whiteness and coldness of many kitchen and breakfast areas that simply does not lend itself to relaxed gracious living.

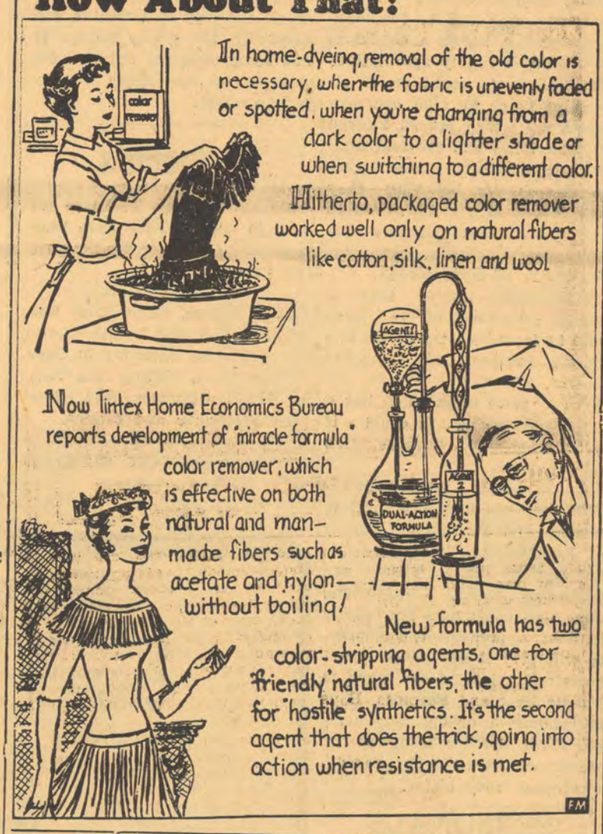

As a result, there's been a swing toward the warmth and natural beauty of wood. Popular choices are the ten woods of the western pine region because of their abundance, economy, and easy workability. With the different species and an infinite number of possible finishes, any effect can be created, from Early American to modern.

High on the list of modern homemakers today is the pine breakfast bar which permits quicker meals and snacks and easier serving.

Following the trend toward open planning, it serves as a room divider, eliminating the confinement of a solid wall.

Best of all, the western pine kitchen-breakfast bar combination is practically a "work-proof" work area because of its easy upkeep.
