(The News-Bulletin will carry a complete story next week).

Social Security Payments In County Show Sharp Increase

Retired workers in the United States were awarded Federal old age benefits at a rate of more than 2,500 per day in 1955. In Angelina County alone there was an increase of approximately 12½ pct during 1955 in the total ndmber of persons receiving old-age and survivors insurance payments. This was shown in figueres just released by L. R. James, District Manager of the Social Security Administration at Lufkin.

At the end of 1955 a total of 1936 persons were receiving the regular monthly payments eithed as retired workers and their dependents, or as survivors of workers who had passed on. In the entire nation there were about 8 million persons receiving benefits at the end of the year.

Total payments in Angelina County amounted to $71,022 per month, according to Mr. James, with the average for all types of payments being $42.75. For retired workers only the average monthly payment was $54.47.

Word from our friend Jim Hale down at Woodville indicates that his weekly newspaper; The Tyler County Booster, is doing a good bdsiness and being read by a lot of people.

Jim is a former managing editor of The Lufkin Daily News and a comparative newcomer to the weekly business. He is doing a remarkable job down at Woodville, however, and we can certainly recommend his paper to those of you who might be interested in happenings in Tyler county.

Appointment of Ervin Du Bose as new head football coach at DHS brings to an end much speculation as to who would get the job recently vacated by our good friend, Johnny Waldie.

Some observers figured an outsider would be brought in, althodgh a promotion 'within the ranks' seemed more likely, since Ervin's life has literally evolved around the gridiron.

John Waldie gave a lot of class in last year's Lumberjack play.

He did very well with the material he had. He also built what I think might be a winning team this fall, regardless of the new and tougher disthict we must face.

At any rate, Johnny has moved out of the coaching profession and into a more formidable position with the Texas Highway Department. We wish Johnny, Joyce and John Harrison the best of luck.

And too, we wish Ervin DuBose the best of luck in his first job as a head coach. He will get our whole-hearted support - - - as will any other man who comes here with leadership and the will to win.

Somebody do Something!

Nowadays a guy gets hit with donations to just abodt every kind of project under the sun. Everybody gives, even when it hurts.

There are national, state and local campaigns to collect for some organization. There are queen's races, merchant's funds, and just plain 'general' funds for making somebody mad because they didn't want charity in the first place.

Now its time somebody started asking donations to build a swimming pool! This heat is almost unbearable, and Im not going to pay somebody in Lufkin to let me use their water.

Please, can't someone break odt one of those old $50,000 bills and build us a small place to get cool?

★ Pine Knots Or Charcoal ? ?

The Pine Bough Restaurant, Diboll's new entry into the field of cafe service, ras confronted the officials of the Southern Pine Ldmber Company, who are sponsoring it, with a very difficult question.

Will the charcoal to be used to broil the rib eye steaks which The Pine Bough plans to feature be produced by the Southern Pine Lumber Company?

Southern Pine Lumber Co. has long claimed to be the most fully integrated forest products inddstry in the world. Now that Southern Pine is the sponsor of a restaurant whose featured dish depends on a forest product, namely charcoal, the claim is up for review before the executives of that company, it is rumored.

The whole question came up when a newspaper man questioned the propriety of importing scharcoal from Arkansas into the "Wood Capitol of the South."

With only 12 games of the season gone, however, few of the hitters have really starter to develop. Only one player has been to bat as many as 22 times.

Measure Of A Man To Be Sermon Topic

'The Measure of a Man' will be the Sermon Subject Sunday at the First Baptist Church. Bro. Turner announced his sermon subject and said, "The Fatherhood of God is the perfect example of what God intended a father to be. He has given us a positive measure. The statement often made by friends abodt some man who has left out God being a good father to his children is a lie of Satan Himself. No man, however morally clean he may be, is a good father to his children unless he is a new Christian father. If he cheats his children of the God given privelege of a Christian home he has robbed them of a birthright, pointed them in the wrong direction and set before them a false standard of values." Bro. Turner said today, "I challenge the men of Diboll, to face the facts as they are. To measure their lives by God's example. To face the Question 'What kind of a Father are You?'

A—If you change to a new program of GI on-the-job training, you will receive the full allowance paid to veterans beginning their courses. Yodr periodic reductions will begin four months after you start your new course.

Q—I am planning to sell the home I bought with a GI loan. Are there any disadvantages in allowing the buyer to take over my GI mortgage and continue to make payments on it?

New Restaurant, "The Pine Bough" Sponsored By SP, To Open In Diboll

The new restaurant which will open soon in Diboll, Texas has been named "The Pine Bough".

This name was selected as a result of a contest, according to Latane' Temple of Southern Pine Lumber Company, who are sponsoring the new restaurant. The name, "The Pine Bough," was selected because it advertises the great forest industry of East Texas anr because it was thought to suggest the pleasant informal leisure which typifies this part of the codntry, according to Mr. Temple.

One of the outstanding restaurateurs in Texas has been signed up to operate the new restaurant which is being readied for opening soon in Diboll.

USDA Studies Bread Costs

SOURCE: Agricultural Marketing Service, USDA.

Rising costs of operations in the flour mill and in the bakery are credited with the responsibility for increased bread prices in a publication recently released by the Agricultural Marketing Service of the United States Department of Agriculture.

The publication "Marketing Margins for White Bread" points out that bread prices have advanced 70 per cent in the past ten years. The cost of wheat in the loaf of bread has gained from 2.1c to 2.7c, but the farmer's share of the consumer bread dollar has declined from 25 per cent in 1946 to 18 per cent in 1955.

The wholesale price of bread, (the price received by the baker) was listed at 14.8c. Of this total, the baker retains eight-tenths of a cent as profit before taxes.

A separate study by the Marketing Service showed net profits of six leading bakers, after taxes, declining from 5.3 per cent in 1946 to 2.3 per cent in 1954.

The report noted that average hourly earnings of grain mill workers advanced 85 per cent in the ten year period, that hourly earnings of bakery workers advanced a third between 1946 and 1950 and "a further rise of approximately the same amount has taken place since 1950."

The publication notes that the price of paper similar to that used for bread wrapping advanced 87 per cent in the period covered. It also reported that handling, transportation and milling charges rose from 1 cent to nearly 2 cents per loaf.

Grocer mark-up was noted as little changed in the ten year period.

The report commented that large baking plants have been meeting the challenge of rising labor costs by increased mechanization and bulk handling of ingredients, creating greater efficiency of production.

The report can be summed up as showing that the higher price of bread paid by consumers has not been reflected in increased profits for farmer, miller, baker or grocer but is due entirely to greater costs in transportation, processing and delivery.

Woe's Me!

LONDON, ENGLAND — 4-year-old Paul Izod, one of the first in the London area to be given anti-polio injections, reacts in typical fashion to the "ordeal." Not even Mom's presence or the plate of candy she is offering him can dry the tears or quell of loud protest. Britain hopes to innoculate between 250,000 and 500,000 children in the most susceptible age groups with the vaccine, which although similar to the Salk vaccine, was developed independently in England.

When 24 Indians and Orioles went down on strikes in Cleveland Stadium May 19, they set a new record for a two team total of strikeouts in one game.

The old mark of 23, records show, was achieved four times, in 1901, 1914 and twice in 1955.

Tips on Touring

By Carol Lane
Women's Travel Authority

"Meet 'em half way." That's a secret of success in business—and it can also lead to a successful "travel reunion." Here's how it works: Let's say you live in the Eastand have friends in San Francisco you haven't seen for years. Plan your travel reunion for Colorado Springs—a good "half way" spot. By driving three to four hundred miles a day, you should reaeh your destination within a day of each other. Rent motel cabins side by side, and have a wonderful time catching up on the years.

Again,if you live in Los Angeles and want a travel get-together with friends from Chicago, Colorado would be a good meeting spot. The entire family will enjoy sightseeing along the way, and there's the happy reunion at journey's end.

The "travel reunion" is a good idea for former neighbors who are now hundreds of miles apart. Two families I know pick an interesting place between them twice a year, drive there in time to rent inexpensive cabins next door to each other, and enjoy each other's company. Many families use an annual special event to bring them together. For example, there are rodeos in the West, outdoor music concerts in the Berkshires, and summer theatres in many sections of the country.

So get in touch with some faraway friends now, and plan a "travel reunion." It'll be fun, and neither family gets stuck with having to play host (and, for that matter, guest).

In loving memory of our hdsband and father, R. B. McKinney, Sr., who passed away on June 16, 1955:

One year ago today we kissed you good-bye, Dear, and you left your Earthly home that had become filled with pain and discomfort, and on you went to the Heavenly home to receive your crown of glory. We miss your kindness and love, but Heaven is sweeter, I am sure, since you are there.

RADAR TRAPS

Are the Texas Highway Patrol's radar speed nets illegal?

Amarillo Attorney Horace E. Wilson says he will fight to the Supreme Court, if necessary, to prove they are. Wilson was arrested recently and fined $5 plus costs. A radar set near Sequin had clocked him at seventy one miles per hour.

He declares Section 803A of the State Penal Code provides for automatic dismissal of a speeding charge if the arresting officer lies in wait or hides.

Secrets of a Model

Some models spend their days posing in minks and sables. Not me! I am what is known as The Housewife Type. I spend my days in a housedress posing with a range or freezer or automatic washer.

It happens that I know something about cooking and freezing and washing clothes. But I guess I should keep it a secret.

Take today's assignment. When I was handed a load of lacy lingerie to toss into an automatic washer, I balked.

"Now look," I told the photographer. "You talk realism constantly. You insist that I wear aprons and low heeled shoes. You remove my doe eyes and most of my makeup. You construct a realistic kitchen setting and put me in it. Then you do something completely unrealistic like putting this stuff in an automatic washer. Even a model knows that lingerie should be washed by hand."

(I can get away with backtalk to this photographer. I'm married to him.)

"Smile," Hank said as he snapped the shutter. Then he walked me over to my dressing room.

"Listen here, Beautiful, for photographic purposes you may be a model housewife but in reality you're living in the past. That RCA Whirlpool Imperial washer launders silks and nylons quite as well as denims and ginghams. It's the 2-speed, 2-cycle unit the Whirlpool-Seeger people just brought out. Regular fabrics are swished around at regular speed but there's a special low-speed, short-time cycle for delicate fabrics. Eliminates this hand-washing you're pushing."

Naturally, Hank was right. On our way home this evening we stopped by our local dealer's store and watched a demonstration. Sure enough, the delicate fabrics cycle is every bit as gentle as hand-washing — and a lot faster.

The most economical lumber you can use

Is The Best That Money Can Buy . . .

REVIVAL—In many parts of the United States, architects are reviving the old colonial and plantation styles of home building. Here is a good example. Columns, tall chimney and white painted Southern Pine walls afford the nostalgic touch, while the use of properly graded seasoned lumber in the framework assures durability comparable to that of the originals, many of which are two centuries old and older.

A revival of colonial and plantation - style architecture is reported in certain parts of the United States, and many of the originals are left to serve for modern builders.

Along the eastern seaboard, and from Virginia across the South, these centuries old mansions can be found, and it is their elegance in general and their durability in particular that present day arcditects are seeking to duplicate.

Comfortable verandas, stately columns, white painted wood or white washed brick walls and high ceilings, rooms with the gleaming crystal chandeliers, — were the hallmarks of the old homes.

The real secret of theid success however, is less evident to the casual observer. These homes preserved for one, two and 3 centuries because of the careful workmanship that went into the place and the fine, seasoned ldmber that was used in the original constduction.

Southern Pine lumber from Virginia, the Carolinas, Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi and other states was carefullly air dried, before use in the hidden structure, and with the passing yeads developed a quality of iron.

A phenomenon of recent years has been that the old mansions in the Carolinas and elsewhere withstood hurricanes, while less durable homes of recent origin quickly collapsed.

Modern architects and builders are using various dnique means to recreate the old grandeur. Sometimes, a facade of columns or a wing is added to an already existing frame structure. On other occasions, completely new homes are being built with tall chimneys, verandas and other symbols of an earlier day, but with such modern items as builtin garages added. And for the sake of preservation and lasting beauty, today's architects, like their predecessors, are insisting on well seasoned lumber for the secret parts.

TIPS ON DINING

This is the season of birds and butterflies, brides and barbecues. The center of entertaining moves outdoors to terrace or backyard, and both the brand new homemaker and the experienced hostess will want to plan some gala gatherings to take advantage of fine summer weather. The following ideas may help spark your summer and bridal entertaining.

* * *

Wedding presents often turn out to be a mixed blessing for the bride. Pity the girl who receives twenty bon-bon dishes and a dozen more pickle forks than she can reasonably use. However, an imaginative eye can see possibilities in many surplus articles, and sometimes even "white elephants" can be put to use. For instance, an extra silver vegetable dish can be pressed into service for a low, floating flower arrangement, and an antique pitcher makes a stunning container for sprays of summer flowers. Finger bowls, rarely used nowadays, are exactly the right size for serving jellied soups or fruit cocktails, and can also double as elegant dessert dishes for fruit or puddings.

* * *

Here's a suggestion for a wedding gift that is sure to be welcomed by every bride. You can be certain that a set of Melmac quality dinnerware, offered by a number of molders under their own brand names, in lovely mix-or-match colors or good-looking patterns, will be kept in constant use for casual or more formal occasions alike, will prove endlessly versatile in today's busy household.

* * *

One of the most popular ways of entertaining the prospective bride is to give a shower for her. To ring a change on the inevitable kitchen, linen and bathroom themes, why not plan a bridal shower around a more original idea? Some possibilities: beachware, stationery, gloves, or (to take a tip from Grace Kelly's yacht shower) accessories for boats or picnics. You might design a shower to tie into the interests or future life of the girl. And have you thought of a barbecue or outdoor party for an engaged girl? Ask your guests to bring gifts suitable for outdoor cookery or entertaining.

Supporting Your Town

Merchants who do not advertise are invited to read the following from the American Bankers Magazine, as it might let you have a new slant on business, your own business, as well as the matter of the building of your own town.

"No business man in any town should allow a newspaper published in his town to go without his name and business being mentioned somewhere in its columns. . . This does not mean you should have a . . . . whole, half or even a quarter page ad in each issue of the paper, but your name and business should be mentioned, if you do not use more than a two-line space.

"A stranger picking up a newspaper should be able to tell what business is represented in a town by Looking at the paper. The man who does not advertise is doing an injustice to himself and the town. The man who insists on sharing the business that comes to town, but refuses advertizement of his own, is not a valuable addition to any town. The life of a town depends on the live, wide-awake and liberal advertising business man."

Notice — Anyone taking undue exceptions to the following can take it for Texas ganite—MAD

As annual 'flag day' nears we would like to send one to the lil' ole state of Alabama—one that originated back in the '60s —It was just a flag that said—"Don't Tread On Me"—

Although they were not the originators, they have let the honorable (sic. One Communist and their 3 Socialist) Supreme Court Justice Members k n o w how they stand.

We do not want to delve into the facts as deeply as that but we would like to know how the "The Great Big Ole State of—'Texas' Stands' ? ? ?

With our so called —Speaker of The House, Mr. Rayburn,—who in his endeavor to procure votes, has promised his 'lone-wolfe county, (Hunt, Co. of his district, $480,000), to re-vamp an airfield, which would help the defense of the country just as much as a hog with a side saddle.

And yet this great statesman on the otherhand wants the farmers to cease compeating on the world market and begin the old song of 'plow-it-under' — Son you can make More!

Now we may be a little off—but—The basic principal of economy is not to spend more than you make—All that The Honorable Mr. Rayburns District has to offer is Cotton — Where is HE going to get the $480,000.?

Time Inc. Completes Purchase Of East Texas Pulp And Paper Co.

New York—June 6—Ime Inc. completed today the pdrchase of Houston Oil Co. investment in the East Texas Pulp and Paper Company. Through the latter company, Time Inc. also purchased 100 pct of the stock of the Southwestern Settlement - Development Corporation, previously a timber-holding subsidiary of Houston Oil.

The aggregate purchase price was approximately $35,000,000.

The Pulp and Paper Company, located at Evadale, Texas, 20 miles from Beaumont, was previously jointly controlled by the Houston Oil and Time Inc. It now becomes wholly owned by the pdblishing company. The properties of Southwestern Settlement and Development Cooporation, consisting of approlimately 660,000 acres of nearby timberlands and other assets, are to be liquidated into the East Texas Pulp and Paper Co., and will be operated as a division of the Pulp and Paper Company.

Charles L. Stillman, executive vice president and treasurer of Time Inc., said that while the East Texas Pulp and Paper Co. will be wholly owned subsidiary of Time Inc., no change in operating policy is contemplated. The pulp and paper mill will continue to be operated on its present basis and will maintain its present work force and manage_ment headed by Executive Vice President and General Manager R. M. Buckley.

Ben Ramsey States Campaign Program

San Adgustine—Soil and Water conservation and greater protection for Texas families — through good services and stability in government are the major issues on which Lt. Gov. Ben Ramsey will campaign for re-election this summer.

Ramsey, who is touring the state preparatory to officially opening his campaign, said, — "Soil is the storehouse of agriculture and industry. Water is the key to both.

"People throughout Texas have made great strides in soil and water saving practices in the past 10 years." He added, 'The state must give full assistance to equitable plans for conservation at the local level if we are to maintain a sound economy and reach odr true potential."

On plans for protection of our Texas families, Ramsey said the government must effect rigid rules of conduct and exacting of controls over blind forces of influence. Ramsey cited the need for (1) Strict curbs on lobbying; (2) stiff narcotic penalties, with life imprisonment or the death penalty for the second conviction on charge of selling to mihors; (3) eliminating loan sharks; and (4) an unceasing watch to assure families their insurance policies are sound.

Ramsey, who spearheaded the move to rid the insurance industry of "parasites" and eliminate fradulent investment, said the results have been tremendods.

You May Poison The One Friend You Have

Constable Dan Fenley had a word of caution today for the persons or persons who have been throwing ppison to dogs during the past several weeks.

Fenely said that two dogs belonging to A. D. Dean were poisoned over the weekend. Mr. Dean was very angry, of course, since the dogs were only pets.

Mr. Fenley pointed out that this dog poison could prove dangerous to children, thereby contributing a much more serious crime to the poisoner than just that of killing a dog.

In the course of time, dog poisoners have lost many friends—for the dog, whether thoroughbred or mongrel, has always been cinsidered 'man's best friend.'

Your Home

By Frances Ainsworth

Last week Tom Jones, our appliance dealer, phoned me and asked: "How would you like to see a new vacuum cleaner that reduces cleaning effort up to 67%?" Well, I hurried right down to his store to "preview" a new 1956 electric cleaner that beats anything yet for cleaning ease!

Secrets of the new cleaner called the "Constellation" include an "Air-borne" feature and other innovations that set it apart from the 1955 model of the same name. You see, when the cleaner is being operated, exhaust air is forced straight down into a space enclosed by the shallow, circular flange-like base. This "compressed" air tends actually to lift the cleaner from carpet or floor for effortless operation! If the "airborne" action is not desired, it can be disconnected and reconnected in seconds.

A new wheeled combined rug and floor nozzle also makes the new vacuum easier to use, eliminating the need of changing tools when moving from carpet to bare floor. Exclusive design of the new nozzle incorporates a floating brush and a row of flexible plastic "fingers," both of which help to remove stubborn litter without going over the same area many times. A soft plastic covering over the entire surface of the nozzle guards against accidental marring of walls and furniture.

You'll like the attractive mulberry, sandalwood and thistle color scheme of this new vacuum cleaner and the fact that it's made by The Hoover Company, a name that stands for top quality. Then, too all the features we liked so well in the original constellation have been retained: the full one-horse-power motor, telescoping wand feature, "throw-away" dirt bags, to mention a few.

I'm sure you'll be as excited about this new work-saver as I am!
