Texans To Vote On Both Men And Issues In July Election

Austin—Next month for the first time in 24 years, Texans will be asked to vote—not only on men—but directly on issues.

State Democratic Executive Committee members have approved the placing of three questions on the primary ballot. Voters can express their desires for or against.

1. Legislation exempting a student from compdlsory attendance at integrated schools.

2 Legislation "perfecting" law against intermarriage of Negroe and whites.

3. Use of interposition to halt federal encroachment on states rights.

Majority approval presumably would constitute a mandate for action by the next legislature.

Historically, such voter referendums seldom have been used. And not too successfully. Present procedures, still substantially unchanged, were set up with the passage of the Terrell Election Laws in 1907.

In the nearly 50 years since then, referenddms were held at three times. And failed to pass twice. In 1908 a prohibition proposal was voted down more than two to one. In 1919 the people rejected to a proposal to call a constitutional convention.

But, in 1932 Texans voted overwhelmingly in favor of repealing the federal prohibition amendment.

WHAT'S NEW — Doctors in hospitals can now be paged silently —to the vast benefit of patients — instead of over a raucous public address system. Industry has developed a tiny pocket clipped personal loud speaker—wireless paging system based on "transistorized" radio receivers.

J. O. Stubblefield, candidate for county commissioner of Pct. One, has an interesting message for all on the back of his campaign cards. The good advice is, to wit:

Drive Safely
Cars Can't Think
Children Don't Think
We MUST Think
Good advice indeed from a good candidate.

While talking baseball the other day with Ralph Magill and E. P. Ramsey, our friend Vic Roper entered the conversation.

"Well, Vic", I asked, "do you think Mickey Mantle will hit sixty homers this year?"

After pondering the question a few seconds the wily Victor quipped: "He'll sure have to slow down a lot if he doesn't, won't he."

Showing of the first bedroom suites from the Angelina Furniture Manufacturing Co, Subsidiary of Temple Associates Box Factory, has stirred up much favorable comment as to the horizons of the furniture business here.

Village Furniture Co. manager Bob Scoggins calls the Desert Sand model 'one of the best in competitive furniture lines I have ever seen' — and Bob has been in the business just about all his life.

With sales representatives and retail outlets located all over Texas, Louisiana, and Arkansas, Diboll adds another formidible manufacturing firm to its already impressive list.

Another minor wreck occurred at the intersection of Hwy. 59 and Loop 210 last Friday. That's two this month and several wrecks have occurred at the same location in past months

Stop signs on both sides of Hwy. 59 at the intersection must be observed in the futdre or the minor wrecks might develop into major traffic tragedies.

Persons driving along Hwy. 59, especially during the weekend, sometimes think they should drive four abreast on the two mile stretch from Porter's Humble Station to the Pinedale Addition.

Dibollians would do well to keep a wary eye on thru motorists not aware of the non-existent, yet practical, rule that — they should drive only in the middle lanes.

"...PAUSE FOR SPECIAL ANNOUNCEMENT!"

The one big way to do it is to begin informing ourselves on the campaign issues — and then firmly to resolve that when Election day comes, we will vote.

Fewer than 44,450,000 independent and free Americans bothered to vote in the Congressional elections of 1954—less than 52% of those eligible. That is a sad, almost disgraceful commentary on whatever noble thoughts we entertained on the Fourth of July.

An Early Reminder

If we have reflected even for a moment on the deep significance of Independence Day, it is none too early now to begin reflecting on how each of us can, come November 6, do his part to assert that independence, acknowledge our freedom.

First Bedroom Suite From Angelina Furniture Company Sold To Local Firm

"TO GIVE YOU STRENGTH"—Will Wilson, Jr., son of the candidate for Attorney General of Texas is shown here as he presents dad with a father's day gift of an onion . . . "to give you strength in your campaign." The humor of the boys idea seems to impressed the grateful father, who is traveling the length and breadth of Texas in a diligent effort to meet as many voters as possible before the July 28 primary election. The former member of the Supreme Court, a vigorous campaigner, said "I'm grateful for the gift, son. I'll need all the strength I can muster."

The very first bedroom suite to roll off the assembly line at the Angelina Furniture Manufacturing Co. was delivered to the local Village Furniture Co. store in Diboll, according to Horace Stubblefield, vice-president and general manager of the new firm. Angelina Furniture is a subsidiary of Temple Associates' Box Factory.

Initial operation of the plant was begun June 4, 1956, with locations in the Box Factory building. Both plants are located adjacent to Southern Pine Treating Division in the north end of Diboll.

Stubblefield said the new factory would probably reach its peak production in mid July. "At this time an averave of twenty employees will produce twenty of our quality bedroom suites a day," he said.

The Diboll factory will sell only to bonafide retail outlets.—Three manufacturing agencies—will cover the Texas-Louisiana, region.

Mr. Vic Dupre will cover East Texas and Louisiana; Denny Poth will sell in South Texas, and Doyle Lemonds will display the new furniture line in North Texas.

WILL BE AT DALLAS SHOW

Thomas Lester, production superintendent for the factory, — said that Angelina Furniture will display their models of Desert Sand and Platinum Mist bedroom suites at the Dallas Furniture Show July 16-19. Lester added that overall design of the single furniture line would probably be changed every six to eight months.

'SHOULD BE GOOD'

Mr. Stubblefield pointed out that Temple Associates will manufacture the bedroom suites and sell them under the name of Andegina Furniture Mfg. Co.

All dimension stock used in manufacture of the suites will be obtained from the Special Wood Products Division of Southern Pine Lumber Co. That division is located at Pineland.

"We have the best paint and assembly equipment that money can buy," Stubblefield said.—"We believe this equipment, plus expert supervision will enable us to market a suite that is equal to the best produced anywhere.

'MOTHER' PLANT AT WORK

At present, Angelina Furniture's 'Mother' plant, Temple Associates Box Factory, is engaged in filling orders on two ammunition box contracts, one crate contract to furnish parts for beverage cases. Another to manufacture transmission parts for Bowen-McLaughlin of Hodston may also be forthcoming.

George Tull is foreman of the main factory, which employs 50 men and women.

NEW EMPLOYEES

Mrs. Doyne Rich will be the bookeeper for Angelina Furniture Mfg. Co. and Bob Holt now with the Retail Yard, will transfer to the new factory as assistant to the manager.

PERMANENT BUSINESS

Mr. Stubblefield told The News-Bulletin: "We (Temple Associates) have been in the ammunition box business for five years. That is more or less a wartime job and we have been looking for a more permanent product to carry us through the lean years. We now think the furniture business is an ideal line for us to carry and we have great hopes for building it to a permanent, profitable business for Diboll."

The new furniture lines are on display and sale at Village Furniture Co. in Diboll.

Cub-Dodger Dispute Declared Settled

Announcement was made early this week that the disputed game between the Cubs and Dodgers in the Little League has been settled. Team managers agree that the protest filed by Cub manager Alf Tidwell would be observed later in the season, if the tilt becomes decisive in the outcome of final standings.

In tonight's games, the Yankee Cub game will get underway at 6:15 as Tommie Fenley of the Yanks looks for his 21st victory without a loss. He has compiled the amazing record in two and one-half seasons of LL play.

The Indians face the Dodgers in the nightcap.

All clubs are 'hurting' each week since several players usually miss a few games while on vacation.

Tonight's game marks the ½ way point in league play.

League president Calvin Lawrence said Monday that managers would probably meet sometime this week to decide when four make-up games in each league would be played.

Pine Bough Operator Retires; Carthage Man Will Take Over

Jess Barker, who assumed his duties as chef-operator of The Pine Bough restaurant here only a month ago, has announced his retirement from the restaurant business due to ill health.

According to another report, unconfirmed at least for the present, Mr. Julius Bird has been signed as operator of the ultra-modern resturant which had its preview opening Sunday, June 17.

Mr. Bird comes to Diboll from Carthage, Texas. He has sold his interests in a restaurant business there and is reportedly eager to explore the 'excellent potential' that Diboll offers a good restauranteur. Before establishing his residence in Carthage, Mr. Bird was connected with a well-known petroleum company.

Unofficial reports indicated the change would become effective July 1, 1956.

From the days of the frugal New Englanders, who looked upon ostentation and luxury with disapproval, we Americans always have saved part of our money.

But not as a European peasant, for instance, typically saves his money—in a hole dug under the floor, or sewed into a mattress. We have "plowed back" our savings, invested in wealth-producing enterprise — made them work for us. We have tdrned our seedcorn into grain.

State Fair To Show 'The Boy Friend'

Dallas — State Fair Musicals audiences are echoing the raves from London and Broadway that "The Boy Friend" is the happiest, freshest and gayest musical in years. InLondon it has been running for three years. It kept Broadway laughing for two years. At the State Fair Musicals it will be seen nightly and at Sunday matinees through the 8th of July.

The company now playing at the Musicals is the same all British company that scored the Broadway success. It stars John Hewer, Jo Ann Bayless, Ruth Altman, Eric Berry, Geoffery Hobbert, Ann Wakefield and Millicent Martin.

"The Boy Friend" was written, music, lyrics and book, by a young Englishman, Sandy Wilson. It is a satire on the mad roaring '20's complete with the flappers, millionaires and a — French Riviera setting.

The score for the production is so authentic of the 20s that the audiences stay for a "jam session" after the final curtain.

Holcombs To Have 60th Annual Meet

For many years members of the Holcomb family have come together annually for a reunion which has become well known in this southern area of the United States. They travel from all parts of Texas, from Arizona, California, Oklahoma, Louisiana and Washington, D. C. just to be present on the one occasion each year when cousins, aunts and uncles can be visited all in one group. The organization makkes every effort to maintain records of attendance, record of all new family members and it pays tribute to those who have passed on during the past year.

As older members pass away, the younger ones appreciate the stories more and more of past reunions — of activities of the fathers and grandfathers, the fun of those days as compapred to the present. Remembered too are the empty places left by the loved ones. All these memories draw them closer together in a spirit. Such a family history and its changes follows in a way the pattern of a national history. From this comes the realilzation that family life and the unity of groups such as this do much to preserve American ideals. This family is to be congratulated for establishing their custom and maintaining it for so many years.

An attendance of over 300 is usually present, and many more are expected this year to celebrate the 60th anniversary of the group. They will meet at Cold Springs, west of Alto, on Tuesday, July 10., and remain for the main program and J. C. Holcomb of Alto serves as president and is plannning the festivities for this occasion.

The dreaded pink bollworm is moving into new fields in central and east Texas. When the cotton plants first start blooming, fields should be checked between 9:00 A.M. and Noon, daily, for about ten days for rosetted blooms. Rosetted cotton blooms indicate the presence of pink bollworm. The worm can be found by tearing open a rosetted bloom. Farmers should be on the lookout for pink bollworms, and are urged to contact their County Agent for control recommendations.

a Dog's Life

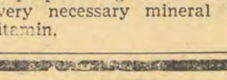

PUPS CAN LEARN TO OBEY

By Bob Bartos
Manager, Friskies Research Kennels

It is as easy and as much fun to teach your dog simple obedience as to teach him parlor tricks. And the reward will be all yours; for not only will the dog be easier to live with, but the day may come when your command and his prompt obedience might save his life.

You will need patience and persistence. Be sure the dog understands what you want him to do. Remember never to vary your commands or lose your temper. Keep the lessons short and praise the dog often.

Dog of the Week: BOSTON TERRIER

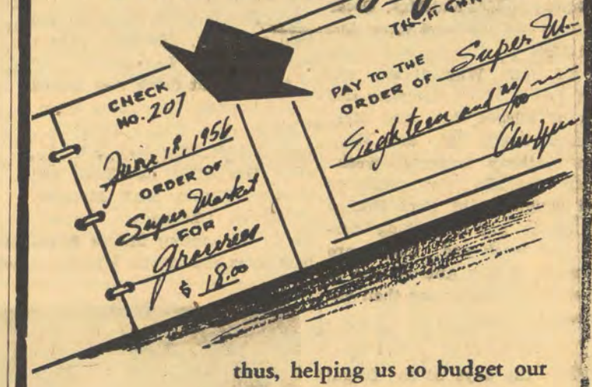

Non-sporting dog. Weight by classes: Lightweight, under 15 pounds. Middleweight, 15-20 pounds. Heavyweight, 20-25 pounds. Coat: short, smooth, finely textured. Color: brindle with white markings preferred.

The first lesson, to "Come on call," can be taught even to the six to eight weeks' old puppy. When feeding time comes, hold the plate of food down so the puppy can see and smell it. Keep repeating a trilling whistle as you entice him to you and the food. Each time you feed him repeat the whistle. The puppy will quickly associate the sound of the whistle with something pleasant, and soon will answer automatically.

All obedience lessons are made easier by leash-training the dog. First get him used to a collar or slip chain. When he has worn it for some time, tie a length of twine or light rope to it and let the puppy drag it about. When he has become familiar with it, pick up the end and follow him about. Stand a short distance from him and call him to you; use short quick jerks on the rope or leash. Do not pull or drag. Gradually coax him to follow you. Repeat the lesson often and the puppy will soon be walking with you.

Lessons in obedience should be given in surroundings free from any outside distractions. All lessons should be short and brisk, but repeated often.

Feeding Tips: Don't give your dog rich, starchy foods. Good all-purpose dog foods contain every necessary mineral and vitamin.

thus, helping us to budget our spending, and save regularly. We pay by check. It's safe, convenient, and economical.

In addition, he has gained a nationwide reputation with the efficient and impartial manner in which he has operated his department.

Independence Day To Be At State Fair

A big Independence Day celebration will be held Tuesday and Wednesday nights, July 3 and 4 in the Cotton Bowl at Dallas — complete with Dixieland music, circus acts and fireworks.

Music will be provided by the nationally famous "Cell Block Seven," the sensationally popular Dixieland jazz combo whose trademark is the striped prison attire in which they appear.

Entertainnment will be furnished by two of the most outstanding acts in the world of circusdom.

One of them will be the Triska Troupe, a daring family of high wire artists from Czechoslovokia. Their sensational stunts are all performed on a taunt cable stretched high above the ground.

Comedy will come from Slivers Johnson, one of the most famous and funniest clowns in the country. He works with a midget automobile that automatically does his bidding, obeying commands to start forward or back or turn, even from a distance.

In the lifetime of your home . . .
The most economical lumber you can use
Is The Best That Money Can Buy . . .

REVIVAL—In many parts of the United States, architects are reviving the old colonial and plantation styles of home building. Here is a good example. Columns, tall chimney and white painted Southern Pine walls afford the nostalgic touch, while the use of properly graded seasoned lumber in the framework assures durability comparable to that of the originals, many of which are two centuries old and older.

Tigers Down Giants 9-8 In Pony League

The Tigers dereated the Giants 9-8, and the Athletics took the measure of the tough Cardinals, 17-9, in Pony League last Thursday night.

Ramsey, Pate, Ivey and Durdam paced the Giants at bat,—while Ellison and Parker struck singles for the Tigers.

For the Athletics, Breazeale, Lawrence, Fenley, H. Goins, and Chandler and Clark were the big guns at the plate. Squyers and Burnette collected two hits each for the Cards.

In tonights games, the Cards engage the Giants at 6:15 and the Tiger-Athletic game will follow.

New Electronic Achievements

Automation and printed circuits are credited with making possible the two newest developments in the electronics field—a lightweight personal TV receiver and a sun-powered tubeless radio. The new personal TV (top left) weighs only 16½ pounds and provides a 10.375-inch picture. Since the cabinet back is completely finished, the set can be placed on a desk or similarly positioned with the back in full view in a bedroom or living room, in a college dormitory, hotel or hospital.

Ross D. Siragusa, president of Admiral corporation, estimates that from 1,500,000 to 2,000,000 of these portable sets will be made by the industry during 1956.

Sunglasses might well be standard equipment with the second development: the world's first radio powered by the sun. A 32-cell Sun Power Pak is available to harness sunshine for operating the company's transistor radio. The small accessory plugs into the back of the set and converts the sun's rays instantaneously into electrical energy.

Since it contains no moving parts and nothing to burn out, the solar radio will last virtually a lifetime. Without the solar battery, the radio can run on six conventional flashlight cells. Culminating over 18 months' research, the solar radio marks a milestone in electronics by being the world's first consumer product designed for operation by that inexhaustible resource — sunshine.

How To Get

More Milk Per Cow This Summer

While milk production per cow is moving gradually upward, the potential is far from being achieved, according to the Union Bag & Paper Corporation which provides multiwall bags for animal feed.

Cows produce according to their inherited ability, their stage of lactation and the amount and kind of feed they eat. All being equal, the more a cow eats, the more profit she returns over feed costs.

Many cows are underfed during Summer months because farmers put too much faith in pasture feeding. Milk production drops off in July and August simply because cows on pasture are hungry.

Early in the Summer when grass is abundant, a cow eats enough to take the place of a full feed of hay and silage. But by mid-summer, sufficient nutrition is difficult to get.

Milk can be produced most economically from a ration based on good roughage supplemented with enough grain and protein to meet minimum nutritive requirements. Through proper supplementation in feeding, the Summer slump in milk production can be avoided by increasing the feeding of concentrates to offset the deficiency of the grass.

The U.S.D.A. has been keeping records since 1931 on the rations fed milk cows. During the first five years 15% of all concentrates fed were manufactured feeds. During the last 5 years the average jumped to 26%. The increase in improved feeding closely parallels the increase in average milk production per cow. Last year this reached an all-time high of over 5200 pounds!

Dairymen at Ohio State University say that if all cows were as well fed as those in D.H.I.A., consumption of roughages would be increased 50%, nutrient intake would be doubled and the use of concentrates would be increased up to 20%. Such feeding practices would provide better dairy cow nutrition and lower the cost of milk production.

25 Attend The Warner Reunion

Approximately 25 people from the Burke-Diboll area were present at the big Warner Reunion held Sunday, June 24, at Ryans Chapel. The reunion attacted some 200 descendents of Wettenhall Warner, who came to this country from Ireland in 1790.

O. P. Spivey of Houston was retained as president of the reunion which he originated in 1955. Attending descendents of the first Warner voted Sunday to hold the third annual reunion at the same time next year.

The location will again be at Ryan's Chapel.

Descendents travelled from as far as Rhode Island, Florida and Louisiana to take part in greeting old friends, electing committies, and eating 'dinner on the ground.'

Carnations Have Original Beauty

The carnation starts from seedlings or cuttlings, they are then put into pots. The maturing of the blossoms are completed in the air-conditioned greenhouses. A mild, high atmosphere is best for raising carnations. For this reason Denver, Colorado, is the carnation capital of the United States, although many good grades of Carnations are flown from Denver by Slick Airways to Houston. There the flowers are distributed to all the trad eareas by refrigerated trucks, where they are made into designs.

Carnations are versatile and popular in the use of corsages, arrangements, and the more expensive funeral designs. Whole blossoms may be used in this type design work, or unusual effects may be created by (feathering) the carnations. The spicy aroma of the carnation distinguishes them from all other flowers. The variety of colors add interest to any design. They are arranged and given to the customer, who can be sdre of the highest quality flowers.

Tips on Touring

By Carol Lane
Women's Travel Authority

Do you know what to do to keep your car from boiling over if you get stuck in a traffic jam?

Here are some tips:

Every couple of minutes, race the engine moderately for about thirty seconds. Do not let the motor idle indefinitely at its lowest speed. Do not turn off the ignition even if the delay seems interminable. By racing your engine, you speed up the fan and increase the water circulation in the cooling system and radiator.

If you have automatic transmission, put it in neutral when you've stopped. Do not leave it in "drive" position.

Before a long drive in hot weather, have your service station dealer check to be sure the radiator is clean and that the fan belt is tight—doesn't slip.

If—even after these precautions — the radiator does boil over, here's what you should do:

Pull off to the side of the road; if possible, get off the road completely. Try to get the car in shade.

Open the hood and wait for the temperature to go down. Then, using a rag or handkerchief, carefully take off the radiator cap. If you have a pressure cap, remove it at arm's length, with head averted.

Add warm or moderately cool water—not cold water. If you are forced to use very cold water, do not add it until the gauge shows the temperature is all the way down to normal.

The best tip — pre-travel car care is your best insurance for pleasant summer driving.
