Several stories surround X-mas tree beginning

Christmas trees are one of the oldest and most widespread customs of Christmas.

How did this custom of the Christmas tree become such a part of our American Christmas celebration? How did the practice of lighting and decorating the tree come about?

According to Ernie Smith, District Forester with the Texas Forest Service, there are several stories surrounding the beginning of the Christmas tree as we know it. One says that, in the eighth century, St. Boniface persuaded the Teutons to give up their practice of child sacrifice during their midwinter celebration.

"Cut down a big fir tree, take it home and celebrate around it with your children", he told them.

"The fir is the wood of peace, from which your houses are built. It is a sign of immortality, because its needles are evergreen and its branches point straight to the heavens."

Some early groups of people believed that certain colors of green would frighten away evil spirits and was a sign in midwinter that the sun would return in the spring.

Our custom of lighted Christmas trees has two common origins. One, the Legend of the Pine Tree, is centered around Christ's birth. According to this legend, not only did the wise men offer gifts to the Christ child; birds, beasts and plants each offered something. All except the pine tree. It had nothing to give but its sharp needles that would only prick the baby and therefore was unsuitable.

The legend goes on to say that God saw how disap-

Insulating tips

Insulation keeps cold out, energy costs down

COLLEGE STATION--With energy costs high and another frigid winter expected, many consumers are insulating or reinsulating their homes, points out Dr. Bill Stewart, Agricultural Engineer with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

He provides some information to assist consumers in purchasing an insulation product or enlisting a contractor's services.

Available in a variety of forms, home insulation can be purchased in blankets, in batts, in a form which is bagged and ready to pour, and in a form which must be blown in place by a contractor using specially designed equipment.

Three basic types of products are most commonly used, according to Stewart, all having high insulating value if properly manufactured and installed:

--Mineral wool, which includes rock wool and fibrous glass. Both of these products can be poured or blown in place or purchased in blankets or batts with a foil or paper vapor. barrier.

--Plastic foam-resin, which is made of polystrene, polyurethane or urea formaldehyde can be purchased in preformed sheets or foamed in place by a contractor. Foam insulation can vary considerably in its final properties depending on the operator's skill, how various reactants are mixed, and the time allowed for "curing."

--Cellulosic insulation, made of any ground cellulose product such as recycled newspaper, can be poured or blown in place.

An important performance characteristic to evaluate is flammability. Acceptable flammability standards for insulation, established through the American Society of Testing and Materials (ASTM), include flame spread, fuel contribution and smoke development rates. An acceptable product may still be flammable and should not be installed adjacent to high temperature surfaces such as recessed light fixtures or furnaces.

Materials which are flammable should be installed within a flame retardant enclosure such as gypsum board or metal. The plastic foams and cellulosic products present the greatest fire hazard and are available with fire retardant treatments. Area formaldehyde foams are less flammable than other foamed products but may present some odor problems unless properly formulated and applied.

Stewart points out that findings by the Federal Trade Commission show that deception of consumers is most likely to occur in flammability claims, either by misrepresentation or by no reference to its unacceptable flammability, and thermal resistance claims, either through generalizations without providing "R" values or exaggerations of the "R" values.

An "R" value is a number indicating how much resistance insulation presents to heat flowing through it, explains the engineer. Generally, the higher the "R" value, the more effective the insulation. Consumers should pay only for a higher "R" value.

The current generally accepted maximum-de-sigh-standard "R" value per inch of thickness of insulation for the most commonly used insulating materials are mineral wool batts and blankets, 3.7; cellulose loose fill, 3.2 - 3.5; urea formaldehyde, 4.0; polystyrene (expanded), 4.2; and polyurethane, 6.25. Any claim of an "R" value above the maximum design should be highly suspect. To determine the "R" value of a material that has a thickness other than 1 inch, multiply the thickness (in inches) by the "R" value per inch.

To guard against careless or incompetent installation, which could result in a major reduction in "R" value, choose a reputable contractor. Stewart outlines these tips for selecting an insulation contractor:

--To find a contractor, ask your gas or electric utility company representative or your local builders, consult friends and neighbors, or look in the Yellow Pages under "'Insulation Contractors."

--Obtain cost estimates from at least three different contractors when available. Make sure you describe the job identically to each.

--Check a contractor's reliability with the local Better Business Bureau listed in the phone book, or with the state or local consumer affairs office.

--Ask a contractor for references including pointed the little tree was, and told some of the stars to go down and rest on its branches. When they did, the little tree was covered with a great radiance. When the Christ child saw it, he stretched out his arms toward it in happiness. From that time on pine trees have been lighted at Christmas time.

Another story comes from Martin Luther. He is considered the first to have put candles on the Christmas tree.

According to the story, while walking home one night, he felt a strong tie between the lovely forest he was in, the starry heavens above and his love for God. He cut down a small, snow-laden fir tree and took it home. There, he placed candles on it to show his children how beautiful the stars looked through the big branches of the fir forests as they winked in the sky.

He set up the fir tree in his home as a symbol of the strength and peace that comes to man through Christ. The lighted candles he placed in the boughs represented the lightwhich shone on the night Christ was born.

Our customs of decorating a tree originated in Germany. It was introduced to England by Prince Albert, Queen Victoria's German husband. It was also German immigrants who brought the custom to America.

Living Christmas trees add life to holidays

If you are tired of fighting the Christmas tree shopping crowd or bored with an artificial tree, try a living Christmas tree this year.

The main point to remember in the selection of a living tree is to choose a tree which will be suited for growing in your area after the holidays are over.

For the South Texas area the Aleppo pine, Podocarpus and versatile Norfolk Island pine are well suited to the variety of climatic conditions.

The Arizona cypress, Deodar cedar, Japanese black pine and female .Yaupon holly make attractive additions to Central Texas landscapes after Christmas after serving as eye-catching Yuletide decorations.

For the northern Texas counties, the hardy Scotch pine and the Norway pine do well. The Colorado blue spruce and a variety of junipers also make interesting living Christmas trees.

After you have chosen your tree, some basic helpful hints will keep it thriving through the holidays and will prepare it for planting later.

To keep your tree fresh, water twice weekly and use pine bark, peat moss or a similar media to retain the moisture around the root ball.

A living tree should not remain in the house for more than two weeks. Placing the tree in a cool location of about 65 degrees F. will keep it fresh and reduce the shock of relocation after the holidays.

Placing the root ball in a leakproof container or wrapping the ball in a polyethylene film such as a large trash bag. Such a bag can also be placed under the tree's tub or box to prevent moisture damage to the floor.

Provide as much natural light as possible for your living Christmas tree. Lights on a live tree should be limited to small, delicate twinkle lights to prevent burn damage to the leaves and bark.

With a little care and imagination a living Christmas tree will provide pleasure and beauty for years to come.

Gourmet Corner

by Audrey Davenport

Holidays are times for sharing, and one of the most memorable ways of sharing is to invite family and friends to join you at the dinner table. Fine food in pleasant company is the best way to make times memorable during any holiday season!

You'll find suggestions for all the holiday eating that will thrill your dearest guests and pamper your loved ones - from your favorite cook books - and especially from recipes that have been handed down through generations - and to some of you they will be so delightfully tempting that you're likely to find yourself entertaining even though you hadn't planned to, but isn't that what holidays are for? How about a Delicious White Fruitcake

1 lb. fruit mix
1 cup white raisins
1 cup dates
3 cups mixed nuts (or pecans)
1 cup butter
5 eggs
1/2 cup orange juice (or milk)
1/4 cup light corn syrup
1 1/2 cups sugar
2 1/4 cups cake flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon baking powder
1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
1/4 teaspoon allspice
1 teaspoon vanilla

Combine fruits and nuts - beat butter with eggs, orange juice, syrup, and sugar until creamy - gradually blend in combined dry ingredients - fold in fruit mixture - add vanilla. Pour into tube pan lined with waxed paper. Bake at 250 degrees for 3 hours - (yield one 5 lb. cake) This cake is even tastier if wrapped in cheesecloth soaked in apricot or peach flavored brandy - and stored in a tightly covered container...hmm! Fantastic!

Christmas Cherry Fudge

Festive bright pink candy - include a few pieces in holiday gifts.

1 (3 oz.) pkg. cherry flavor gelatin
3 1/2 cups sugar
1/4 teaspoon baking soda
1 1/2 cup milk
1/4 cup butter (1/2 stick)
1/2 cup chopped candied cherries
1/2 cup chopped walnuts

Mix gelatin, sugar, baking soda and milk in a 3 qt. heavy saucepan. Cook and stir over medium heat until sugar is disolved - continue cooking without stirring to the soft ball stage (236 degrees). Remove from heat - add butter and pour into a large buttered platter - cool without stirring until mixture is likewarm - then beat until mixture loses its gloss - quickly stir in cherries and nuts. Turn at once into a buttered 8" square pan - when firm cut in 2x1 rectangles - makes 28 pieces or 2 1/4 lbs.

Ladies' Auxilliary of American Legion meet

The Ladies Auxilliary of the American Legion met at the Hotel Angelina Thursday, Dec. 8, for their annual Christmas party and buffet luncheon. Member Ethel Walker told a story; "The Empty Stocking" by Bessie Shearer.

Lila Carter and Lena Cooney acted as Santa Clauses and distributed gifts to the other members.

Attending the party-luncheon was Lois Tompkins, Lena Cooney, Patsy Kolinsky, Lila Carter, Jewel Lewis, Annie Root, Thelma Nixon, Luvenia Nixon, Carrie Lee Johnson, Mary Henderson, Ruby Sullivan, Audrey Lowry, Mabel Lowry, Esther Lowry, Gladys Caldwell, Nola Connor, Clara Seago and two guests, Cindy Oates and Pam Lovett.

Insulation from B-4

previous customers. Check them out.

--Check with local building-code authorities for guidance in purchasing an insulating material.

--Talk with a contractor in terms of "R" value. If a contractor won't deal with you in "R" value language, don't deal with him.

--Bags of loose fill insulation should be marked with "R" values and figures indicating the area the contents will cover the achieve the desired "R" value.

--After selecting a contractor, have a specific contract drawn up for the job.

--Any warranty for the insulation should be in writing and part of the contract.

If you plan to do your own insulation work, Stewart suggests the following safety precautions:

--Wear protective clothing, preferably long sleeves, long trousers, gloves, a hard hat to protect your head, and a disposable respirator marked for "dust" to avoid breathing small fibers.

--Don't place insulation near recessed electrical light fixtures, a furnace or similar heat-producing device.

--Don't place insulation over attic vents.

--To avoid locking in moisture and causing wall or ceiling rot, install insulation with any vapor barrier placed toward the living space.

--If adding new insulation over old, either purchase a product that has no vapor barrier, or slash the barrier at frequent intervals to allow moisture to escape.

--Remember, insulation is not intended as a fire wall. Added flame-retardants are intended to retard the burning of the product itself, not of an entire dwelling.

If you suspect deception or fraud or are having a problem with non-fulfillment of a contract or failure by the seller to honor a warranty, contact the Federal Trade Commission regional office nearest you, adds Stewart.

OPPORTUNITY KNOCKS....NOW!

From all indications, 1977 will break all records in single home construction and existing (resale) home sales. Current statistics point to a record 3.4 million existing home sales for 1977 topping the old record (1972) of 3 million. New housing starts will reach the 1.4 million mark, passing 1972's record of 1.3 million starts. However, there is still not an abundance of properties available as demand continues to more than keep up with supply.

One of the major reasons for the tremendous growth in the housing market has been the availablility of mortgage money at a favorable interest rate. Although loan money is still available, indications are very clear that interest rates will be easing upward during the next six months. It also appears that shortag/s in raw materials (especially insulation) and a shorter supply of skilled workers could drive home prices up.

Real estate has always been a sound investment and the very best hedge against inflation. With all of the economic cards falling into place at this time, if there was ever a good time to buy - that time is NOW!

If there is anything we can do to help you in the field of real estate, please phone or drop in at LUFKIN REALTY, 1001 Lee, Lufkin. Phone: 639-2227. We're here to help.

Pre-holiday price drops to greet holiday shoppers

COLLEGE STATION--Pre-holiday price drops on beef steaks, some vegetables and eggs will greet shoppers at Texas grocery markets this week, Mrs. Gwendolyne Clyatt, Consumer Marketing Information Specialist, reports.

Also, citrus supplies are larger with lower prices, and fryer chickens have attractive prices, she says.

Mrs. Clyatt is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

BEEF--Some markets are featuring a variety of beef steaks--wise buys possibly for those who have freezer space to hold "extras". Other good values include chuck roasts and steaks, round and rib steaks, ground beef and liver.

PORK--Spotlight items are chops and shoulder roasts. Other values are shoulder steaks, semi-boneless hams, smoked picnics, frankfurters, bacon and roll sausage.

FRESH FRUITS--Grapefruit is plentiful with economical prices. When comparing prices between five-pound bags and individual grapefruit, remember that a medium-size grapefruit weights about one pound. Other economy buys include oranges, tangerines, apples, bananas and pears.

FRESH VEGETABLES--Below-normal prices appear on potatoes and onions. Head lettuce is slightly lower, but carrot prices are a bit higher.

Other low-priced vegetables are hard-shell squash, cabbage, rutabagas, and turnips. Good values include broccoli, celery, bell peppers and sweet potatoes. Brussels sprouts and cauliflower are relatively high priced, but they offer excelient menu variety.

HOLIDAY WATCHWORDS: Last-minute shoppers might combine Christmas giving with Christmas feasting--in gifts of meat.

Start your retirement fund with a refund from the IRS.

Lufkin Federal has a retirement plan that saves money, earns interest and begins with a tax break up to $1500. Sound interesting? It's called the IRA (Individual Retirement Account) and Your Money Management Association has one for you.

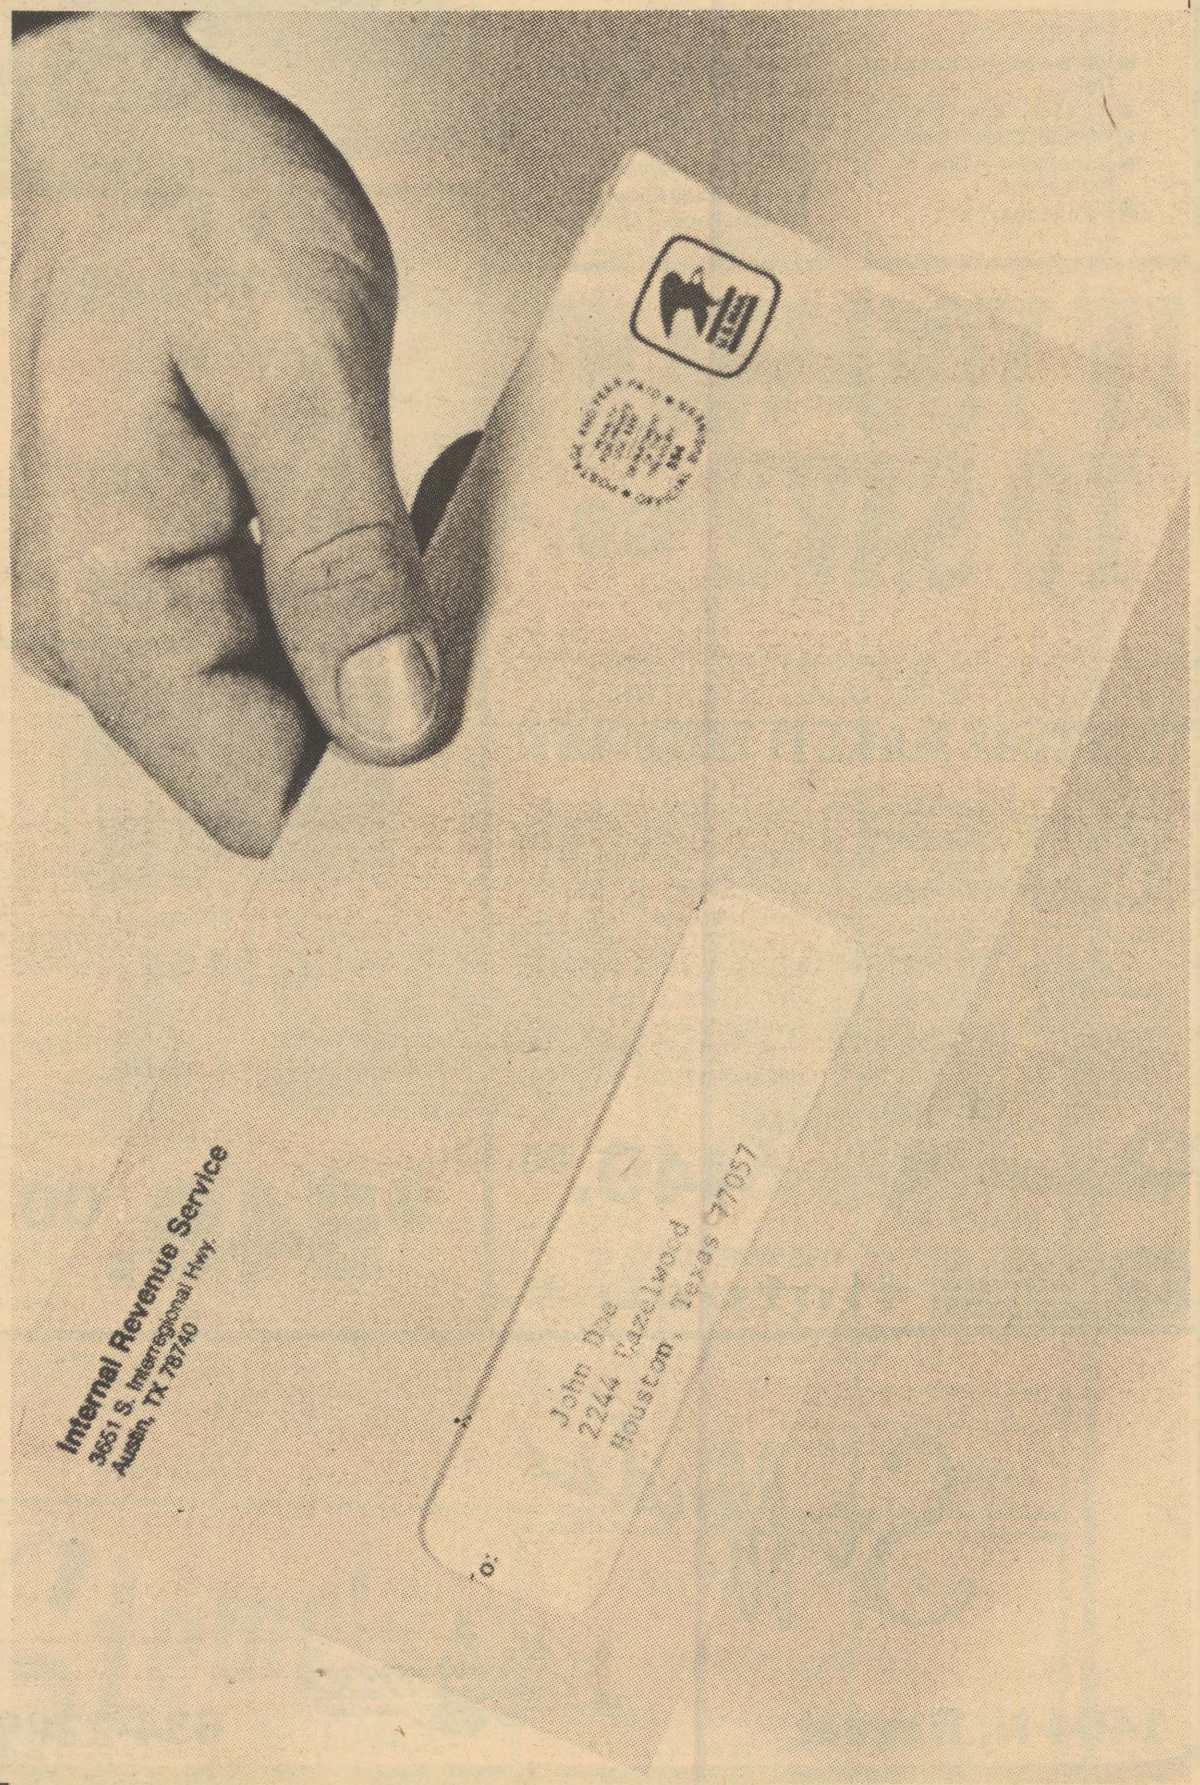

IRA allows people not covered by a qualified pension or profit-sharing program to set aside a portion of their income with taxes deferred until withdrawn after retirement.

You can deposit 15% of your yearly income (up to $1500) and claim your contribution as a deduction when income taxes are due. You pay no taxes on the funds, or the interest they earn, until you begin withdrawing them after you retire. By that time, you probably will be in a lower tax bracket.

Under this plan, for example, $1500 a year will grow to $72,270.40 after 20 years of compounded interest from Lufkin Federal.*

If you would like to live on more than social security when you retire, see Your Money Management Association for more details on IRA.

*Based on 7½% interest for four-year certificates of deposit renewed upon maturity.
