Hubenak seeks Commissioner of Agriculture post

Commissioner of Agriculture candidate

Billing himself as "Texas' foremost authority on agriculture," Joe A. Hubenak, democratic candidate for Commissioner of Agriculture in Texas held a press conference in Lufkin's Hotel Angelina Dec. 28.

Born in Burleson County 40 years ago, Hubenak was reared in the small farming community of Iowa Colony in Brazoria County. He is the owner of the accounting firm of Hubenak and Associates in Rosenberg, and has farming and ranching interests.

Hubenak is currently serving his fifth term in the Texas Legislature, representing Fort Bend County and part of Brazoria County. He is Chairman of the Agriculture and Livestock Committee, Chairman of the Subcommittee on Correctional Institutions, which has jurisdiction over the Texas Youth Council and Texas Department of Corrections, member of the House Committee on Social Services and a member of the House Committee on Rules.

In addition, the candidate is Vice-Chairman of the Agricultural and Rural Developement Committee of the Southern Legislative Conference, Chairman of the subcommittee of mariculture of the Texas Coastal and Marine Council and a member of the American Cattle Breeders Hall of Fame.

During the press conference, Hubenak stressed the importance of farm credit. "Nowadays, if you're not born into a farm situation or marry into it, it's almost impossible to get into farming," the candidate said. He added that many farmers are losing their incentive due to poor markets and inadequate prices that they receive for their crops.

Hubenak also stressed the need to develop new markets and new commodities in Texas. He pointed out that in Florida agriculture products are sold at airport terminals. Texas farmers, he added, have been selling half of their orange crop to Florida for orange juice.

The candidate added that foreign markets are also very important. Although on this day Hubenak was not sporting his usual 100 per cent cotton suit, he explained that the energy crunch has increased the cost of synthetic materials and, for that reason, cotton growers have a "golden opportunity" to improve their market.

When asked how he felt about the farm strike movement, Hubenak replied that he did not condone the strike, although he did sympathize with the farmers' problems.

On beef production, Hubenak stated that America is the only major beef producing country in the world that continues to import beef; from Mexico and Argentina among other places. In short, Hubenak said, that the American rancher is subsidizing imports. An additional problem stems from the fact that, although this meat is USDA inspected, it is inspected while the meat is in a frozen block.

Hubenak feels that his business, farming and ranching experience and his experience in the legislature makes him highly qualified for the position of Commissioner of Agriculture in Texas. He received his bachelor of business administration degree from the University of Houston. He also attended the University of Colorado and the University of Nebraska. In 1973, Hubenak was awarded the Distinguished Former Students Association membership, the fourth such award to be presented to a non-graduate in the history of the university.

Hubenak's probable opponent is current Agricultural Commissioner Reagan Brown, although Brown has not officially announced his candidacy. According to Hubenak, with his agricultural and business background, all he needs is "10 and one-half million Texans to vote for me."

Noran to speak at Chamber of Commerce banquet

The 58th Annual Angelina County Chamber of Commerce banquet will be held at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, Feb. 9 in the Lufkin Civic Center.

Guest speaker for the affair will be "Master of ESP," Dr. R.L. Noran. Noran, who recently served as guest speaker for the Texas Forestry Association banquet, is a parapsychologist and hypnotherapist whose programs include demonstrations of extra-sensory perception.

According to Ed Wagoner, Executive Vice-President of TFA, Noran left the audience at the TFA banquet "spell bound" with his performance.

The parapsychologist is a member of Psychonautics Society International, the Ethical Hypnosis Academy and the American Society for Psychical Research.

Tickets for the Angelina County Chamber of Commerce banquet are $10.50 per person and are available at the Chamber office, 515 S. First.

Roy Blake officially enters Texas Senate race

Nacogdoches businessman Roy Blake officially entered the race for the Texas Senate Dec. 29. He has entered both the February special election and the regular democratic primary scheduled for May.

Blake paid the $1,150 filing fee required to enter the two elections to the Secretary of State. The money, he said, came from donations and a recent fund raising event.

The candidate is seeking the seat once held by the resigning Don Adams of Jasper.

Blake has represented Nacogdoches, Panola and Shelby couonties for the past five years, serving on the House Appropriations Committee and as Chairman of the Calendars Committee that sets bills for floor debate.

Great Expectations

by Jerry Sebek

My wife and I have been married two and a half years now. As with some, before I got married, I had the presumption that I'd explore my life's goal before I even thought of wedlock. But so it happened we took one look at each other and just knew it had to be. Marriage that is. We fell in love. Knowing that I can not speak for those who have maybe finished celebrating their 50th wedding anniversary and have gotten a taste of what marriage is all about, I can speak for the two and a half years of discovering those "GREAT EXPECTATIONS"; Great expectations in the sense of giving or doing something and expecting something in return.

For instance: On the way home from work I stop by the flower shop and pick out a rather peculiar but nice bouquet of roses to take home and present to her as a token of my love. I walk in, spin her around, and say "look hon' at what I got ya' ". Now, whether she thought I was trying to hide something or wanted something special in return, I knew I was doing what I did out of love for her. But you know, the more I did things out of love for her and the more I confessed my love for her, the more our love grew for each other. And you know, no matter how many times we may read of some organization's survey on how many marriages are going down the drain, we began expecting more out of ours. Our love wasn't based on some statistical blueprint, but on our commitment to ourselves and to God.

I also expect the best out of my wife and not the worst. The Word of God states, "Let the husband fulfill his duty to his wife, and likewise also the wife to her husband" (NAS I Corinthians 7:3). And, stop depricing one another, except by agreement for a time that you may devote yourselves to prayer, and come together again lest Satan tempt you because of your lack of self-control (NAS I Corinthians 7:5). The Epistle of Paul to the Ephesians in chapter five beginning in verse 22 by the inspiration of the Holy Spirit states that marriage is like Christ and the Church. Instead of basing our marriage on wordly chatter, we began expecting more from God as we united as one flesh. To us, marriage has become a GREAT EXPECTATION. And you know, we're expecting even more.

Lice cost cattlemen more than $50 million annually

Lice cost U.S. cattlemen more than $50 million annually, so it's important to control them, says an entomologist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Dr. Carl D. Patrick of Amarillo notes that lice begin to reproduce rapidly with the onset of cool weather, so peak populations on cattle occur in late winter and early spring. Uncontrolled lice can soon infest a whole herd because with cold weather, cattle tend to bunch up more so that the pests can move easily from one animal to another. Heavy hair coats on animals during cold weather also afford protection for the parasites and allow for increased reproduction.

Both types of lice, blood-sucking and biting, infest cattle. Sucking lice pierce the animal's skin and suck blood while biting lice feed on particles of hair, scale, scab and skin exudation, explains the entomologist.

Lice infestations irritate animals, causing itching, scratching and rubbing on fences or anything else available. This produces denuded areas, bruises and lacerations on the affected animal. Heavily infested animals will have an untrifty appearance and will suffer weight reduction, decreased milk production, anemia or even death. Lice infested animals may also be more subject to infectious diseases. Heavy lice infestations often stunt calves.

Spraying or dipping infested animals with the proper insecticide is the most effective means of controlling lice, says Patrick. However, properly placed and maintained dust bags offer effective control and save both time and labor. Position dust bags prior to lice buildup so that cattle can become accustomed to using the bags. A dust bag station should serve abut 30 head. Depending on cattle size, place the bags so that they hang 18-24 inches above the ground. Forced-use of dust bags, where they are placed so that cattle must pass under them to get feed or water, begin to control lice sooner than those used free-choice.

In a spraying or dipping program an animal must receive a thorough soaking in each of two applications 14-18 days apart to effectively control lice, contends Patrick. The second spray or dip will kill any lice hatching from eggs that were laid prior to the first spraying.

For a list of effective insecticides for controlling lice, the entomologist suggests that cattlemen obtain a copy of "Suggestions for Controlling External Parasites on Livestock and Poultry" available at any county Extension office.

"Why should my husband and I waste our time learning about funeral planning?"

Actualy, the worst time to ask questions about funeral arrangements is when you are forced to plan one. So, by learning about funerals now, you can create for yourself the freedom to choose. Latr you may not have the time or clearness ofmind for the decisions you'll have to make.

The facts you need to know are in an unbiased booklet,"A Helpful Guide to Funeral Planning." We'd like you to have a free copy, because we believe a funeral is no place for on-the-job training.

SAVING TIPS
on electric heating

1. Keep heating equipment at top operating efficiency. Have it checked seasonally by qualified serviceman.
2. Set thermostat at 68° or lower. Lower to 50°- 60° if you'll be away several days.
3. Weatherstrip doors and windows; caulk cracks to prevent drafts and warm air loss.
4. Check the filter every 30 days on forced-air systems. If filter is permanent, clean it by manufacturer's directions; if it's disposable, replace if dirty.
5. Thorough home insulation keeps the warmth in, cuts energy use. Can pay for itself by lowering heating (and cooling) costs.
6. When fireplace is not in use, keep damper closed.
7. On sunny days open draperies, blinds to let in warmth of sun.
8. Open outside doors as little as possible.
9. Keep furniture, draperies away from air outlets and returns so air will flow easily. Clean often.

By Jerry Benson, Registered Representative with Edward D. Jones and Co., Members of the NY Stock Exchange.

How Do You Decide What to Buy or Sell?

Stock selection calls for the exercise of sound judgment...based on facts.

Here are some of the questions you would want to ask before deciding to buy 100 shares of XYZ Corporation's common stock. We'll suppose--for the purposes of this example--that XYZ Corporation manufactures television sets. What has the company earned in past years? What is it earning now? What do its future prospects appear to be?

To form an opinion of what a company might earn in the future, a good many factors should be taken into consideration. For instance:

How aggressive is the company--does it have a reputation for being well managed? Are its products well thought of "in the trade"...how does it stand in comparison with competing companies? Do radical changes in television set design appear to be in the offing which might render any or all of XYZ's products obsolete, or affect its market? Does XYZ engage in research to improve its products steadily and develop new ones? What about general business conditions...are the raw materials XYZ buys in adequate supply and reasonably stable in price? Do current statistics indicate that consumers generally have sufficient surplus income to support a lively market for television sets?

We are glad to give you the information we have, to help you evaluate specific companies or industries.

ON BUSINESS TERMS

Dollar Cost Averaging

A system of buying securities at regular intervals with a fixed dollar amount. Under this system the investor buys by the dollars' worth rather than by the number of shares. If each investment is of the same number of dollars, payments buy more when the price is low and fewer when it rises. Thus temporary downswings in price benefit the investor if he continues periodic purchases in both good times and bad and the price at which the shares are sold is more than their average cost.

St. Regis aids in crane conservation

St. Regis Paper Co., which recently aquired Southland Paper, has sold 5,000 acres of company-owned land and donated the equivalent of an additional 1,000 acres in Jackson County, Miss. to the Nature Conservancy. The reason behind the transaction is to aid in the preservation of the Mississippi sandhill crane, an endangered wildlife species.

According to David E. Morine, Head of the Conservancy's Aquisition Department, the land was transferred to the U.S. Department of Interior at the Conservancy's costs for inclusion in the new Mississippi Sandhill Crane National Wildlife Refuge. The addition of the St. Regis land increases the refuge to four times its original size.

It was nd until 1972 that researchers realized the problem and began to manage the land to preserve the subspecies. St. Regis' President, William R. Haselton said, "Although we have been aware of the fragbile predicament of the Mississppi sandhill crane for many years and have managed the land for their protection, we were glad to cooperate with the Nature Conservancy in making this land available so that the crane would have perpetual protection."

The land was sold by St. Regis for $3.7 million, approximately $700,000 less than the land's appraised fair market value.

China Inn restaurant under construction

Mr. Franklin Chambers, President of Chambers Food Service, which includes the Angelina Hotel, the Bashfull Bull B-B-Q Restaurant & Chambers' Catering Service and who is also Director of Food Services at Angelina College, has announced that construction of a new seafood resturant has begun at 302 S. Timberland Dr.

Mr. Chambers said the resturant will serve lobster, fresh shrimp and red snapper. Mr. Chambers said that this is not a fast food operation but a relaxed atmosphere with full service.

Mr. Chambers has completed the sale of the Bashfull Bull B-B-Q Resturant at 2103 S. First to a family from Taiwan for an undisclosed sum of money. Mr. Chambers said the Bashfull Bull will be closed for the remodeling of the new China Inn Resturant which will feature Chinese food served in an oriental atmosphere.

During Mark Twain's days as a newspaperman, he was editor of a small Missouri paper. One day he received a letter from a subscriber, stating that he had found a spider in his paper, and asked if this was an omen of good or bad luck.

Twain replied: "Finding a spider in your paper is neither good nor bad luck. The spider was merely looking over our paper to see which merchant was not advertising so that he could go to that store, spin his web across the door, and lead a life of undisturbed peace ever afterward."

FUTURE SHOCK ! ! !

Who would have thought that we'd ever look forward to an annual inflation rate of 6 per cent with an emotion close to ecstacy? Yet, today that's what we're doing. The reason, of course, is that after three successive yearly hikes averaging better than 9 per cent, 1976's 6 per cent increase looks pretty good. Don't be fooled - 6 per cent inflation is high. At that rate prices double in 12 years.

What would happen to housing prices with a 6 per cent yearly cost-of-living increase? A home that cost $60,000 now would increase to $120,732 in 12 years. In 20 years it would cost $192,428. In 30 years it would sell for $344,609.

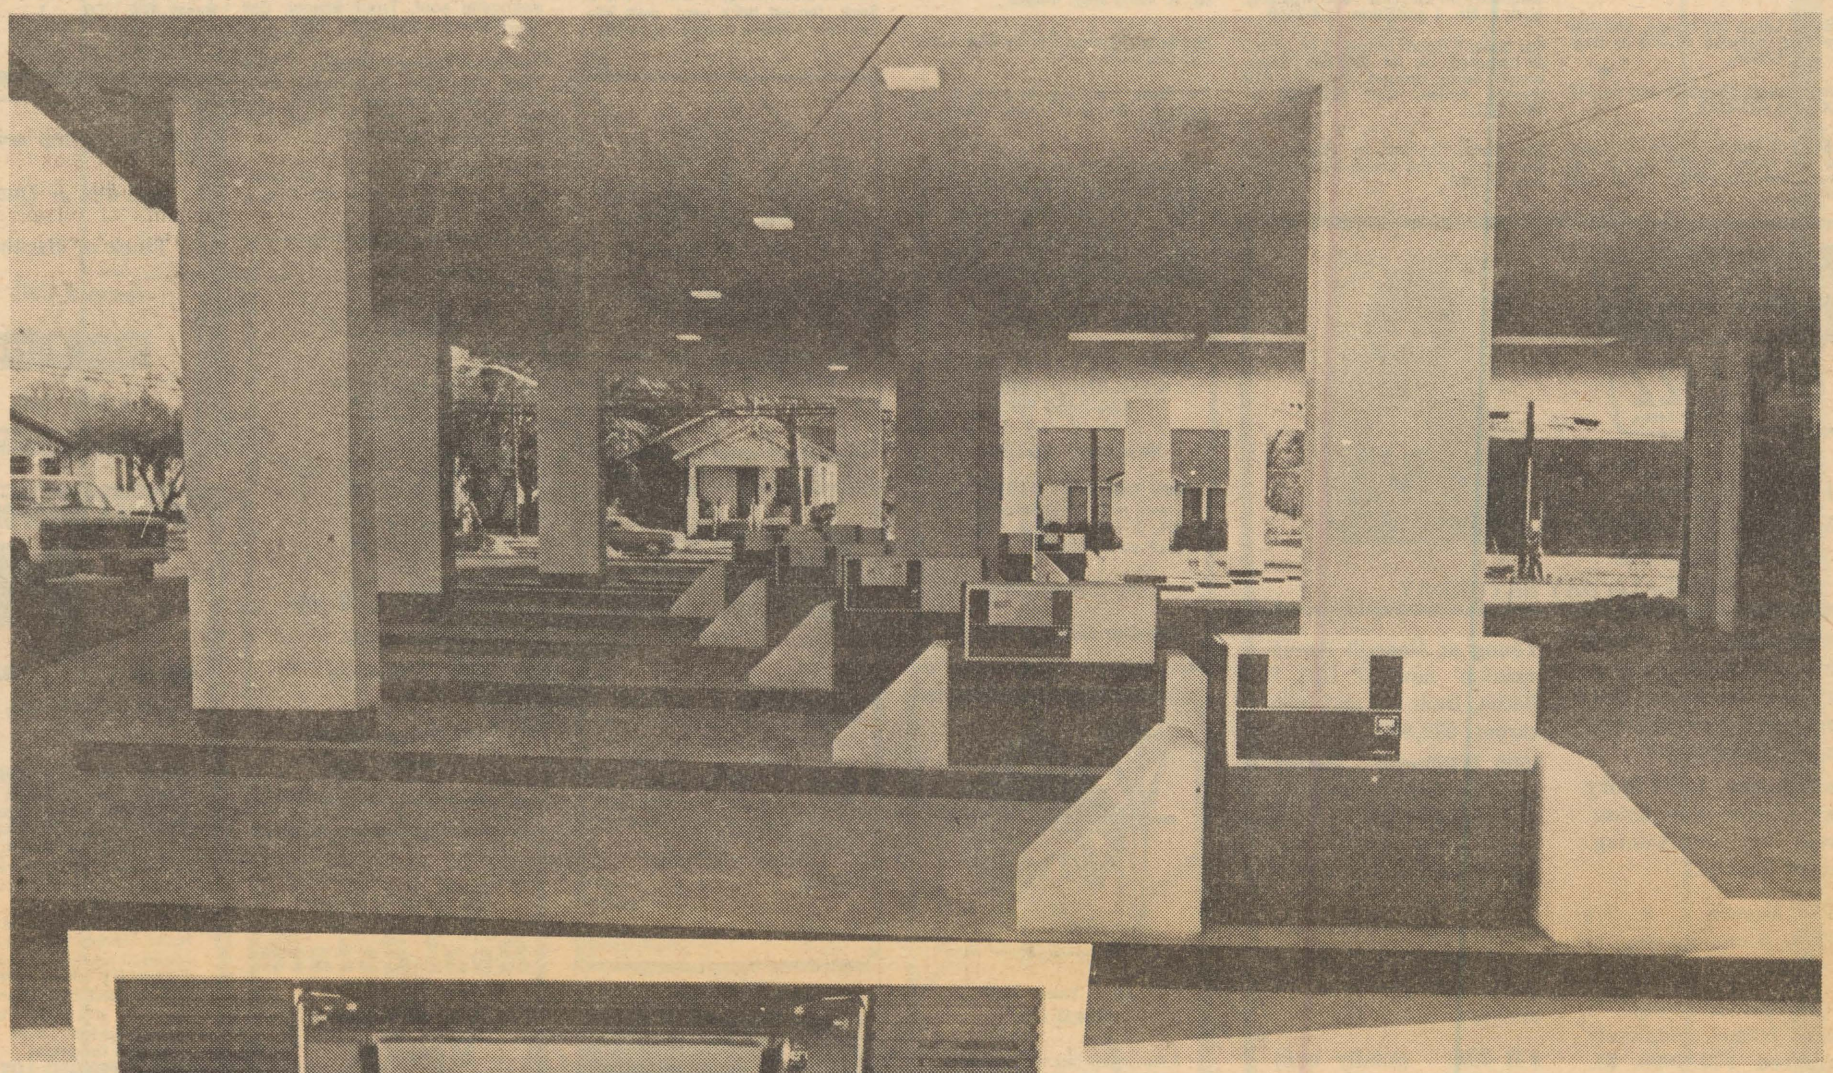

What does all this mean? Whatever your age, you must find a way to create an income in addition to your pay check. Although there is no such thing as the perfect investment, real estate may be the nearest thing to it. It can be an income producer, a shelter from high taxes, and an ideal protection from the ravages of inflation. Real estate values historically increase faster than general inflation prices and maintain a higher value than most assets in depression. The ideal hedge.

If there is anything we can do to help you in the field of real estate, please phone or drop in at LUFKIN REALTY, 1001 Lee, Lufkin. Phone: 639-2227. We're here to help.

Shopping spree

Casey Harris of Huntington was the winner of a $100 Christmas shopping spree at Wal-Mart in a contest co-sponsored by Lufkin Federal Savings and Loan and KSPL Radio. Program underway to combat flourocarbons

To phase out use of chlorofluorocarbons as propellents in aerosol products, three government agencies are conducting a two-part program that will conclude on April 15, 1979.

At that time, a ban on products containing chlorofluorocarbons as propellents will take effect. It will prohibit such products from entering interstate commerce after that date.

Agencies involved are the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), the Food and Drug Administration (FDA), and the Consumer Product Safety Commission (CPSC).

Claudia Kerbel, Consumer Information Specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, says the two-part program focuses on both consumers and manufacturers.

In the program's first phase, consumers are being encouraged not to use aerosol products containing chlorofluorocarbons, Ms. Kerbell says.

In line with this, the three agencies are requiring manufacturers of any such products under agency regulation to label the products with a warning about the product's possible risks, she says.

According to the agencies, chlorofluorocarbons reduce the earth's ozone shield that filters out harmful ultraviolet radiation from the sun.

That means as the shield is reduced, increased amounts of ultraviolet radiation will reach the earth and may contribute to skin cancer in humans, alter crop yields or produce other adverse environmental effects, Ms. Kerbel explains.

In the program's second phase, chlorofluorocarbons may not be manufactured for use in aerosol products after Oct. 15, 1978. After April 15, 1979, products containing chlorofluorocarbons propellents may not be introduced into interstate commerce.

Jan. 1 marks changes for employers

Some agricultural employers will have to start paying unemployment insurance on their employees beginning Jan. 1, says a sociologist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Dr. David C. Ruesink explains the two principle means of coverage for agricultural employers. Employers who hire 10 or more workers at least one day a week in each of 20 weeks in a calendar year or who have a total payroll equal to or greater than $20,000 in any calendar quarter will be required to provide unemployment insurance coverage on their workers.

There are two situations where work may be performed but employees are not counted as part of the agricultural employer's work force: (1) Agricultural workers who have a crew leader who holds a valid certificate of registration under the Farm Labor Contractor Registration Act of 1963 will be considered as employees of the crew; (2) Workers who are part of a crew doing custom work because they are considered as working for the custom operator.

Any agricultural employer who has questions about unemployment insurance may contact the nearest Texas Employment Commission office, suggests Ruesink.

Leukemia.
It's no longer
a death sentence.

When you were young, no form of cancer terrified your parents more than leukemia did.

Just fifteen years ago, a child with leukemia could expect to live only months. But, thanks to research, things have changed.

Children who once lived months are now living years. Many of them are growing up. Some are already adults, living normal lives.

Did you ever wonder what the American Cancer Society did with the money you gave us? Well, some of it went to leukemia research. And, if we had more we could do more. Give to the American Cancer Society.

Educational kits presented by Chamber

Educational kits entitled "Economics for Young Americans" were presented to representatives of area school districts by the Angelina County Chamber of Commerce Education Committee.

The kits contain four different film strips on economics and taped recordings to go along with teachers' guides and questions samplers. Topics include money matter, profits at work, the promise of productivity and business means business about ecology.

The purpose of the kits is to explain the business point of view on the free enterprise system in America and what it means to the future of our country stated Louis Bronaugh, Education Committee Chairman.

CANCER ANSWER LINE

American Cancer Society
M. D. Anderson Hospital and Tumor Institute

Submitted by Tom Eberhart of the Angelina County office of the American Cancer Society.

A manufacturer writes: "A business associate is to begin chemotherapy for cancer when he gets out of the hospital. I would like to know how physicians monitor these powerful drugs."

ANSWER line: Chemotherapy is a form of treatment which is closely monitored because the drugs used are very potent and it is important to tailor the dosage to individual response and needs. This is accomplished by doing blood counts, x-ray tests, special isotope scans, analysis of general body function and special blood chemistry tests of liver or kidney function.

A secretary asks: "Can you give me some concrete guidance about whether or not a woman should have mammography? I read recently some frightening news stories that said that mammography can cause cancer. I then cancelled my appointment to have it done."

ANSWER line: Many women have "cancelled appointments" because of understandable confusion resulting from a decision to limit routine mammographic screening of women without symptoms to those women over 50. This is because of the slight possibility that a younger woman might develop breast cancer 20 or 30 years after routine mammographic x-rays are done. There is absolutely no question of the importance of routine mammography for women over 50. Mammography can find possible breast cancer in an extremely early stage when it is most easily and successfully treated. And breast cancer risk increases with age. Mammography is also important for women under 50 who have certain physical conditions or risk factors. The decision to have mammography must always reflect careful discussion between a woman and her physician.

A photographer writes: "Because I am a free-lance worker, I have some time to call my own. I would like to do volunteer work for the American Cancer Society, but I want to do something meaningful. What can you suggest?"

ANSWER line: The suggestions you request could fill many columns because your local ACS Unit has need of volunteers with different talents, interests and available time schedules. You might volunteer to drive cancer patients to treatment centers or you might run a quit-smoking clinic at a high school. You might use your photography skills to publicize ACS events or you might answer telephone calls from people in your community with cancer-related problems. You might organize a free Pap test clinic at a health fair, or you might run an employee education program in a factory. The ACS needs you and will be happy to tailor a volunteer spot "just for you."

Do you have further questions? Call your local unit of the American Cancer Society or call M.D. Anderson Hostpital & Tumor Institute's Cancer Information Service, 1-800-392-2040 toll-free in Texas, 792-3245 in the Houston area.

Gourmet Corner

With the glorious holiday season behind us, we are making our transition into a new year -- We, the entire staff of this successful Community paper express our wishes to you and yours for a very happy and prosperous year. You will continue to find countless inspirations for parties, dinners and treats that do justice to your special way of celebrating holidays throughout the entire year. Truly the most memorable wedding, anniversary, or birthday can be made even more unforgettable with elegant food. I sincerely hope you will add some of my recipes to your repertoire of recipes.

Following is an ole East Texas favorite for any time of the year --

Chicken 'N Duplings

5 or 6 lb. hen
1 onion (diced)
1/2 cup celery (diced)
salt & pepper to taste

Cover with water and boil gently until tender. Remove meat from bones, set aside.

Dumplings
2 cups flour (sift)
3 ts. bak. powder
1/2 tsp. salt
1 Egg, beaten
Milk

Sift flour, baking powder & salt. Blend egg & milk to make a smooth dough, roll to 1/8 in. thick, cut into 1 in. strips or into 1 in. squares, and drop into boiling chicken broth. Boil gently until dumplings are render (about 20 min.) Add chicken pieces. It is very delicious served with:

Corn Bread
1/2 cup flour
3 tsp. bak. powder
1/4 tsp. soda
1 tsp. salt
1 Tablespoon sugar
1 Cup corn meal
1 beaten egg
1 1/2 cups buttermolk
4 Tablespoon melted shortening

Sift flour, baking powder, soda, salt, sugar. Add corn meal, egg & milk, add melted shortening (or cooking oil) & beat until well mixed - pour into greased shallow pan - bake in a hot oven 425 degrees about 25 mintues.

For a grand finale how about:

"Ole fashioned Fruit Cobbler"
4 cups fruit (peaches, apples, berries)
1 cup sugar (to taste)
1 tsp. cinnamon
1/4 tsp. nutmeg
1 cup flour
1 tsp. bak. powder
1/4 cup sugar
1/8 tsp. salt
1 egg beaten
1 cup milk
2 Tablespoon melted shortening

Place fruit in buttered baking dish -- sprinkle sugar, spices over fruit, sift together flour, bak. powder, sugar & salt. Blend with egg, milk, melted shortening to smooth batter. Pour batter over fruit. And bake in 350 degrees oven about 40 minutes. Serve warm.

If you have any special request write to me (don't call) in care of The Banner. Until Next Issue. Audrey.

Recreation and Parks taking softball reservations

The Lufkin Recreation and Parks Department will accept Softball Field Tournament reservations beginning Jan. 16, 1978. The policy concerning reservations will remain the same, with the following exceptions. The $50 deposit must be made at the time the reservation is made. No reservations will be made by telephone. The $50 deposit will be returned if grounds are left clean and no destruction has occured. A fine of $25 will be charged for tournaments which are cancelled, for reasons other than weather. When teams have reservations and then cancel, they have prevented another team from hosting a tournament that weekend.

The following fields will be available for reservation:

Winston Park..... 1 field
Kit McConnico..... 3 fields
(Only two fields at Kit McConnico will have lights)

The Lufkin Recreation and Parks Department is looking forward to working with all Lufkin Softball Teams this spring and summer. We hope that the above policy will help us accomodate each team, with the limited facilities we have.

Employment Commission moves to new location

The Texas Employment Commission announces a new location and telephone number for its Lufkin office. Effective Jan. 3, 1978, the Job Placement and Unemployment Insurance units are relocated to 413 S. Chestnut Street. The new phone number is 639-1531.

Both units will be housed in the newly constructed TEC building directly across from the Chestnut Village Shopping Center. The combined facilities will be more convenient for both employers and the public.

One of the new features that will be added to TEC services in the new facility, is a direct tie-in from the Lufkin office to the TEC computor in Austin. This will save time in the claims taking process for those filing for unemployment insurance.

Raymond Fore, Lufkin Office Manager, invites everyone to visit the new office. A ribbon-cutting ceremony was held at 10 a.m. Tuesday, Jan. 3, to officially open the doors.

MHMR serves more than 4,000 persons

More than 4,000 persons have been served by the Deep East Texas Regional Mental Health Mental Retardation Services during its three years of operation.

Service to persons with mental health, mental retardation and alcohol and drug dependency problems total 2,347 during the past year alone.

MHMR has developed during that three year period from the planning stages which was comprised of the nine member board of trustees appointed by the commissioners courts of the 13 county area and Executive Director Wayne Lawrence to an organization with an annual budget of $2.2 million offering approximately 40 programs to the people living in the 11,000 square mile region.

MHMR has been a pioneer in the development and delivery of mental health mental retardation services to persons living in rural areas.

The basic concept of persons having these services available in their home communities without having to be institutionalized has fathered the development of such innovations as a mobile evaulation unit that travels throughout the region providing evaluation and screening service to persons near their home.

The work of MHMR has been evaluated by an outside team and the results compared with the 1975 survey showed that persons receiving or who had received services from MHMR are satisfied. The answers to questions asking if they are willing to recommend MHMR to others showed only one per cent of the responses to be negative.

This is consistant with the goals of MHMR as outlined by Board Chairman Ward Burke, a lontime advocate of good mental health and mental retardation service to the people of East Texas.

"We are here to provide these services to the people. That is what we are charged with doing and if we can't do that then we should not exist," Burke said at one of the organizational meetings.

Clients served include persons with incomes under $500 per week and persons with incomes of $300 a week and above. Ages range from children under 12 years old to persons 65 and over. About the same number of males as females are served. Persons of every race living in the region have received services.

Of the total services rendered during 1977, 1,545 persons or 65.8 per cent received mental health services, 504 persons or 21.5 per cent received mental retardation services and 283 persons or 12.1 per cent received services in the alcohol and drug abuse area.

Funding for MHMR is dependent on the participation of the counties in which it operates as these funds are matched by state funds.

Expenditures of the funds by programs include 42 per cent for mental retardation, 32 per cent for mental health and 15 per cent for alcohol and drug abuse. Administration received only 11 per cent of the total $2.2 million budget.

Dr. Lawrence said that there will be further expansion of the programs in the future but that MHMR will strive to deliver high quality services which allows the mentally handicapped and chemically dependent citizens of the region to achief their maximum potential.

Conference to feature short course

Plans are moving ahead for staging the annual Texas Animal Agricultural Conference at the Rudder Center on the Texas A&M University campus, next April 3-4.

The conference, which attracts large numbers of livestock industry groups to A&M, will feature short courses dealing with beef cattle, dairy cattle, horses and swine, as well as programs on range, pastures and forage production, said L.A. Maddox, General Chairman.

Maddox, beef cattle specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, announced that the various short courses will be keyed to increasing producer profits, with a variety of subjects included in the individual short courses.

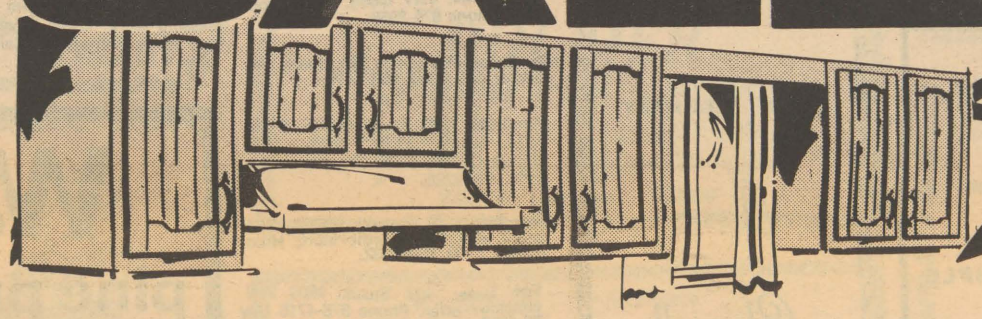

Held in conjuction with the conference will be the annual Agricultural Convocation of A&M's College of Agriculture, with activities set to begin at 8 p.m. April 3.

Additional information about the conference can be obtained by writing Maddox at Room 114, Animal Science Department, Texas A&M University, College Station, Texas 77843.

That's one reason why. When we're not so busy, we can give you a better buy. And more attention.
Miss the price increase.
Inflation seems never to stop, and normally a new season brings higher prices. Right now you can get next year's pool for last year's prices.

We'll tell you the truth about Fiberglass.
And that's for free. We'll tell you about the best and let you decide we can give you the whole truth and let you make your own decision.

Don't tear your yard up during growing season.
It seems to hurt more when the grass is green and growing. Call us now and we'll be through before then.

Have your pool for a full season.
You'll be able to enjoy your pool from spring through fall. Ask anyone who gets a pool in the summer and they will tell you it is hard to wait for when it is 100 degrees in the shade. So, give us a call. We'll build you a pool while it's too cold to use it so you won't miss a minute when it gets hot. Plus you'll save money.

1977- Year of the winged pigs, well groomed puddles

If there is one nice thing about an error, it is the fact that, no matter how bad it may seem when the error is committed, it can oftentimes be laughed about later. The beginning of a new year being a time of both reflection and hope for improvement, we at the Home Banner would like to look back at a few of the mistakes we have made since the paper was established last August.

All of you Chinese New Year fans know that 1978 is the year of the horse. For the Banner, 1977 was the year of the winged pig. We can only hope that the poor gentleman who called wanting to advertise the weaned pigs in the classified section has a sense of humor, as the possibilities for crank phone calls are unlimited.

Those who have been disturbed unsightly puddles around the yard probably noticed the ad for puddle grooming in the classified section right off. Those with shaggy French canines, however, were out of luck if they were looking for a poodle grooming ad that week.

We certainly cannot fail to mention the issue in which our illustrious Editor made her own little attempt to turn back the clock by putting the last week's date on the front page of the paper. Alas, it is so hard to find good help these days.

There is another error which we are still finding it hard to laugh about. No matter how much we wish they would, the people of Lufkin will probably never forget the sharp, clear picture of a drill team in action with the large caption, "Panther Pride." The picture was a great example of a high quality newspaper photography. Too bad it was a picture of the Nederland High School drill team. "To error is human..."

As in other newspapers, the Home Banner has, of course, had its share of typographical errors and mispelled words, but it seems as though the mistakes are becoming fewer and further between with each issue. As long as our staff consists soley of human beings, however, we will undoubtably have a few more errors to reflect upon at this time next year.

So as the winged pigs fly south for the winter and the groomed puddles evaporate into 1977, we at the Banner are hoping that 1978 will be a prosperous year for both the paper and its readers. Happy New Year!

Apple Springs coed receives scholarship

Gail Chapman, a graduate student from Apple Springs, has received the first Seidman and Seidman Scholarship Award in Accounting at Stephen F. Austin State University.

The scholarship will be presented annually by Seidman and Seidman Certified Public Accountants in Houston. A recipient must be a graduate student in the Accounting Department at SFA who has been selected by the faculty on the basis of academics, citizenship and extracuricular activities.

Happy New Year,

warning lables about the ozone-depletion risk are products, such as pesticides and industrial products, regulated by the EPA and some products regulated by the FDA that are shipped in interstate commerce.

FDA-regulated products include deodorants, antiperspirants, hair sprays, colognes and fragrances.

For those and other FDA-regulated items, the deadline requiring manufacturers to apply warning labels was Oct. 31, 1977--except Dec. 31, 1977, is the new deadline for gift packs and fragrance preparations.

CSPC-regulated products, such as household cleaners, air fresheners and others, will require warning labels as of Feb. 20, 1978.

EPA estimated that the aerosol industry may lose $169-$257 million for each of the four years after the ban takes effect, Ms. Kerbel says.

Consumers, however, may save $58-$240 million a year, because products that do not contain chlorofluorocarbons generally sell from 8-19 cents less than their chlorofluorocarbon-propelled counterparts, she adds.
