YOU CAN'T GET BY ON A BLUFF

Take the case of ? ? . One day ? decided to skip school for a few hours. She knew that it would be excused because she was usually good at telling little ! to get out of worrisome conditions. ? ? went on her merry way downtown. She spent the day going from store to store having a gay time. Early in the afternoon ? ? got thirsty. She went into a drugstore and ordered a coke. All of a sudden she heard a "hurumph" at her side. You guessed it: a certain Vice-Principal was present.

The next day in the office ? ? mournfully told of the death of an uncle and how she was downtown buying a magazine for his wife. Did ! ! believe it? You bet he didn't.

This story goes to show that some people are smarter than you think and can recognize truth from untruth. It is always best to tell the truth in the beginning rather than live under a bluff that has to keep stretching.

TIPS FOR TEENS

PERSONALITY—

Your personality qualities determine your social success and your happiness as much or more than your intelligence.

Your personalities are not set. You can change into the kind of person you would like to be if you are willing to learn. You can learn social poise by mixing with learning to dance well, by participating in a sport of your choice, or by learning one game well so that others enjoy playing with you.

Learn how to make introductions easily, to converse with strangers, and to master simple social graces. Good manners give you extra self-confidence. Everyone is shy, self-conscious, and unsure of himself at times. Most people are timid about meeting strangers. You will overcome self-consciousness if you'll just spend the first minute you are in presence of a stranger trying to help him feel confortable. Try it. Then you will assume a look of kindness which will make others aware of you as a person sympathetic and understanding of others. In order to develop a cultured personality and to help others to develop one, you must first have a desire for self-improvement, a desire to live the richest and fullest life possible. You then will have no time left to think about yourself and to be self-conscious.

A quiet type of confidence in yourself is an outstanding trait that will help to make you a success, whatever you plan to do.

A person with a poor personality is generally one who gripes, is selfish and conceited, and is pessimistic and not dependable. Try to become cheerful, pleasant friendly, neat, helpful, enthusiastic, poised; above all, develop a good snse of humor.

A person with personality who makes an ideal date is one who is a good conversationalist, is interested in what he or she likes to talk about, and is a person who is courteous, that is, considers others.

Men Say The Strangest Things

Men are said to be afraid of love, marriage, and a wife. The following sums up these fears by capturing the lighter side of their fears.

Marriage is an institution. Marriage is love. Love is blind. Therefore, marriage is an institution for the blind. So this begins the man's point of view on marriage. A wedding to a man is a funeral where you smell your own flowers. He feels that a girl no longer marries man for better or worse. She marries him for more or less. He has had this attitude for quite a while and it may continue for many more centuries. Weddings have changed somewhat since the "old Days." The old-time woman who saved her wedding dress for her daughter now has a daughter who saves her own wedding dress for her next wedding! Most men now readily agree that, 'I married her because we have so many faults in common." Only during a man's discussion do they admit that it is best to keep the eyes open before marriage, and half shut afterward. Jealousy always plays a large part in marriage. To this both men and women agree. The established fact is that the way to hold a husband is to keep him a little bit jealous; the way to lose him is to keep him a bit more jealous. To hear a man describe marriage, it always comes out that it begins with a prince kissing an angel; it ends with a baldheaded man looking across the table at a fat woman.

TALLEST AND SHORTEST SOPHOMORES
JOEL DILLAHUNTY AND KATHY BROWN

"SHORTEST AND TALLEST SOPHOMORES REVEALED"

Have you often thought you were too tall or too short? Well, the PANTHER GROWLS has made a survey of the sophomores, and they have come up with the tallest boy and shortest girl in the sophomore class. If you think you're not the right size, why not compare yourself with these two L.H.S. students?

Four foot ten inch Kathy Brown is the shortest girl in the sophomore class. She is from Burke, and her mother makes all of her clothes because of her size. Kathy's favorite subjects are English and P.E., and her hobby is painting.

She has acquired the nickname of "Shorty" but doesn't mind being called this because she is used to nicknames now. Among some of her other nicknames are "pee wee" and "pint size."

Kathy says that being short has just as many advantages as disadvantages. She said, "I'd rather be short than tall because boys like little girls."

Joel Dillahunty stands 6 feet, 3 inches tall and is the tallest boy in the sophomore class. His favorite subject is mechanical drawing and wood shop. His hobbies include leather work and football. After school Joel works as a mechanic at the mill at Keltys.

He is on the A team basketball team and says that being so tall comes in handy in many sports. When Joel tried to get on a Little League baseball team, the manager questioned his age because of his size, and he didn't get to play.

Joel also says that the class room chairs are usually too low for him and this makes him often uncomfortable. On school bus trips he has a hard time moving around because there are always so many people, and he feels that he is sometimes in the way.

When buying clothes, Joel runs into a little difficulty because of his size. His ambition is to get a "king size" bed because his bed is too short for him.

Dating the right size girl is no problem for Joel, for he doesn't care about their height, and he has yet to find a girl that is too tall for him. Joel says he is still growing, but he doesn't mind because people always think he is older than he actually is because of his height.

BEOWULF — HEY

Man, like this tale of terror kicks off with a frat brawl at this real stud expresso house. Everythings's real raunchy — hey — till this Gruesome Grendel goes gung-ho (notice the alliteration) over cannibalism and carries off 31 frat rats 'cause the noise bugs him. All this jazz lasts through 12 football seasons.

Then "Rocky" Beowulf moves in from Jutesville to join the Dane Gang. He stands there shooting the bull and saying how way-out he is and how he's going to exterminate Grendel when he tangles with him in this so swinging geh-dunhk. He and the Dane Gang all sit around and watch Jack Paar and play poker and listen to Shelley Berman records and wait for this Grendel cat to make the pad.

Grendel bops in around midnight — real spastic, hey — and attacks Beowulf. They rock around to the rhythm of "Rumble" (more alliteration) and completely annihilate the geh-dunhk. Finally Rocky tears Grendel's gruesome arm off and Grendal yells "Aaargh, gronk, gleek" and goes to the house.

After a brief intermission during which proud parents patted one another on the shoulders and said, "Bravo!," the High School Band appeared and played: "Procession of Nobles from Mlada"; "Finale from Kalinnikov's Symphony No. 1"; "An American in Paris"; "Holiday for Trombone"; "Hiawatha Land"; "Second American Fold Rhapsody"; "Bugler's Holiday", featuring Tommy McKinney, Ronnie Redd, Billy Rivenbark, Sidney Medford, David Slack, and Curtis Burton; and "Totem Pole."

Congratulations to Mr. Paul Stroud and Mr. Phil Baker for a job well done!

Al Wittliff Is Well Known Bowler

by Wayne Montes

Al Wittliff is one of the best bowlers from Lufkin High School. Al is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Wittliff of Persimmon Street. Al is a junior at our school and his favorite pastime is bowling.

Al began his bowling four years ago, and has come to be some what of a master at the game. He is a member of the boy's Junior League.

He bowls for the Fireballs who held the number one position in the Junior League most of last year. He has broken two hundred several times. Last month he bowled his highest game which was 242. His current average is 165, and his highest 3 game series was 499.

We wish Al good luck in the up coming season, and when the Junior League begins to bowl this spring we expect to see Al among the top bowlers in his class.

Murder is always a mistake; one should never do anything that one cannot talk about after dinner.
