HOW DO YOU DO IT?

What do you think about when you vote in an election? Let's take the future cheerleaders election for example. Do you vote for a candidate just because he or she looks good in a cheerleading uniform? Do you vote for a candidate just because you don't want another to get it? Do you just select the first two on the ballot because you are in a hurry?

This is not the purpose of an election. Its purpose is to elect the most qualified candidate on the ballot. When you vote in the cheerleaders election, don't vote with one of the reasons above in your mind. Watch the candidates keenly as they do their yells. Vote on their ability to do the cheers and their ability to get the audience to yell. Crowd response is an important thing. Keep social behavior in mind.

Remember that the person that you elect will be representing your school next year. So, take a moment to think before you vote in the next election. Remember, also, that these statements do not apply to the cheerleaders election alone. You should vote for the best qualified candidate in any election. Take advantage of the privilege to vote, and vote fairly.

COMMENCEMENT ACTIVITIES

Lufkin High School Seniors are looking forward to Commencement. It is the day you have dreamed about and should be a happy memory. Because graduation means so much to you, the celebration should be carefully planned. In L. H. S. tradition says what shall be done. These customs should be continued enthusiastically. When you come back as an alumnus, you will enjoy living once again these old traditions.

Your school days should always be a happy memory. One way to make them memorable is to be courteous always. Considerate and kind acts will keep you out of trouble, which brings unhappiness and worry to your family as well as harm to you.

Fads - Fashions

Spring has made its official appearance at Lufkin High School and it is certainly evident in all the pretty spring fashions that have been seen in the halls and on the campus.

Terry Lynn Hutson has been sporting some precious shirtwaists and cute sheaths to school lately.

Lynda Chastain has worn a real pretty pink skirt and blouse that has caused a lot of envious glances.

Jane Bell looked real cute in her brown sheath with the big puff sleaves.

Tiny Kathy Brown has been looking really adorable in her spring fashions.

Sharon Edelman wore a skirt and blouse of the prettiest peach color the other day and aroused attention from everyone.

Gretchen Gribble had a very attractive beige skirt and blouse on the other day and she looked real cute in it.

Sherry Mathis caught many a stare in her pretty orchid skirt and blouse.

In the jewelry department, the seniors have been sporting charms and senior keys courtesy of the local jewelry stores. Some have been wearing them on charm bracelets; Pat Behnett and Nancy Calloway have adopted this fad.

That's all for this column this time but we will be looking for other fashions in the future.

TIPS FOR TEENS

A GUEST IN THE HOUSE

When you are a guest in someone else's home, act as though you were in your own home, but not too much so. For instance your little habits of putting your feet on the furniture or kicking open the screen door may pass your mother's censorship, but fail to amuse somebody else's mother. Relax and act natural when you meet your friend's family. Don't make them feel uncomfortable by being shy and untalkative, but at the same time, let them get a word in edgewise. To be a perfect guest who will be asked back again and again, just behave the way you would like a guest to act in your home.

An invitation to dinner at the home of a friend doesn't give you much time to get acquainted with his or her family, so put your best face forward. They are putting their best hospitality for you, so give out with your best manners.

Since all parents like to hear nice things said about their kids, don't spare your breath telling any complimentary stories about your friend. Even if papa bores you by bragging about his family, listen politely. If they have no maid, offer to help with the K. P. duty, but don't insist on it if they beg you to park in the parlor. Your hostess has probably set out her best linen, so don't be clumsy and spill gravy on the tablecloth. If your hostess' specialty is prune whip, but is definitely not yours, then eat it if it chokes you, and be sure to compliment her on her cooking. Being a successful dinner guest should be easy. Anyone can manage to be polite and pleasant for a few hours.

If you're a weekend or overnight guest you're treated like one of the family, so don't expect too many special attentions. Confidentially, being treated like one of the family is the highest compliment your host can pay you. If it's a weekend invitation, it's better taste to have the two sets of parents confirm the invitation on both families. Just a short note or phone call is sufficient. If your hostess doesn't have a maid, then make as little trouble as possible, pitch in with dish washing and clean up your own room. If your hostess has a maid who has done some special laundering or pressing for you, remember her with a nominal tip before you leave. If you sent your laundry out, be sure to pay for it yourself.

Don't be a borrower. Bring your own clothes, tooth paste,

TIPS FOR TENS —

bobby pins, or perfume. Under no circumstances, should you ever borrow your hosts' automobile! If you make any out of town telephone calls, be sure to leave the money with your hostess. Never order food or supplies which are charged to your hosts.

You've been invited for a certain length of time, so when you arrive you should make it clear how and when you are departing. If you're all set to leave and your hostess looks very sad and says, "Oh, I wish you didn't have to go," exit smiling. That isn't the signal for you to unpack your bags and stay another week.

The job of a host and hostess is to keep the guest amused, and sometimes it isn't easy. So the next time you're invited to a friend's home, why not pull a switcheroo and make an effort to amuse them? If your company proves to be to their liking, you'll never have to worry about wearing out your welcome.

Mark Antony's Speech To The Roman Beats

Mark Antony's Speech To The Roman Beats

For those of you who have trouble understanding Shakespeare, we of the Literary Corner have translated this great work into a more easily understood language.

Beats, hipsters, squares, stow your weeds and dig me;
I'm here to give Caesar the deep six, not to throw a snow job about him.
The evil men do rocks on;
the good is sometimes planted with 'em;
Same goes with this cat — hey. This so tough Brutus
Clued you in that Big C was a go-getter:
If he's not turning us around, it was nowheresville;
And Big C is nowheresville because of it.
Here with the permission of Big Boy Brutus and his crew —
Cause Brutus is nothing but fine;
So are they all, all nothing but fine. —
Come I to shoot the ba-hottny at Big C's plantin'.
We was buddies, true blue;
But Brutus sez he wuz a go-getter,
And Brutus is nothing but fine.
He jailed the foreign scum
And padded the treasury with their ransomes:
Did this in Caesar seem go-getting?
When the slum-scum whined, Caesar got shook:
Ambition oughta be made of tougher stuff.
Yet Big Boy Brutus says he was a go-getter;
And Brutus is nothing but fine.
You all dug at the last beer-bust
How I tried to promote him to top dog three times
And three times he put me down
Now I ask you — was this go-getting?
Yet Brutus says he was a go-getter;
And, shawly, he's nothing but fine.
Now I'm not putting down what Brutus said,
But I am here to give you the straight scoop.
You all used to think he was way-out, — and he was:
Why for ain't you moaning for him now?
O judgment, you've shagged off to animals,
And cats have gone buggie. Hang in there a minute;
My clock-ticker is there in the plantin' box with Big C,
And I have to stop till it makes a round trip.

LHS PANTHERS HEADED FOR UNDEFEATED SEASON

By Jerry Adams

The Lufkin Panthers banged out fifteen hits Friday, April 1, as they scored a 14 to 3 triumph over the Carthage Bulldogs.

The Panthers were led at the plate by Dennis Marshall, who has had difficulty getting started this season, and Jerry Bate, the leading Pack batter, each with three hits. Ronnie Davis, all-district third baseman, Ronnie Redd, and Jerry Register, the winning pitcher, collected two bingles apiece.

Then on Tuesday, April 5, the Lufkinites, defending champions of District 8-AAAA, opened family play here with a resounding 2-1 seven inning victory over the Tyler Lions. John Collier, ace of Coach O'Brien's pitching staff, hurled a five hitter for the win.

The Pack, trailing since the fourth frame, caught fire in the bottom of the seventh and tallied two runs. Ronnie Davis had two of the Panthers' five hits.

For the second straight Friday afternoon, the Panthers, behind the five-hit pitching of Jerry Register, downed the Marshall Mavericks, 14-3, gaining their second victory against no losses in the hectic District 8-AAAA race.

Register, in recording his fourth win against no setbacks, struck out 12 Mavs in addition to banging a two-run homer in the seventh. Paul Luna collected three hits in the contest.

John Collier pitched a two-hitter and a trio of Lufkin lads garnered two hits as the Pack kept their season record unblemished here Tuesday, April 12, with a 5-1 victory over the Longview Lobos.

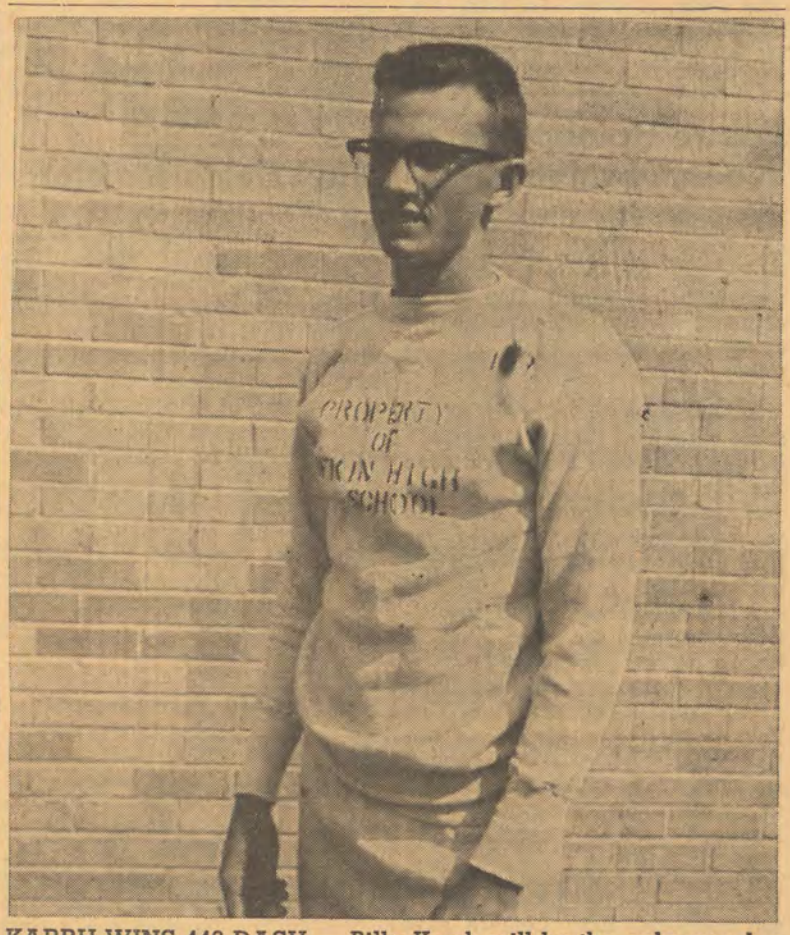

Ronnie Redd, Ronnie Davis, and Denny Marshall each rapped out two singles as the Lufkinites took the district game going away.

Collier allowed only a first inning double and a seventh frame single to the usually sure-fingered Lobos, who committed half a dozen errors in the seven inning contest.

After nine games this season, Jerry Bate, a sophomore student who has started hitting high school pitching as if he owned it, is the leading Panther batter with an average of .414. Ronnie Davis, a fixture at third for Dick O'Brien's charges, is pounding the ball at a .383 clip. Jerry Bob Register, combination pitcher-catcher for the Pack, is hitting just under the .300 mark.

As far as pitching goes, Register and Collier each have four victories to their credit in the Pack's undefeated season. Mike Pasierb, O'Brien's third right-hander, has collected one triumph in two starts, one a tie with Nacogdoches earlier in the season. Register has struck out 28 opposing hitters in his 29 innings of work, while Collier has whiffed 22 in 32 frames. Pasierb, who has worked least of the Pack's hurlers, has collected eleven strikeouts in 16 frames.

Lufkin traveled to Texarkana Friday, April 15, to do battle with the Tigers in a 2:30 game. We do not have the results of the District contest as of the printing of this paper.

KARRH WINS 440 DASH — Billy Karrh will be the only member of Coach Dinges' track team to represent Lufkin in the Regional Track Meet. Billy won his qualification heat on the 220 yard dash with 23.5 seconds. He also finished first on the 440 qualification with 53.6 seconds. Billy won the 440 yard dash at the District Track Meet with a time of 52.6. A few minutes later he finished third on the 220 yard dash.

Lufkin finished fifth with 26 points at the District Track Meet held at Tyler's Rose Stadium. Sixteen of these points were made by Billy Karrh.
