The Pineland Star

DEDICATED TO THE PROGRESS OF PINELAND AND SURROUNDING COMMUNITIES

VOLUME ONE—NUMBER 2 | THE PINELAND STAR, PINELAND, TEXAS, THURSDAY, MAY 1, 1958 | $2.00 PER YEAR

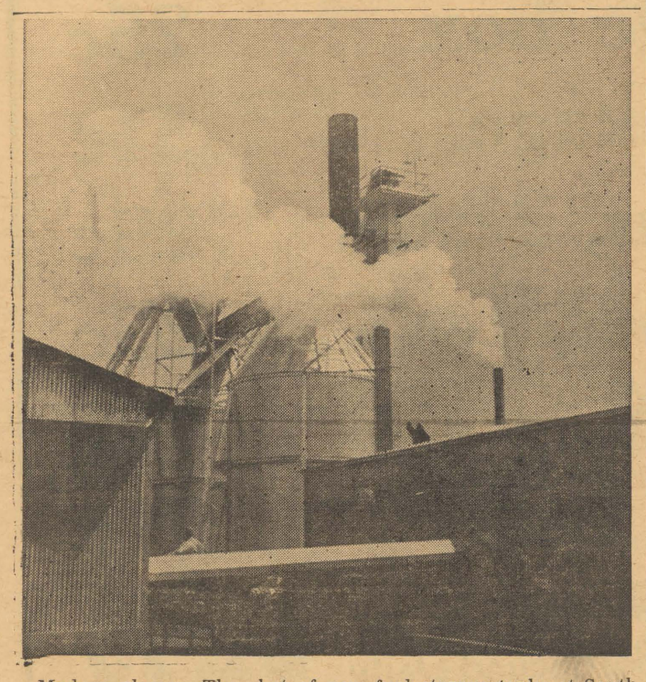

Everybody in Southern Pine Lumber Company had to see the new sawmill at Pineland when it went into operation April 22. Pictured above is Alice Procell, Sabine County girl now in Southern Pine's general office at Diboll, as she observes log chain coming into the new mill. The new chain, unlike more traditional mills, is at ground level. In the building in the background is the debarker. The hoop-like structure in the middle distance is the metal detector which makes it possible to find hidden nails and spikes before logs reach the saws.

Log Scaler. Pictured above is Charlie Warnock as he scales one of the hardwood logs coming into Southern Pine Lumber Company's new sawmill. The new mill carries forward SPLC's program of advanced automation, according to officials.

Southern Pine Lumber Company's design and construction engineer for their new plant at Pineland explains a feature of the operation. Left to right are Kirby Wright, superintendent of logging at Pineland, Clyde Thompson, manager of Southern Pine's logging department; John O. Booker, who designed and supervised construction of the mill and Bill Nichols who directs the Pineland portion of Southern Pine's forestry program. The machine being discussed is the automatic vertical resaw which helps control the quality of lumber at the mill.

Modern glamor. The shot of new fuel storage tanks at Southern Pine Lumber Company's new power plant and sawmill shows a portion of the exterior of the sawmill where rough lumber moves to the vertical resaw and the green chain. New plant demonstrates throughout advanced engineering techniques.

PISD Recommended for Reinstatement As Accredited Twelve-Grade System

On March 13, 1958, Mrs. Theresa Carrell, and Ruth Huey of the Texas Education Agency, Austin, visited the Pineland Schools, recommending as a result of their visit, that the Pineland Independent School District be reinstated as a fully accredited twelve-grade system.

Following are improvements listed by the Agency as indicative of the interest from both patrons and faculty of the School:

1. A new, modern building has been provided for the Bryant School. New equipment has been added and the useable furniture refinished. The Pineland School has been redecorated. Four new classrooms and space for the library have been added.

2. Approximately $3.00 per pupil has been expended for the library. Each elementary room contains a class library including reference material.

3. The testing program is providing basis for the development of a guidance program and caring for individual needs. Pupil personnel files are being developed.

4. The health and physical education program with assistance of a special consultant is being reorganized following an in-service education study. Additional playground space and equipment have been added.

5. Audio visual aids are being used to enrich classroom instruction.

6. Additional science equipment has been added. There was evidence of science instruction at all grade levels, and children's collections in the elementary school and high school laboratory were of value.

7. Services of a cooperative nurse have been provided.

8. The classroom lighting has been improved throughout both buildings.

9. The self-evaluation study by the staff has resulted in the recognition for need of improvment in the school curriculum and planning for instruction. Each teacher has been supplied with lesson plan books and a beginning made toward immediate and long range planning.

10. School board minutes have been transferred to a permanent ledger and are in good order.

11. The removal of old buildings on the Bryant campus will provide space for playground areas and additional equipment.

The above improvements to the Pineland schools represents accomplishments during the past year.

"I wish to express my deepest apprecation," Mr. M. M. Miller, superintendent, stated, "to the faculty, to the P.T.A. and all other patrons of our schools. Without their help, none of the above accomplishments would have been possible."

Citizens to Vote On Bond Issue Saturday, May 3

The city revenue bond issue will be presented for vote Saturday in the Community Hall, voters to decide whether or not they desire to give the City Council authority to purchase bonds for the new waterworks, gas, and sewage systems.

For the health of the citizens and for the future growth and development of the city and the surrounding area, more adequate waterworks, gas, and sewage systems are of vital importance.

The revenue bonds will bear on interest rate of 4 3/4 per cent annum, payable annually or semi-annually. They will mature serially over a period not to exceed thirty years from date of issuance.

Since the city will assume complete obligation for the bonds, with principal and interest paid from income from the various systems, tax rates will in no way be affected, Mayor Carl Sanders has explained.

The Nation Pays a Premium for the Lumber We Produce Here...

because of its

PREMIUM VALUE!

This premium value lumber is right here at your doorstep — and it's called Texas Grown, Kiln Dried, SPIB Grade-Marked Southern Yellow Pine.

The strong, properly seasoned, well manufactured lumber produced by Southern Pine Lumber Company goes to all parts of the nation and brings a higher price. Why? Because it is recognized for its premium value.

This quality southern pine made here at home bears a minimum freight cost so it comes to home folks as a better buy than anywhere else in the nation. It stands to reason that imported lumber, which commands so poor a market nationally that it can bear in many cases a 50% mark-up in price for freight alone and still sell here in the same price range, cannot match the value of what folks here in this area produce.

The prospective home owner should pay particular attention to the KIND of lumber which goes into his home. One good way to protect your home investment is to ask your retail lumber dealer for Texas Grown, Kiln Dried, SPIB Grade-Marked Southern Yellow Pine from Southern Pine Lumber Company. It is identified by SPIB No. 77!

Bronson Senior Class to Present Play Friday Night

The Senior Class of Bronson High School will present their annual class play Friday, May 2, 1958, at 8:00 p.m. in the Bronson High School Auditorium. The play, entitled "Hessie of the Hills", is a three act hillbilly farce by Clarissa P. Schweikert.

The play revolves around the Crackett family of Gun Barrel Hollow. The action begins when Ma and Pa Crackett (played by Martha Bonner and Wallace Edgar), who are scheming mountaineers, decide to marry their daughter, Hessie (Lillie Conn) off to Elmer Applecrust (Charles Hall). Pa feels that Elmer would make a good helper to bring in the season's crop of hay.

Others involved in the mess of affairs are:

Parson Bumble (Cecil Chance) who is anxious to conduct the wedding ceremony so he can collect the fee.

Arkansas Cracket (Karen Wolfe) who has decided she wants to "marry up" with Elmer herself.

Berthy Crackett (played by Edith Hawthorne) who is the sassy and impudent practical joker of the Hollow.

Aunt Suzy (Katie Mae Oliver) who, in spite of her laziness, can always be stirred to a dance at the sound of a fiddle.

Abbie Snapp (played by Jo Ann Herrington) the Hollow's busybody who has a never-ending nose for news.

Grandpappy Crackett (played by Daniel McDaniel) who is nearly always doing one of two things—sleeping or playing the fiddle.

Daniel Ducksworth (Glenn King) an agricultural expert from the city.

This situation comedy promises to offer an evening of out-standing entertainment. Advance tickets are 30c and 45c. Tickets sold at the door will be 35c and 50c. Come early so you can be sure of a seat.
