The Pineland Star

DEDICATED TO THE PROGRESS OF PINELAND AND SURROUNDING COMMUNITIES

VOLUME 1—NUMBER 29 | THE PINELAND STAR, PINELAND, TEXAS, THURSDAY, NOV. 6, 1958 | $2.00 PER YEAR

Market News from Southern Pine

Our backlog of orders for SPIB 77 lumber products dwindled considerably during the month of October. Shipments for the month were considerably higher than orders booked. However, the volume was fair and should we be able to maintain approximately the same volume in November and December, we can consider our sales for those months as satisfactory. Earlier market reports have referred to the fact that sales would be slightly slower for the next few months unless unexpected industrial demands develop.

SP Supreme Oak Flooring sales picked up slightly during the last week in October due to an effort toward moving surplus items. The prices were not attractive as we had hoped for, but we feel that it was an opportune time to move these surplus items before the demand drops due to bad weather. It is our hope that a shortage of dry flooring oak throughout the industry will balance the lesser demand for the finished product so that we might maintain a fair level of prices through the winter season.

Templetreat sales were fair for the month and we note that quite a few of our more recent retail yard orders called for inclusion of small amounts of our new Penta WR processed materials. It is our hope that this trend will continue.

R. M. Burns

Temple seat sales have been very good this week. Started out good and continued to increase steadily throughout the period.

The seat market at this time is still weak, however, we have hopes that it will firm up with the heavy increase in home building.

Star Gazing

BY CHARLOTTE SMITH

The Hollowe'en Carnival Friday night was a success by all standards of measurement. Money totaled $829.94. Coronation ceremonies for Queens Chris and Sharon were stately. The entertainment following was exceptional.

Praise to all—parents, teachers, friends and students—for making it a success.

And even more praise to those who did nothing Hallowe'en. Nothing in the realm of destructive vandalism.

There is no way I can measure our town statistically, but I would be willing to state that none other in the United States could claim, with us, 100 per cent good behavior Hallowe'en night. And every other for that matter.

The average pair of shoes sold in the U.S. in 1957 walked 315 miles before its soles wore out. I'm not doubting the truth of this statistic I read in the Beaumont Enterprise. I do think, however, it would be interesting and educational, too, to know WHO ever figured it out and HOW.

Rep. George Goetz of San Augustine, who spoke on "American Education—Why?" at P.T.A. Monday night is well qualified for the subject. He went to college here, but he had all his previous schooling in Europe and understands the differences, from personal experience, in an educational system under a dictatorial form of government and the educational system in a democratic state.

"The casting of the ballot is the supreme act of citizenship. Ballot in hand, the citizen is a sovereign, and with his fellow citizens he decides the destiny of the Republic." Archbishop Ireland.

In 1807 Thomas Jefferson wrote Gov. H. Tiffin: "That Government is the strongest of which every man feels himself a part."

And for every citizen who refuses to vote because he feels "one vote for or against won't make much difference" the following thoughts:

But for one vote Texas might not have joined the Union when she did. An Indiana farmer woke up on Election Day, wondering whether to go to the polls or haul corn. He decided he'd better go and vote on the Democratic ticket. His district sent Democrat E. A. Hannegan to the United States Senate, by one vote. When the vote on Texas annexation came up ,it was a tie—broken by Edward A. Hannegan, President pro-tem.

California came into the Union just in time to break the tie between the states when the count stood 15 free states, 15 slave.

One vote was all that saved President Andrew Jackson from impeachment.

Presidents Thomas Jefferson, John Quincy Adams and Rutherford B. Hayes were each elected by ONE vote.

In 1918 when the Prohibition Amendment required the vote of one more Legislator, Louisiana stood deadlocked—until William Jennings Bryan converted one Louisiana legislator. That one vote ratified the Eighteenth Amendment.

The Draft Extension Law of World War II passed the House by one vote.

No matter what the country, motherhood has its trials. In Onomichi, Japan, after Mrs. Yukiko Hashiguchi, 34, sobbed to railroad officials that, somewhere down the line at a station she could not remember, she had stepped off her train for a drink of water with her seven-year-old son, who got lost, the officials phoned around, soon reported that her boy had been located, found her sobbing afresh because the train had gone on its way, carrying her luggage and five-year-old daughter. (Time-Miscellany.)

Chris Russell and Sharon Hayes Crowned Queens at PTA Carnival

CHRIS RUSSELL

WELDON BENNETT

JACK SWEENY

Queens crowned Friday night at the Halloween Carnival Coronation ceremonies were Sharon Hayes, sixth grade, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Hayes and Chris Russell, seventh grade, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Russell, Jr. Queen Sharon's escort was Jack Sweeny, and Weldon Bobbitt escorted her majesty, Chris Russell.

Clint Hines, sixth grade teacher, and Cecil Vaden, seventh grade teacher, who supported the candidates from their rooms with the sale of candied apples, bingo games, scavenger hunts, homemade doughnut sales to earn their victories, are responsible for the major portion of this sum of money.

Following the coronation, the queens and their court were entertained by ninety elementary school children from the first through the fifth grades.

Lorraine Graham, the fairy, and Beverly Nichols, the little girl who dreamed, starred in "Dreamworld Fantasy", a pageant based on Tschaikowsky's "Nutcracker Suite". "Hallowe-en Capers", composed of song and dances by witches, bats, cats, ghosts, and pumpkins, preceded the main number.

Incomplete County Returns Favor Democrats and Most Amendments

Complete results on Tuesday's general election in Sabine County were not available as the Reporter went to press, several boxes being out until late afternoon Wednesday.

According to Kyle Walker, county clerk, voters of the county were giving their support to the majority of the nine constitutional amendments. According to Wednesday's Dallas Morning News, as gleaned from a small segment of the counties of the state, three of the amendments were voted down. These were the ones dealing with annual sessions of the legislature, county pensions and city elections. According to these very small returns, state advertising amendment was barely passing. This is the amendment endorsed by local Lions Club. Whether the incomplete returns denote a trend will not be known until late Wednesday or Thursday when all counties report in to state election headquarters.

The outstanding news in this general election is the fact that the Democrats

Rep. George Goetz of San Augustine was guest speaker, his topic being "American Education—Why?"

Joyce Nichols, P.T.A. treasurer, reported that $829.94 was made Friday night at the annual Hallowe'en Carnival sponsored by the P.T.A. Of this total, $520.88 was realized from the queen's race. The organization will give $600 of this amount to the school library. Other budgeted items allowed for this year will be $170 for a tape recorder, the total cost of the junior-senior banquet in the spring, and $75 for miscellaneous items, the remainder of the money to be dispensed with as needed.

Paul Clark Enlists in Army

Lathern Paul Clark, 19-year-old son of Lathern Clark of Pineland enlisted in the U.S. Army for a period of three years on Thursday, Oct. 23, and departed on the same day for Fort Carson, Colo., where he will receive basic training prior to reporting to an Army technical training school for which he enlisted under the Army's "Reserved For You" program.

Clark is a May '58 graduate of Pineland High School where he was a member of the school baseball team, manager of the basketball team in 1957-58, and was senior class favorite and Mr. PHS.

Upon investigating, Clark found that he qualified for the "Reserved For You" program offered by the Army which allows young high school graduates to select a technical training school of their own choice and be guaranteed of receiving same before they actually enlist. Clark chose the 10-week Power Equipment Maintenance Course at Fort Gordon, Georgia, as his course and will attend the school following basic training. It was this guarantee of an Army technical training school that convinced Clark that the Army was the place to serve out his military obligation.

Clark was enlisted through the effort of SFC Jack Willis of the Lufkin U.S. Army Recruiting Station, Room 1, Post Office Building, Lufkin.

WMS Circles Meet At Church Wednesday

All Circles of the First Baptist W.M.S. met Wednesday at the church. Circle 1 was in charge of the program, Circle 2 of enlistment and Circle 3 of refreshments. Wednesday night after mid-week prayer service, the regular monthly business meeting was held, followed by an officers and teachers meeting of the Sunday School Department.

A news story last week announced that a savings and loan company in Lufkin was planning new offices and the release revealed that wood was to be used in this new building in many new creative applications.

This was one of the most refreshing and gratifying news articles we have read in the Lufkin paper in a long time. This loan company should be a real model for similar business buildings hereabout. The owners of the loan company and its architect are, in my opinion, entitled to the appreciation of all of us who are directly or indirectly dependent upon our great East Texas forest industry. I can't think of anything that would be more agreeable if I wanted some financing to build a home than to go to this establishment which is proud of our superior forest products industry and which demonstrates such appreciation for its use in all types of construction.

Another story in the Sunday issue of the same paper played up a model home which was being opened. The power company which serves most of this area was apparently the sponsor and all sorts of features of the home were mentioned in the various articles on it. I must confess that I did not read all of them but in scanning the pages I found no mention of the fact that this home was built all of quality southern pine used in attractive modern applications. At this writing I don't have any direct evidence that this was true, but I know that this great power company would not subsidize inferior substitutes for quality southern pine.

It is just a shame that more prominence was not given in the article to the fact that our native product was used exclusively, if such was the case. The good will of such publicity would have reached far beyond the present.

All of us hereabouts who are accustomed to the great forest resources on which we depend and to the superior products which are produced hereabouts from that resource are inclined to forget the great promotional value of letting people know about its use in model homes and so forth.

This brings me to another important event which gives recognition to our "Bread 'n Butter" The big Safeway store in Lufkin has been featuring from Oct. 30 to Nov. 8 our forest products industry.

They have posters showing its importance to our region and others which point out the recognition which U. S. Forest Products Laboratory gives to the superiority of the product which East Texas people poduce.

These supermarkets are not green hands at understanding good merchandising and we salute this store for giving this boost to the product which produces the dollars which buy our food.

It would be a wonderful thing if all of our builders hereabouts would buy their groceries there this week and review some of these facts.

One of the hard facts we have to face in selling our forest products these days is that fashion works sometimes against us. As those of us who are concerned with the marketing of our forest products know, we have to go all out to make it attractive for other reasons ,besides strength beauty, etc. Here is a bitter example: My wife and I are having a room built in our attic for our daughter. I want an oak floor in it and she wants inlaid linoleum.

What will it be? Linoleum, of course.

Random note: The utility ladders at the new power plant in Pineland's new forest products plant are not built of Southern pine. They are made of a West Coast species which breaks about twice as easily. This ladder is what the market affords, presumably, and the purchasing agent did not specify otherwise.

are sweeping the country, piling up more votes than at any other time in a non-presidential election year. For one example, a Democratic senator has been elected in the state of Vermont for the first time in 106 years. The Democrats will have a wide margin of control in both the House and Senate in the 86th Congress.

41,000 Hunters Buy Hunting Licenses

Austin. — Anticipating a record year, more than 41,000 Texas sportsmen bought hunting licenses during September, according to the Fiscal Director of the Game and Fish Commission. Sept. 1 began the second year of the $3.15 hunting license fee.

On the basis of revenue collected, the dirctor reported receipt of $123,443.45 from hunting license sales. This is an increase of approximately $14,000 for the same period in 1957.

Remitting agents had until Oct. 10 to pay for licenses sold during September; therefore, this does not include money on all licenses sold, the director explained.

Fishing license sales totaled $154,275.60 for the month. This figure represents more than 77,000 resident fishing licenses.

Sales of all types of licenses is expected to increase this year due to the good condition of game and fish populations throughout the state, the director said.
