THANKSGIVING PRAYER

I thank Thee, Lord, for a thousand things, the earth, the sky, the rolling sea, the summer and the winter, the springtime and the harvest field; but beyond all these for home, for those who love me, who trust me, who wait for my return. May Thy providential care and protection be granted them during my absence and may it please Thee to bring us safely together again for Thy name's sake. Amen.

CHAPLAIN ALVAH E. HARFORD

On this, the third Thanksgiving day that we are about to commemorate together I am reminded of the first such day we were together. Many men who were with us then have left us; some, to return to civilian life, and some to other units. Many new men have joined us to replace those losses. In the two years since that first Thanksgiving together we have gone through many trying times; we have served at many different sites. During this time you have supported me in all of my policies and have faithfully and willingly carried out the orders issued. We can all be thankful that God has looked down upon us with favor and has spared us from death and injury. We know that He is watching over our families at home with as tender a love as we ourselves bear towards them. Let us, then, give thanks to Him who created us, and pray that this will be our last such Thanksgiving together and that we may share the future with our loved ones at home.

A HAPPY THANKSGIVING!!! In spite of war, Thanksgiving Day will be observed, this is the beauty of the day. Let us give thanks for being on the winning team, for a God in heaven. May the next Thanksgiving find us home.
